

TWO BROTHERS DROWN

ROGERS ENTERS ALIBI FOR COPS IN LINDY'S CASE

(Special to The News)
PITTSBURGH, May 31. — Newspapers can never blame police for not finding criminals. Here they have had everybody from the managing editors down to the newsboys looking for Charlie and Anne and can't find them. What would they do if they were looking for somebody that nobody knew? They are just down at Claremore, Okla. He has flew all over this country and knows the best spot.

You know where he could be all this time? At one of those camps where they trained the soldiers for overseas. Millions of soldiers that was training at 'em couldn't find 'em if they left 'em and went into town. The fellow that located them for the government had been an outlaw for years. So Lindy is at Yaphank.

Yours, WILL.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Have you a lawn, or have you noticed the grass this spring? One man told Pa New he had mowed his grass eight times this year and it was badly in need of it again. This should please farmers as it may mean a bumper hay crop.

Local business man tells Pa New of when he lived in another city. It so happened that they had a electricity and a friend made them a Christmas present of an electric iron. They wired the house. Now, the local man is scheming for revenge in some manner.

Reports from the countryside indicate that the earth roads are in fair shape at the present time. Pa New was over one of them not so long ago, and though bumpy, the sun has changed the mud to dry sand.

Since the meeting of the viewers concerning the redistricting of precincts has been held, Pa New imagines that we shall soon hear about the action that has been taken. The last election demonstrated the need of such action and by the next election we will probably have quite a few more voting booths.

Camps about the county are being reconditioned in haste. The Boy Scouts have been working on Camp Phillips for weeks now getting the buildings in trim while the Y. M. C. A. has started to work on their camp preparatory to the official camping season which is supposed to begin about the middle of June.

Memorial Day brought out a horde of swimmers. At every creek, every river, every pond and probably every path, there was some one delving and splashing in water.

Pa New is of the opinion that despite the temperature of the air the water is still cold. There has been but a few days of warm weather and this is not enough to warm up the streams to their proper temperature for swimming.

The new bit of road in Oakland will be ready for use shortly. As is, motorists are forced to make it one way for a few feet while the state workers put a patch on the cement.

NEW CASTLE sweltered yesterday under real summer temperature. It was hot, the official government thermometer.

Daily Weather Report

Weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at nine o'clock this morning furnished by U. S. Weather Observer E. J. Johnson at the New Castle Water Co. pump station follow:

Maximum temperature, 90.
Minimum temperature, 63.
Precipitation, .01 inches.
River stage, 6 feet and falling.
Figures for the 24-hour period ending Thursday morning at 9 o'clock were as follows:

Maximum temperature, 83.
Minimum temperature, 64.
Precipitation, .07 inches.

Twenty Four Are Killed By Quake In South America

Scores Injured As Earthquake Rocks Towns And Villages In Mendoza Province

DEATH TOLL MAY INCREASE, REPORT

Damage Is Estimated At High Figure; Traffic And Communication Crippled

(International News Service)
BUENOS AIRES, May 31. — Twenty-four persons are known to be dead and scores injured as the result of an earthquake which partially destroyed several towns and villages in the Province of Mendoza.

An official check-up of the dead gives the figure of twenty-four, but reports filtering in from the stricken regions indicate the death-toll may mount to fifty.

The quake, which came in a series of tremors, the longest of which lasted four minutes, was felt all over the country, telegraph and railway connections were destroyed, and relief trains immediately dispatched to the stricken area have been held up by twisted tracks and great holes torn beneath the roadbed.

Damage is estimated at many millions of pesos. Yesterday's quakes followed on the heels of tremors earlier in the week which did little damage but threw the populace into a panic.

Two Fatalities Caused By Drowning; One From Excessive Hot Weather

PITTSBURGH, May 31.—Memorial Day, set aside for honoring the country's heroic dead, today had claimed three dead itself as intense heat drove crowds into the open for relief from the scorching atmosphere of the city.

Two of the fatalities were drownings, while the third was caused by heat prostration. The dead: Ellsworth Stevens, 18, of Banksville; John Sumner, 13, of Monaca; and John Hura, 39, of Homestead.

Trans-Atlantic Planes Are Still At Old Orchard

Neither Is Able To Get Away Today On Flight Across Ocean

(International News Service)
OLD ORCHARD, Me., May 31.—There was little likelihood that the trans-Atlantic monoplane Green Flash or Yellow Bird would be able to take off from this beach today on their respective flights.

Following receipts of unfavorable weather reports from Dr. James H. Kimball, New York meteorologist, last evening, both Roger G. Williams and Lewis A. Yancey stated that they probably would not take off before tomorrow morning.

Armed Lotti, banker of the French flight, was to visit Kimball today to personally plot the weather chart in the New York weather bureau.

The gas tanks on the Yellow Bird have been completely repaired and two test flights will be made today. If these tests are successful and the motor functions as expected, the plane will once more be refueled for the take-off.

NEW MOTOR CODE GOES INTO EFFECT TONIGHT

Speed Limit On Open Highways Increased To 40 Miles An Hour; 20 Miles In Cities

New Administrative Code Will Also Be In Effect Tomorrow; Adds New Department

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, May 31.—Two important codes passed by the recent session of the legislature will become effective tomorrow. They are the motor and new administrative codes. Both will make marked changes in present laws, but those of the administrative code will affect primarily the functioning of the state government.

After midnight tonight the legal speed limit for operation of automobiles on the open road will be 40 miles instead of 35 as at present. The speed limit in built-up sections will remain at 20 miles an hour.

The new increases in the prices of operators' and learners' permits and those for trucks also will be effective tomorrow. An operator's license in the future will cost $2.00 instead of $1.00. The fee for a learner's permit will be increased from $2.50 to $3.00.

General Increases
A general increase in the cost of truck licenses also becomes effective. The increase on commercial motor vehicles and truck tractors with pneumatic tires will be 10 per cent on the average, while the fees for those with solid tires will in some cases be as high as 50 per cent. A general increase for all buses also will become effective.

One of the features of the new administrative code will be a salary increase for all cabinet members who had received less than $10,000 a year. Those that will be affected are the heads of the departments of forests and waters, agriculture, property and supplies, adjutant general and the secretary of the commonwealth. Provision also is made in the code to increase the salary of the superintendent of state police from $6,000 to $7,500. Each member of the board of censors will receive a $1,200 increase. The chairman will receive $4,800 and the members $4,500 each.

New Building Program
Another feature of the new code is the provision which will make the Department of Property and Supplies responsible for all state building. The Department of Welfare alone will (Continued On Page Two)

Memorial Day And Day Previous Filled With Disasters Of All Kinds

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 31.—Relief from the sizzling heat wave, which has gripped Western Pennsylvania for the last three days was expected for the week end according to the weather bureau here today.

Cooler weather is in sight for Saturday, forecasters W. S. Brozman said and there is a possibility of showers tonight that may break the hold of the torrid atmosphere.

One death was caused by the intense heat, John Hura, a steelworker, having succumbed Wednesday night.

Although there was a chance that the mercury might climb today to the record of 93 set 5 p. m. yesterday, weather bureau officials thought it likely that today and tomorrow would be more temperate.

Shortly before noon today the thermometer had reached 77 starting from 70 at 8 a. m.

The Lake Erie region was promised cooler weather tonight but for the rest of Western Pennsylvania no much relief was looked for before Saturday.

MEMORY OF ALL WAR VETERANS HONORED

Troop F Cavalymen Take Part In Procession, Adding Military Touch

It was a thin ranked line of parade which marched to the Capitol Theater yesterday morning for the services there in honor of the Civil War heroes, and thence to Greenwood cemetery, where final honors were paid to the dead of all U. S. Wars.

Perhaps the heat had something to do with, and then again perhaps the citizens of New Castle are beginning to forget the debt they owe those who preserved this great Union of ours.

At any rate the number who assembled for the parade was smaller than in any previous year, just as the number of Civil War vets who gathered for the occasion has become smaller.

Veterans Fast Disappearing
There was a handful of the survivors of the war of '61 to '65, about a half dozen. Not many more than that are left in New Castle any more, at least those who are able to get around. Next year, the number will be even smaller for the ravages of time will take their toll. The average age of the survivors is well over the 80 mark.

Assembling at the Legion Home on North Jefferson street, the parade moved to the Capitol Theater, headed by the High School Band, where exercises were carried out under the direction of General Chairman Ralph M. Campbell.

Patterson Speaks
Attorney Clarence A. Patterson delivered the address of the day, tracing the history of the Civil War and its causes back to the Declaration of Independence, which guaranteed every citizen of the United States, "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

While the real question of the conflict centered around whether the South should continue to hold slaves, there were other contributing causes, he asserted, all of which, however, centered about the rights granted the citizen by the constitution.

Liberty, he stated, has been gradually curtailed by our law makers. Who have taken the stand that liberty to do certain things hinges on whether these things are offensive to a majority of the citizens of the (Continued On Page Two)

Hoover's Commission To Begin Actual Study Of Conditions, June 6

Divided Into Sections To Study Crime Causes And Remedies

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 31.—President Hoover's crime commission, officially named "The National Commission on Law Observation and Enforcement," completed its preliminary organization today and arranged a week's recess before settling down to the two-year task of determining what makes the average American so lawless.

The commission was divided into two groups. One composed of Newton D. Baker, Monte M. Leman, Henry W. Anderson and Miss Ada C. Stock, is to study the causes of crime. The other group, composed of Judges Paul J. McCormick, W. S. Kenyon, William A. Grubb, K. R. McIntosh and Dean Roscoe Pound, is to study the remedies. Both groups will report to George W. Wickersham as chairman.

Both groups will probably hold hearings and conduct investigations in a number of the larger cities of the country. New York, Chicago, San Francisco, St. Louis, New Orleans, (Continued On Page Two)

GETTING READY TO REMOVE DAM

State Grants City Permission To Do Away With Rosena Dam

City authorities today received official sanction from the state to remove the Rosena dam and the council directed the city engineer to prepare plans as to how best to remove the dam and the probable cost.

Councilman Reeves asked that the letter from the state be filed pending an estimate on the erection of flood gates.

Councilman Tyler said this would put the city in a peculiar status and it would probably be necessary to rebuild the dam.

He said that if this had to be done it would cost $150,000 and said he hopes the dam is removed before the next flood.

Councilman Davies followed Tyler's remarks with a motion directing the engineer to prepare removal plans and an estimate of cost.

British Election Won By Laborites

LIBERAL PARTY IS WITHOUT STRENGTH

(International News Service)
LONDON, May 31.—Although returns from the general election were still incomplete, headquarters of the Conservative party practically admitted defeat at 12:30 this afternoon.

"We prefer to be out of office rather than in it with a small, shaky majority," said a spokesman for the Conservative party.

Returns counted early in the afternoon indicated a victory for the Labor party.

Stocks Show Declines
The London Stock Exchange opened slack. Prices showed heavy declines.

The Liberal party, revived by Lloyd George in his brilliant election campaign, proved a surprising disappointment. Liberal gains have been negligible, and Liberal candidates returned to office have won out only by small majorities. Most of the Labor gains were recorded in the industrial districts of London, Birmingham and Liverpool, where the party's power has always been felt most strongly.

Labor Sets 163 Seats
London, May 31.—Returns in the British general election counted up to 2 o'clock this afternoon gave the following results:

Labor, 163 seats in the new House of Commons; Conservatives, 122; Liberals, 22; others, five.

CONDITION NOT BELIVED SERIOUS

WINDSOR, Eng., May 31.—An abcess has complicated the latest illness of King George. It was revealed this afternoon.

The King has had a fair night. An abcess formed under the site of the old scar on the right side of the chest and is now draining. The general condition remains good. Though the King will need to remain in bed his Majesty will be able to transact public business.

The bulletin was signed by H. L. Martin, surgeon apothecary to the King's household at Windsor. Sir Stanley Hewitt and Lord Dawson of Penn.

London, May 31.—Great Britain today is without a king or a parliament.

The renewed illness of King George is essentially unfortunate at the present moment, since the country is without a parliament, whose approval would be necessary in the event a regent had to be appointed to administer the affairs of state.

If the Conservatives are defeated in the election, which now appears almost a certainty, the situation will be exceedingly involved even in its present circumstances. It is not known officially whether the present council of state is employed to receive the resignation of the incumbent cabinet and appoint a new prime minister. A function invariably undertaken by the monarch whenever a new election takes place.

Harbor Bridge Drowning Scene, Recover Bodies

Walter And Carl Miller, 12, And 10, Lose Lives In Shenango River

OLDER BROTHER DIES IN HEROIC EFFORT

Third Brother Is Witness To Drowning From Bank Of River

Two swimming fatalities marred the otherwise unusually pleasant Memorial Day holiday season of the city and county, two boys, Walter, aged 12, and Carl, aged 10, the sons of Roy E. Miller of near Harbor Bridge in Union township, drowning late Wednesday afternoon in the waters of the Shenango River, a few hundred feet from their home and about 1,000 feet this side of the Harbor Bridge. Both bodies have been recovered.

The boys, evidently more of less familiar with swimming, had been warned by the father to keep out of the water at the present time because of the fact that it had not yet warmed up sufficiently to make swimming safe.

Evidently the appeal of the cool waters of the river near their home, in view of the heat, led them to forget the warning of their father and they went "in" Wednesday afternoon.

The point at which they went in reaches a depth of something like eight feet a short distance from the shore and it was in this deeper section that they were drowned.

Younger Brother Witness.
A younger brother, Mindle, was at the scene of the unfortunate affair; that cost the lives of the two boys and witnessed their last struggles. According to his statements, Carl, the younger of the boys in the water, was in trouble and Walter, the older boy, went to his rescue and they went down together as the older boy was attempting to bring to safety his younger brother. Selling Orders Deluge Market

Market Very Unsettled Following Memorial Day Vacation

By W. S. COLEMAN
International News Service
NEW YORK, May 31.—After the important motor stocks and specialties had been pounded down to the lowest prices of the year today, the railroad stocks and the utilities came to the rescue of the market. Buying demand for the popular rails lifted prices 2 to 5 points, in many cases recording new highs for the year.

A deluge of selling orders poured into Wall Street in the forenoon, along with the break in wheat to 99 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade. The motor stocks and the agricultural implement shares were the hardest hit in this new selling move. General Motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, Hudson and Nash declined abruptly to the lowest prices of the year, opening up new gaps of 2 to 5 points in the price lists.

Few Stocks Weak.

International Harvester, Case, Thrashing, Advance, Scars, Reuben, and Montgomery Ward stocks displayed extreme weakness as the result of the lower value of farm products, but all of these shares in the rally sponsored by the rails and utilities later in the day.

The low prices for the motor leaders were as follows: Chrysler 66, General Motors 66 1/2, Studebaker 73 1/2, Nash 31 1/2, Montgomery Ward 66, Sears Roebuck 142 1/2, International Harvester 92, Case Thrashing 207 and Advance 202, 27, representing losses of from 20 to 85 points from the high of the year.

When the tide of speculative buying turned, in the early afternoon, the dominant position of the rails was plainly demonstrated. Atchafalaya jumped 5 points to 220, New Haven moved up 3 to the year's highest price of 105 3/4, New York Central and other investment rails advanced 1 to 3 points.

New Castle spent the most of Memorial Day in an effort to keep cool. Mid-summer heat suddenly developed and yesterday probably takes records for many years for heat on May 30.

Autoists who have occasion to drive through the Beaver valley will be rejoiced at the news that actual work of repaving the stretch of bad paving through College Hill is under way.

Gas pipe has been strewn along the road from the end of Highland avenue out of the Coakstown area, indicating that the gas mains are to be extended to that locality, which is fast becoming quite a populous suburb.

There is still a great conflict of ideas on the part of householders as to the proper method of putting up a flag. Many flags were put up on the holiday yesterday and probably an equal number in a wrong way.

Reports of a number of distressing drowning accidents have already been reported here. It seems to PA News that the swimming season is being rushed in the local streams. The weather has not been warm enough for a long enough time to put the local streams in shape for swimming. It will require several more days of this kind of weather before the temperature of the water is right for swimming.

Sudden coming of the summer heat have affected many of the men employed in the big mills here, according to reports of workmen.

PA News's attention was drawn Thursday to the heavy traffic on East Washington street as a result of the immense throng of motorists who had Cascade Park as their destination for the day. On several occasions, because of the delay experienced in entering the Park parking grounds, getting checks and making change as the motorists entered, traffic was tied up clear down to the Harmony line. It was suggested to PA News by a well known county official that this could be avoided, if a system of giving checks only as the cars entered and collecting the parking charge as they left, was put in vogue.

Thursday seemed to be taken by many property owners as a day to do a lot of work about their homes or property. Men and women were to be noted in many sections of the city busily engaged in some out-of-door clean-up or improvement work.

The city is in the throes of an epidemic of house painting. Scores of homes about the city are being given a fresh coating of paint. Keep up the good work!

by the coolness of the water is believed to have caused the drownings.

Mindful of the danger near by and awakened his father, who was sleeping, resting after his work, and acquainted him with what had occurred.

The father spread the alarm and soon there was a group of people working in an effort to get the bodies among these being the members of a Pennsylvania section crew, who were stopped and advised of the situation.

Among the members of the crew was Edwin Kogarcie, whose father had been drowned at the same place 21 years previously. He was among the most faithful of those seeking to rescue the bodies.

The city police were notified and assistance asked and Officers Dukes and Hanna were detailed to the scene with pumotors and grappling hooks. They were accompanied by County Detective William Fleming.

In the meantime the news of the double drowning was made known to local swimming experts and divers, and among those who rushed to the scene were Jack Herbert.

Recover One Body

It was probably three hours later that Mr. Herbert in diving came upon the body of Carl Miller, the younger of the two boys, and brought it to the surface and to the shore. It was removed to the Kelley Funeral Home at once, while the search was continued.

Councilman Walter V. Tyler was made aware of the situation and secured permission from Carl Shamer, manager of Cascade park, to take one of the park boats to the scene of the drowning. This was hurried there on a city truck. This made it possible to use the grappling hooks and this effort was continued until late Wednesday night but without result.

Early Thursday morning the search for the body of the other brother was resumed by numbers of people, including Paul Barry, William Genkin, John Boreo, Jack Herbert, Henry MacNicholas and Clyde Rehner, well known local swimming experts.

The efforts of these and other individuals continued unabated until the day yesterday, when J. P. Steiner at the police station received a telephone message from the Barnard airport at Youngstown, O., to the effect that a plane from that port in flying over the scene of the drowning had discerned that the body of the other boy in the water had caught on some obstruction, half way between a group of people on the bank and a boat that was tied to the bank some 200 feet away.

Use Airplane in Search.

Officers Harper, Longstrech and Jones were dispatched to the scene with this information, which resulted in renewed efforts but no success. Officer Richards proceeded to the Kogarcie Air Transport, Inc. field on the Wilmington road and with the permission of Mrs. R. Kogarcie, wife of the owner, that concern's plane with Pilot Bob Fox and Officer Richards in it took to the air and proceeded to the scene to direct the efforts of the rescue men.

However, the other workers on the scene had stirred up the river to such an extent that these men were unable to see the bottom of the river from the air owing to the muddied condition of the water. As later indications showed, however, the first airplane search was correct.

As the day wore on to a close, the body had not been recovered. Councilman Tyler of this city got in touch with Supervisors Bentley and McCreary of Union township, in whose district the fatalities had occurred and suggested that some explosive be used in an effort to raise the body.

These men went to Bessemer, where they secured a gelatine type of explosive, more powerful than dynamite and Councilman Tyler secured Robert Thompson of the Carnegie Steel plant to put off the charges.

Body Comes to Surface.

The explosive arriving during the evening, Mr. Thompson put off one discharge consisting of four sticks of the explosive shortly before 9 o'clock. This was done about the spot that the boys were last seen as they went down.

A wait of a few minutes and no results having been obtained, a second charge of the explosive, five sticks being used this time, was put off shortly after 9 o'clock.

The force of the explosion had been spent when the body of Walter Miller came to the surface of the water possibly 150 feet from the point of the explosion and about where the airplane report had said it would be found.

The body was enroute down stream when it was recovered by William Johnson and Charles Hunter, who went after it in the boat.

Carl and Walter Miller were born in this city, the former in 1919 and the latter in 1917, the sons of Roy and Bessie McCaffie Miller. They are survived by their father, Roy Miller; four brothers, Earl, LeRoy, Wilbur and Mervin, also the following grandparents, L. W. Miller and Thomas and Orline McCaffie.

The bodies will be taken this evening to the home of their uncle, Jud Miller, 1226 Williams street. Funeral services will be held Saturday, June 1, at 4 p. m. at the Arlington Avenue Free Methodist church. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

County authorities held the theory that Willman had committed suicide but Willman's parents were unable to account for the tragedy and believed that their son had been shot accidentally.

Willman and Miss Snyder had been engaged for some time and recently secured a marriage license. It was said.

STAR LORE

REAL BOY SCOUTS AND THE STARS

By Arthur Dev. Carpenter.

One of the finest things a Boy Scout gets out of his work is the star lore he is required to master. No boy familiar with astral scout requirements could ever lose his bearings on a clear night in his native latitudes. Polaris, or the North Star, he is thoroughly familiar with. The Big Bear (Ursa Major) he knows swings around the North Star the opposite way to that of the hands of a clock; he is familiar with Cassiopeia, always opposite Polaris from Ursa Major; he knows Vega, that distinguished summer star in constellation Lyra at the western edge of the Milky Way.

THE OIL CONFERENCE

FOR several years the federal government and administrations in the oil states have been negotiating for oil conservation. These activities were concurrent with sincere attempts on the part of some of the oil producers to reach a gentlemen's agreement which would end cut-throat and wasteful competitive methods. Nothing came of all this.

Impatient with the ineffectual efforts of the past, President Hoover has stepped in. Without ceremony or formality he has summoned the governors of nine Western and Southwestern oil-producing states to a conference in Colorado Springs on June 10 at which Washington will be represented by Secretary Wilbur and technical experts.

From the forthcoming conference the chief executive expects an interstate pact outlawing waste in the oil fields. He intends to make it inexpedient for the states and interests concerned to reject his proposition.

The program to be laid before the conference is aimed less at curtailment than at the prevention of inexcusable waste. There is no intention to create an artificial shortage of fuel oil, but it is proposed to halt the wasteful and uneconomic practice of rival interests hastily draining fields jointly held in the hope of getting the lion's share of the pool. This practice has unnecessarily dissipated the nation's fuel supply, and, instead of forcing down oil and gasoline prices, has had a tendency to boost prices, possibly to place upon the consumer the costs of storing surplus supplies and of wasteful production methods.

Long Life to Them.
Down Goes Wheat.
As It—Pleases.
German-American Deals.

By ARTHUR G. BRISANE
(Copyright, 1929, King Features
Syn., Inc.)

You hope that "the" young couple will live many years happily, and everybody knows that you mean Col. Lindbergh and his wife. There is happiness in being well known, and well liked for good reasons, and young Lindbergh possesses it.

Without exception, the entire world wishes him well.

The prices of wheat dropped to 87 1/2 cents Tuesday. Lowest prices since 1914. For the Federal Reserve and the combined forces of usury to attack stock values makes no difference. Only wicked gamblers buy stocks.

But the conduct of the Federal Reserve will attract President Hoover's attention, if wheat, cotton and other farm products continue dropping. It is embarrassing to take office on a "save the farmer" platform and find that your Federal Reserve is hitting the wheat and cotton growers on the head.

An able American banker who has built for himself a fortune greater than the combined fortunes of all the Federal Reserve gentlemen combined said Tuesday: "Nobody understands the Federal Reserve, what it is doing or what it is trying to do. It can do about as it pleases, and it does as it pleases."

That's the situation, briefly.

A combination between the Henry Ford plant in Germany and the great German dye trust, which has hundreds of millions of real money, is interesting and important news in the development of "big business."

Germany needs small, cheap motors. Ford needs gigantic quantities of paint, in his production of 8,000 cars a day. Germany's dye works have the paint.

Thus American and German business are united through Ford and the German dye works.

Before this announcement came, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., head of General Motors, had bought the biggest automobile plant in Germany as the European agency of General Motors. Here in America the D. Pont Company, biggest owner of General Motors, is a gigantic manufacturer of paint, especially automobile paint.

Thus two great competing American concerns are allied with German concerns in production.

Big business really is getting very big, outgrowing national boundaries.

It takes an hour to send a mail truck from Chicago's central post-office to the municipal airport at the southwest edge of the city.

The postoffice establishes the world's shortest air mail route, sending mail bags from the postoffice to the lake front, there loading them on an amphibian plane, which flies to the airport in three minutes.

The postoffice is chiefly responsible for what airplane development we have in this country.

Mexico's congressmen cannot be prosecuted while in office.

But, as the French say, "One can always arrange things."

Fifty-two Mexican congressmen are expelled from office and will now be charged with helping the recent rebellion.

Gloom in Wall Street means gloom elsewhere.

When stocks slump, business in jewelry stores is dull, high-priced automobiles sell less rapidly.

There is less demand for accommodations on ocean steamships.

Cotton and wheat have company in their misery, when the unregenerate wicked that buy stocks, expecting them to go up, suddenly find them going down.

The Federal Reserve Board might have done better for the country if it had been content to attend to its business, allowing the foolish to learn by experience that it doesn't pay to gamble.

Germany is first to develop an intelligent plan for defending cities and other important points against air attack.

Anti-aircraft guns are worthless, compared with an artificial fog created chemically by German scientists. It can be used to conceal cities, ammunition warehouses, etc.

With only one or two patches of fog, enemy airplanes would know just where to drop their bombs.

The plan would be to scatter over the landscape innumerable artificial fog regions, confusing the bombers, making it impossible for them to select a target with certainty.

A taxicab driver taking a pig for a ride, the pig looking out of the window attracted attention of a police court fine of $1.

The desire to attract attention is born in us, inherited from animal ancestors, dating back millions of years, according to evolutionists.

The peacock spreading his tail, the gobbler strutting, represent the primitive show-off impulse.

THE FINEST GARDEN FLOWERS IS JUST A CULTIVATED WEED.

One day last week a class in the local school discussed the relative worth of environment and heredity and reached no conclusion.

I think the subject is no longer debatable, for careful observation by men of science has demonstrated conclusively that heredity fixes the temperament while environment fixes the degree of intelligence.

Of course heredity rules in exaggerated types—in the abnormal. Idiot parents have idiot children; parents of remarkable intellectual ability or unique musical talent have children that rank above the normal.

But normal, ordinary or "average" children are shaped by their environment as clay is shaped by the potter.

For example, identical twin girls born in England were adopted by different families, one in London, one in Canada. At the age of nineteen, the twin in Canada was intellectually two years older than the other. A better environment had made her a superior.

"Take any twins of sound mind and body, rear one in an atmosphere of good breeding, beauty, books and a high degree of culture, and the other in a typical "trash" atmosphere of filth and illiteracy and ignorant superstition, and when the two are grown they will seem to belong to different races."

Training won't change a dog into a thoroughbred, nor will environment change a thoroughbred into a cur. But environment will make the cur obedient, manfully and useful, and the thoroughbred an egg-sucking snail.

There seems to be a difference in judges. That judge down in Kentucky who sentenced a six-year-old boy to prison for 15 years was reversed by another judge who claims the sentence was against the law for a child of that age. Judges are probably just like other humans when their liver is not working right they feel like ramming some one.

There is always something new coming out. Yesterday we received from A. W. Treadwell, of San Diego, Cal., four dahlia bulbs, in good condition by mail and the sprouts on them were nice and green. They are called "The Col. Charles A. Lindbergh." It is described in the catalogue as "Lavender pink shading to gold center." Good stem. Wonderful flower. The price is also marked five dollars each. Grouped the colors are called "Sunrise colors." We have them planted and our best wishes are with those four bulbs you can bet. You don't have to give us a million dollars to please us, just a bunch of flowers makes us feel gay.

You have perhaps noticed in The News recently the prayer made in congress at the opening of the session each day. We have discovered that the senate opens a session with prayer and then adjourns to some other day and then adjourns again and again and meets at the adjourned sessions without opening the meeting with prayer. One prayer does about the whole term. If there is any value in earnest prayers they ought to be directed to the United States senate at times.

Rotary Sessions Are About Over, Elections Held

Rotary Convention At Dallas

CHANGES IN LAWS ARE NOT APPROVED

(International News Service)
DALLAS, Tex., May 31.—The twenty-third annual convention of Rotary international, which developed into the largest gathering of the kind in the history of the organization, went into the final rounds today. The attendance at the Cleveland convention was something over 10,000 while the attendance here reached 9,500, according to a report by the registration committee.

A count of the vote in yesterday's balloting was proceeding rapidly with announcement of the results scheduled for the afternoon general session. The greatest election interest centered around the race between Raymond Knepper of New York City and Eugene Newsome of Durham, N. C., for the presidency.

Changes Banned

The highlights of the legislative action taken yesterday were: The refusal of the international body to change the slogan which has been Rotary's since its inception 20 years ago. The proposal was sponsored by the English delegates, who contended that the wrong construction was placed upon the word "profit" in the slogan "He profits most who serves best."

The adoption of plans whereby Rotary will hold either the 1931 or the 1932 convention at a place outside the United States, and every three or four years thereafter. The proposal of the English to reduce the per capita tax from $4.50 a year to $4, was the occasion of much spirited debate. Hugh Galloway for New Castle-on-Tyne put forward a proposal for the Britishers. It was overwhelmingly rejected.

The convention is scheduled to adjourn this afternoon.

Kansan Serves Term In Prison To Save His Father

HUTCHINSON, Kan., May 31.—Charles Fisher of Russell county, released on parole recently from the Kansas state reformatory, served three years within the gray walls of the institution to save his father, officials of the institution believe.

It was three years ago this winter that Fisher and his father, the latter a farmer near Russell, Kan., were rebuilding a fence torn down by motorists driving through the field because of a snow blockade.

The older Fisher was angry because of this driving over his wheat field. When he saw another car detouring through the field, some one, either the father or the son, fired a shot. A baby in the car was killed.

Charles Fisher confessed he fired the fatal shot. It is believed he did so to save his father. The latter, worrying over the tragedy, committed suicide.

Fisher made a good record at the reformatory, officials say. He was put in charge of the threshing machine on the institution farm. He also proved to be an expert mechanic and supervised repair on farm machinery. Fisher was sent back to his home in Russell county to join his widowed mother.

Breaks Record Putting Shot

(International News Service)
FRANKLIN FIELD, Philadelphia, May 31.—Harlow Rothert, Stanford football ace, started the Cardinal winging on his way to another championship this afternoon when he broke the Intercollegiate A. A. A. shot put record in the trials of the annual title games. Rothert, facing ideal shot put weather—hot and sunny—got the 15 pound weight out a distance of 50 feet 1 7/8 inches, breaking the one year old record of Eric Krenz, a teammate, by a bare 7-8 inches. Krenz was strictly subnormal in today's trials, being well back in the field, the second position going to Barney Berlinger, Pennsylvania's all-around artist.

The latter bettered his best previous performance by almost two feet, his toss being taped at 49 feet 3 5/8 inches.

In the preliminary trials of the javelin throw, Leo Kirby and Bill Spaulding of Stanford, were heading their field by a comfortable margin, each doing approximately 200 feet. Kirby, the leader at this stage, had an actual distance of 201 feet.

Russia Claims Oldest Person In Peasant, 146

MOSCOW, May 31.—This country claims the world's oldest person. He is a peasant, Nikolai Andreyevich Shapkovski, 146 years old. The ancient man lives in the Abkhazian village of Lathi and has never been ill in his life.

Until the age of 120, when his last daughter was born, he bathed daily in a mountain stream except in mid-winter, ate enormously and drank much Caucasian wine. To this he ascribes his longevity. In the latter years he has lost all his teeth save one, become slightly deaf and cannot eat so much, but still drinks heartily and presents no sign of extreme age.

This phenomenon was discovered by no less a person than the French writer, Henri Barbusse, now traveling in Russia, and tells the whole tale with a certified copy of Shapkovski's social insurance card giving details of his birth, etc., by which he is entitled to draw a pension of 60 rubles a month. M. Barbusse says he is convinced of the story's authenticity.

Coal Company Files Appeal From Paying Award Of $3,000

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 31.—An appeal from an award of $3,000 damages to P. T. Fagan, president of district No. 5, United Mine Workers, for alleged false arrest during the coal strike was filed today by the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal company.

Coal and iron police, who detained Fagan, are agent of the state, the coal corporation contends, and it therefore disclaims responsibility for Fagan's arrest.

Fagan was originally awarded $5,000 by a jury but Judge James W. Gray reduced the award to $3,000.

BILLION AND HALF YEARS NOW GIVEN AS AGE OF EARTH

Geologists generally have accepted the comparatively recent calculation of physicists that the age of the world is approximately 1,500,000,000 years, according to Dr. Charles Schuchert, professor emeritus of paleontology at Yale University, in a special course in stratigraphic geology at the University of Texas.

As for the age of the earth, our conceptions have been greatly altered by the work of the physicists during the last 20 years. Dr. Schuchert is quoted by the New York Herald Tribune as saying in "This calculation was based on the best calculation of the earth's age comes from the rate of disintegration of radium-bearing minerals and, on that basis, the age of the earth now is estimated to be not less than 1,500,000,000 years. Such a vast length of time is beyond our conception."

A century ago it was almost universally held that the earth was about 5,600 years old. Through the rate of disintegration of radium-bearing minerals all of our older calculations have been greatly altered. Until this discovery was made and worked out geologists the world over held that the age of the earth was of the order of about 125,000,000 years.

A lecture on the amount of salt in solution in the oceans and the present rate of new supplies yielded by the rivers flowing into them. The rivers today, however, are yielding a greater annual average of this salt than was the rate during the geologic ages, and geologists later began to think of the age of the earth as something like 300,000,000 years.

Reserve Officers Open Encampment At Conneaut Lake

(International News Service)
CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., May 31.—Military attacks on Cleveland and Pittsburgh by officers of the Reserve Association of Pennsylvania made up today's military activities in the first real day of maneuvers at their seventh annual encampment.

More than 20,000 visitors motored in to the resort to see it changed over night into a camp of warriors from all parts of Pennsylvania.

Led by Col. Thomas M. Anderson, chief of staff of the 99th division and assisted by his staff officers the first real field maneuver was the "attack" on Pittsburgh. In a lecture last night Cleveland was subjected to the same procedure but whether it was won or not the 100 or more reserve officers would not admit.

Those attending, strolling in all yesterday, held a Memorial service last night in the Conneaut Lake hotel, where Bishop John G. Ward, of the Episcopal Diocese of Erie, spoke on peace. Other speakers were Col. Anderson, Major C. A. Gabbott of Tamaqua, who talked on the Ameri-

Georgia Fish Tales Exceed All Bounds

(International News Service)
ATLANTA, Ga., May 31.—This matter of fish tales is going to be carried too far one of these days and somebody is going to get hurt. However, Grover C. Whipple, deputy clerk at the courthouse here, got away with this one the other day.

Whipple went out on Niskey Lake the other night to fix some frogs. His boat had hardly cast off from the shore, he said before a one and a half-pound trout leaped four feet out of the water and landed in the bottom of the boat. A few seconds later, the trout was followed by three more, which also landed in the boat. Some of these days somebody is going to get hurt.

Tourists To Have Radio For Autos

Invention Of New York Man
Permits Perfect Reception
Enroute

NEW YORK, May 31.—Summer tourists who have been listening eagerly for the call of the open road will not have to say goodbye to their radio this season. These two aids to recreation, providing for touring and for entertainment, have been united in an ingenious device.

The automobile-radio, the invention of William Heina, incorporates a full-sized radio as an integral part of the automobile. Through an interference-dampening device the squawk and squeal which ordinarily would result from the high tension ignition system of the automobile have been completely eliminated. The radio will function clearly in an automobile speeding through the country at 60 miles an hour.

Heina worked for four years in his laboratory in Long Island City, and with radio sets installed on a hundred different cars before announcing his perfected invention. The invention, which Heina calls "Transitone", consists of a six-tube, eleven-tube radio receiver completely enclosed in a stout copper box and installed behind the automobile dash, with the radio dials placed in the center of the instrument board.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Present Memorial Day Program At Mahoning School

Rev. Sleppy Is Speaker; Other News Notes Of The Seventh Ward

A Memorial Day program was presented at the Mahoning school Wednesday morning. The program was for junior high pupils of the school. The program opened with the presentation of the colors by Daniel DeMarco, Richard McIlwain was color bearer. Guards were David Bender and Edward Bevan. "In Flander's Field" was given by Virginia Stone. "The Response" was given by Ted Colchiski. The Memorial Day address was made by Rev. David Day Sleppy, pastor of the Mahoning M. E. church. Rev. Sleppy gave a very interesting talk.

Attorney C. A. Patterson was present, representing the American Legion. Mr. Patterson presented the American Legion award. Joseph Cunningham was the eighth grade boy of Mahoning school who received the award this year. Each year a boy and girl of the eighth grade in each school most outstanding in character, scholarship and leadership are given awards. The award to a girl of the school will be made next week.

Robert M. Strickler was present and presented thrift awards to pupils of the school.

Thrift Awards In Mahoning School

Pupils With Thrift Records For Year Are Given Awards

The distinction for being the thriftiest grade at the Mahoning school went to grade 2A1 in the thrift exercise held at the Mahoning school this morning. 2A1 was fourth and 4B and 5A1 were tied for fifth place.

C. H. U. M. CLUB.
Mrs. James Westman of Sunny Side, entertained the members of the C. H. U. M. club in her home Wednesday evening. Special guests were Mrs. Herman Alexander, Mrs. M. R. Olmstead and Mrs. Agnes Clark. The evening was spent informally in five hundred and social chat. Prizes were won by Mrs. Olmstead and Mrs. Alexander.

The birthday of Miss Helen Clark, a member of the club was honored. Miss Clark received many pretty gifts from the club members.

At a seasonable hour delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. Each luncheon table was centered with a bud vase of spring flowers. Pink and green tones were carried out in decorations.

In two weeks the club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. D. C. Offutt on West Cherry street.

VISITING HERE
Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thomas of Toledo, O., visited over the holiday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Thomas, of Seventh street.

Brooklyn Gives Release To Two
International News Service.
NEW YORK, May 31.—Brooklyn heads westward today with the roster considerably reduced. Jimmy Pattison, has been sent to the Macomb, Ga., club on option and Alex Ferguson has been sold to the Buffalo club of the International League. The club's hospital list, headed by Dazzy Vance and Mel Bonnette, was increased by the addition of Max Carey. He ruptured a blood vessel in his left ankle yesterday. Bright colored automobiles from America are popular in Holland.

U. S. Fire Lookout Is In Top Of Tree
Lofty Perch Is Constructed 200 Feet From Ground For Fire Warden

International News Service.
JOQUIAM, Wash., May 31.—The highest off-the-ground fire look-out station in the world has just been completed in the Quinault Indian Reservation in the heart of the Olympic forest belt. It was constructed by the Hobl Timber Company and will be maintained jointly by the United States Indian Service and the lumbering firm. The "office" is 7 by 7 foot cubby-hole located on the top of a giant Douglas fir. The 200 foot tree was topped by high-climbers 24 feet from the top and the coop-like structure securely attached with part of the trunk sticking up through the floor to act as a table and support. A telephone will be included among the "conveniences" to advise rangers of fire locations but there will be no elevator to lift the "boss" to his high position. He ascends upward by a spiral ladder built about the tree trunk with iron rods and steel cable, gaining admission through a trap door in the floor. Guy wires fastened beneath the office to stumps below keep the tree securely braced against the elements.

Keystone State May Lose Congressman
Possibility Of Reapportionment Resulting In Loss Of One Congressman
(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31.—If reapportionment of the House of Representatives were made upon the basis of the 1920 population census and by the method of major fractions, Pennsylvania would lose one member in the House, providing foreign born aliens were excluded from consideration as population of the state, Senator Tyson of Tennessee has told the Senate. Pennsylvania at the present has 36 representatives and would continue to have that same number if reapportionment of the House were conducted on a basis of the total population of the state in 1920, according to Senator Tyson. If the reapportionment were made upon a basis of the 1920 population exclusive of the foreign born who have not become naturalized, however, the population of the Keystone state would be so reduced that the state would be entitled to only 24, rather than 35 representatives, the Tennessee senator declares. Witnesses said that the blind man, worsted Harry Reed, his brother-in-law in the encounter blacking and cutting Reed's eyes so badly that Reed had to be taken to a hospital. Reed is not blind.

Suicides Decrease In German Schools

Students No Longer Fear Rigid Examinations Of Professors

(International News Service) BERLIN, May 31.—Suicides among German school pupils because of fear of the rigid German examinations are decreasing. On the other hand, suicides among youths who have already left the school are reaching alarming proportions. This was revealed in a speech in the Prussian diet by Dr. Karl Heinrich Becker, Prussian minister of culture. School pupils suicides have always been excessively high in Germany and have led to many attacks on the whole German school system, with its killing drill in dead facts and its rigid examinations. After the revolution, this system relaxed a little, but is tending to fall back again into its old rigidity.

The question of school pupil suicides has again attracted widespread attention because especially pathetic cases, but Dr. Becker cited statistics to show that suicides among pupils ranged between 72 and 84 per year before the war, and that they have dropped to be between 46 and 58 after the war.

Boston Originated Telephone Emblem

Original Blue Bell Was Designed By Angus Hibbard In 1889

(International News Service) BOSTON, May 31.—The familiar blue insignia of the Bell telephone system found its origin in Boston in 1889, just 22 years after the invention of the telephone by Alexander Graham Bell. Although the first sign only displayed the words "Long distance Telephone," improvements and changes brought about the present result, which was first placed into general usage in 1921. Angus S. Hibbard was the originator of the "Blue Bell" sign. At first this was simply the long lines emblem, but in five years, by 1894, there were so many stations in the country where the special instruments and apparatus of the Long Lines could be found, that it was deemed advisable to publish a special National Telephone Directory of the stations connected by the metallic circuit. The blue bell appeared on its cover.

SEND IT SOME EYE-WASH. A naturalist assures us lions are near-sighted, but we wouldn't go looking for one if we knew it was stone-blind.—Albany Knickerbocker-Press.

Britain Profits By U. S. Meat Embargo

(International News Service) LONDON, May 31.—The United States embargo on Argentine meat is not only protecting the American farmer but it is saving money for the British housewife. This has been revealed in the announcement that England is suffering from a shortage of meat. The price of beef, mutton and lamb has been gradually increasing for several months. If the American embargo on Argentine meat was lifted prices would jump out of all proportion in the eyes of the consumer over here. London imports 80 per cent of its meat supplies. Forty per cent of these come from Argentina. If America lifted the embargo and entered in competition this source of supply would become considerably smaller. England cannot outbid America. Thus the price for the English housewife would literally soar. England as a whole consumes one million more tons of meat than is home-killed. At one time Australia was looked upon as a plentiful source of beef supply, but time has failed to justify this estimate. One the whole, Europe is becoming more and more to look upon South America as the future meat supply base of the world.

Three Generations State Elopements

(International News Service) DENVER, May 31.—Grandmother did it; mother did it, so son did it too. They all eloped to get married. Robert Celler Weill of Denver, was recently missed from his usual haunts. But not for long, for soon he returned with a wife, the former Laura Scott of Rock Springs, Wyo. When Weill's mothers asked him why he did not confine in her, his plans to marry, he replied with a proud air: "You eloped, and so did grandmother, so I was forced to uphold the family tradition." "Well's grandmother eloped "Kentucky fashion," in other words by horseback, to a town located a short distance from Lexington, Ky., a half century ago. His mother went by street car to St. Charles, a suburb of St. Louis, Mo. Weill used an automobile. SO OBLIGING. Dad to daughter. Now that your man's away for a holiday, you'll have to see that I get up in time for work every morning. Daughter.—All right, dad, I'll try to get in in time.—Judge. Another form of el conservation is to stay at home some Sunday.—The Louisville Times.

State Will Buy 300,000 Acres Of Forest Land

Million Dollars Available For Purchases During Coming Biennium

MILLION ACRES OFFERED FOR SALE

From News Bureau State Capital. HARRISBURG, May 31.—Little time will be lost by the Department of Forests and Waters in getting its forest land purchase program under way after the 1929-31 biennium appropriations are available after June 1. The department has available $1,000,000 with which to acquire additional forest lands.

Officials estimate that approximately 300,000 acres can be added to the State's forest domain during the two year period ending May 31, 1931. That will be about double the acreage purchased in the previous biennium.

Offers of nearly 1,000,000 acres of forest land are on file with the department from owners who desire to sell their holdings to the State. At the last meeting of the Forest Commission the purchase of 100,000 acres by the department was authorized.

The 1927 legislature made available $500,000 to buy forest land. In addition $450,000 was appropriated to aid in the purchase of the Cook Forest tract of about 8000 acres mostly virgin timber.

Purchases by the Department of Forests and Waters of land for forest purposes will not be the only land to be acquired by the State during the biennium. The Game Commission also purchases land for game and hunting preserves. These areas are being located near centers of population so as to be readily accessible to hunters from the cities. Several thousand acres are being added each year by the commission and really can be classified as forest lands.

BEAUTY DOCTORS OR REAL BEAUTY

Any Woman Who Desires Can Be Attractive When Well

You need not envy other women their magnetic qualities. You may be attractive yourself if you desire so. There certainly is a way for any woman by which she can be both desirable and attractive. It is not by buying beauty aids. They may help in bringing out the good features, but these must be present before they can accomplish much. What constitutes real attractiveness in women is personal magnetism. Some of the ugliest featured women in the world have been the most popular. The really beautiful woman is always magnetic. She alone possesses the clear skin, the bright eyes, the lustrous body, that constitute real beauty.

Women who are lethargic and heavy in their movements, whose skin lacks lustre and whose eyes are dull, in a very large percentage of cases are suffering from gastric troubles. Their bodies are failing to get the best values out of their food and their organs are not throwing off the impurities from the blood. Instead of being active filters, removing the impurities from the blood, the kidneys are apt to be inflamed, and the stomach lacks tone. Usually the cause of our modern way of living makes for a sluggish congestion in the mucous membrane that lines the digestive tract, the lungs, and most of the rest of the body. That congestion shows up the bodily processes. The stomach cannot digest food well, and the blood must suffer. Sore kidneys and clogged skin cannot take off the bodily wastes, and the blood is not purified. Add to this the constipation that frequently follows, and a woman's attractiveness will be reduced to a very low power.

These conditions are usually evidence of catarrh. Remove this catarrh, wherever it is located, by a systematic treatment, and this gives the blood a chance to enrich every part of the body. Then the beauty will appear. The secret of the attractiveness of many women who in this country are found in the clearing up of the system through the use of World's Toilet. Its value in catarrhal conditions is proved by the testimony of thousands. When you are really well, you will always be attractive. Use World's Toilet to make you healthy and beautiful. It can be obtained of McKee's Drug Store, Eckerd's of New York, or of any other first class druggist. (A-10)

NEW LAWS MAKE MINOR CHANGES IN GAME CODE

Theft Of Lawful Quarry Punishable; No Red Fox Bounties

HARRISBURG, May 31.—The Board of Game Commissioners has compiled a list of thirteen changes in the present laws which were enacted at the present session of the Legislature and approved by the Governor.

One of the more important changes clarifies a hunter's right to the game he has killed lawfully. Such game or parts of it may be considered as personal property and a charge of larceny may be lodged for its theft.

Another measure removed the $2.00 bounty on red foxes and placed a $5.00 premium on goshawks killed between May 1 and November 1. The board believed that the value of the red fox pelt was sufficient incentive to assure the animals being kept in control. Goshawks in recent years have invaded the State in great numbers during the winter months. They have taken heavy toll of small game, particularly ruffed grouse, to obtain the bounty the entire bird must be shipped to the offices here within 36 hours after killing.

Under a change made the open season for racoons will now be from November 1 to January 15 and they may be hunted only between one hour before sunset and one hour after sunrise. Previously the season opened on October 1 and hunting was permitted any hour of the 24.

Another act granted the Board authority to issue licenses for the raising of fur bearing animals for commercial purposes. Licenses for fur dealers were divided into three classes. A $5.00 license fee will be charged dealers who sell furs within this state to others who are licensed in Pennsylvania.

Dealers who buy for commercial purposes will be charged $10.00 and non-resident commercial dealers $50.00.

The new changes in the law also permits the holding of field meets or trials, in which bird dogs are permitted to work on liberated or native wild game birds in exhibition or contest at any time of the day, from August 20 to March 31, Sundays excepted. It also provides for the holding of field meets in which dogs are permitted to follow led game at any time or season of the year, Sundays excepted. A permit for such a meet must be obtained from the Board of Game Commissioners for which a fee of $20.00 is collected.

The bow and arrow was declared a lawful device for taking game in Pennsylvania.

Federal Standard In order that the State law on game birds might conform with the Federal migratory bird laws, the following species were eliminated from our game bird list: swan, wood duck, elder duck, loons, grebes, and reed-birds.

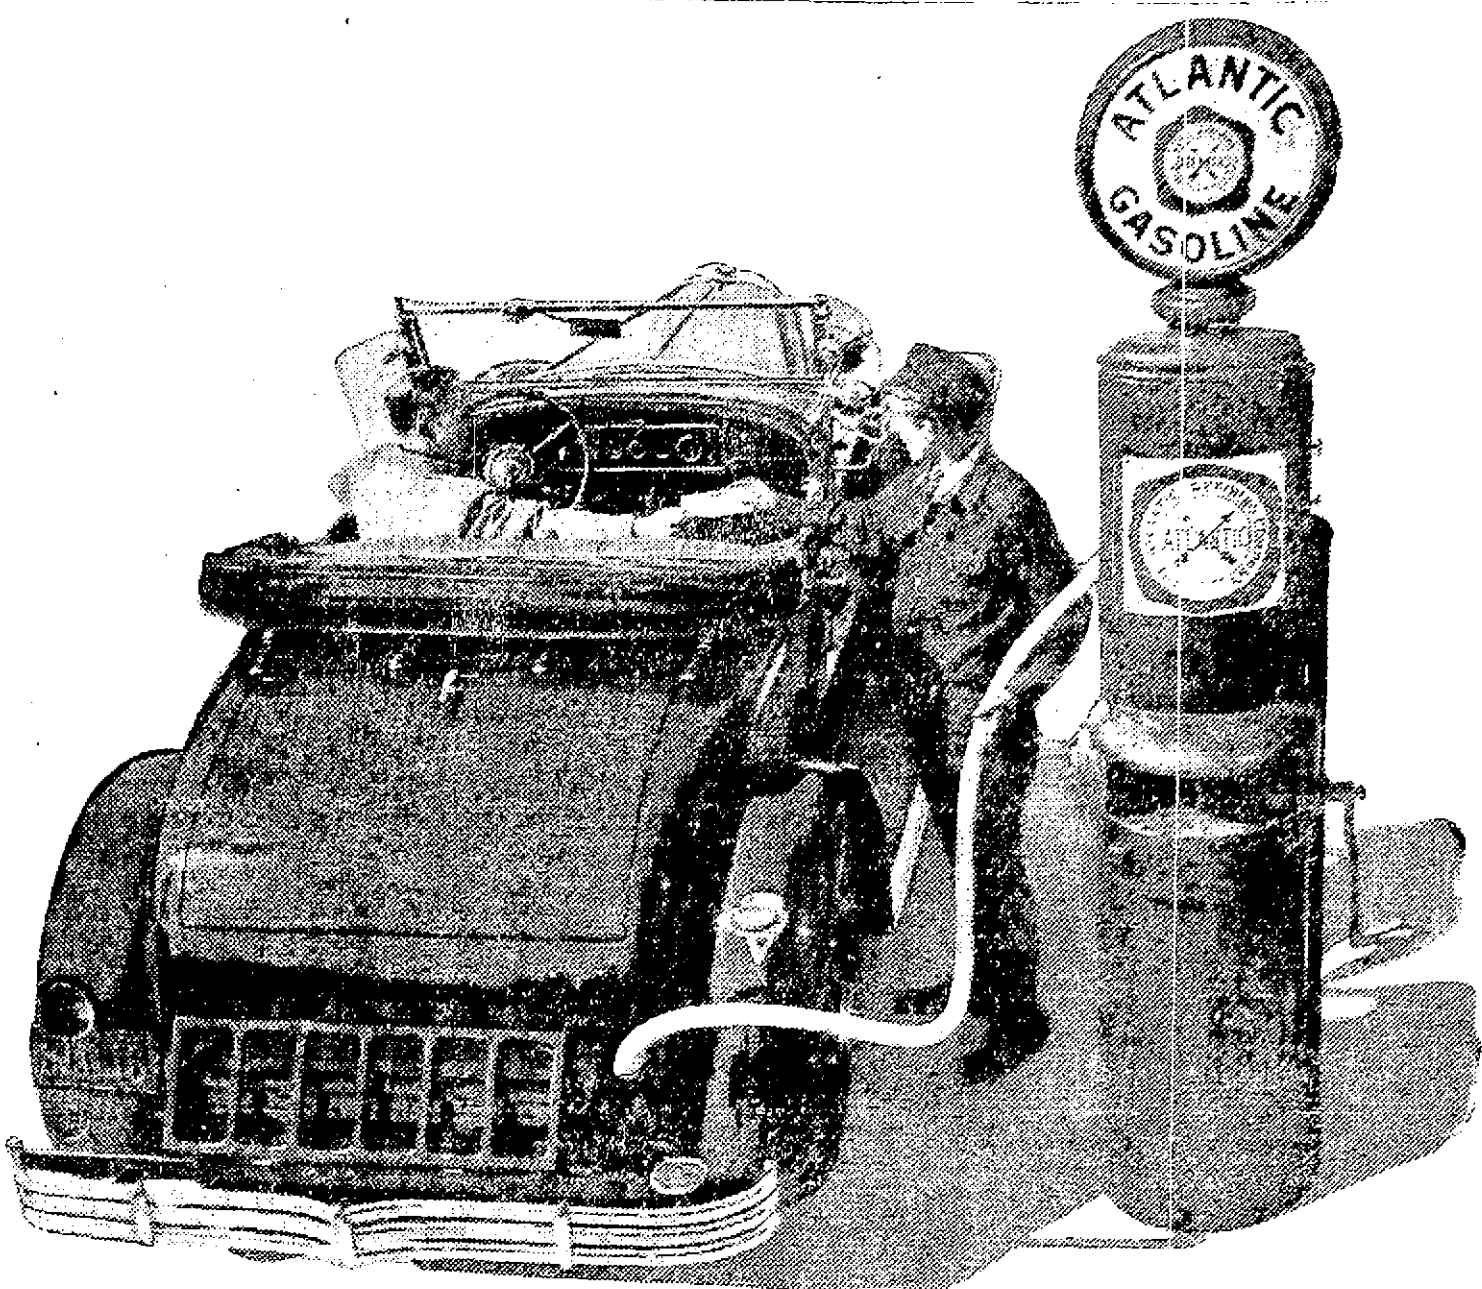

The great gray owl and hawk owl have been stricken from the unprotected list of birds in Pennsylvania. These birds seldom occur in Pennsylvania.

Open seasons on upland or grass plover, reedbirds, sandpipers and curlews have been eliminated.

The law heretofore imposing a fine of $50.00 for making use of, or taking advantage of, any vehicle or artificial light or battery in taking or transporting game of any kind, has been changed to impose a $50.00 fine for taking only elk, deer, or bear in such unlawful manner.

NEW CASTLE GIRL IS INJURED IN ACCIDENT

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., May 31.—Three persons were injured, one seriously, in automobile collisions late last night. Miss Helen Glass, 19, of Myers avenue, New Castle, sustained a painful laceration over the right eye when thrown against the windshield in a collision between two automobiles on the Bennett Run road. She was treated at the Providence hospital and returned to her home.

Heavy Hair Scientific Reason For Quick Temper Of Redheads

By FRANCIS ARMSTRONG International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, May 31.—Well, here's the reason redheads have terrible tempers.

All the mental heavyweights met at the University of Chicago, in the central section of the American Anthropological society, pondered long and deeply on the temperament of various types and here's the way they figured it out:

(It's a scientific defense, in case you happen to be a Titan.) "Blonde hair is the lightest," according to George Neuman, who conducted tests on many heads. "And that isn't a pun. By actual weight measurement, the blond has the least to carry around with her, by way of hirsute adornment.

"But the redhead must suffer under the burden of the heaviest tresses. The added weight of hair, irritating the delicate nervous organization of the scalp, would be enough to justify the alleged temper displayed by redheads."

With complex machines, Neuman made experiments. He took ten strands of hair each from a hundred Caucasian women, a hundred white men, a hundred Mongoloid men and a hundred Negroid males. He washed the hairs in ether to remove foreign substances, and then went to work, to make deductions.

"The Mediterranean races have the heaviest hair," he said, in announcing his results.

"Hair of the Alpines is lighter, and the Nordics have the lightest locks. The negro, because of lack of pigmentation and air bubbles, has the least weighty hair."

Men have heavier hair than women, Neuman announced. But he admitted that close bobs have lessened the difference in ounces carried around beneath the close-fit turbans affected by the females.

Newman's discoveries, he said, have been during four months of intensive investigation into the subject of hair, and the relation of its weight to the temperament of its wearers.

Blonds, he found, have practically no reason to be quick tempered, from the standpoint of hirsute coverage.

Delicious flavor for vegetable foods

Any woman interested in appetite appeal can use it

COOKING history was made recently when four famous cooking experts met in a kitchen high up in a New York skyscraper. The question before the house was what could be done to make vegetable dishes as delicious as they could be. The result of the experiments, which were carried on for several days, was the far-reaching new discovery of an old secret. The best way to cook vegetables is in a small amount of water, and with the addition of sugar. In every case vegetables so prepared received the unanimous vote of the experts.

For luncheon or dinner cook 6 medium carrots with a level tablespoon of sugar in the least boiling water possible. Slice, reheat and let simmer 10 minutes in 2 teaspoons of butter, pinch of salt, and 1 level tablespoon of sugar.

For delicious stewed tomatoes, peel, slice and stew 6 ripe ones, then add a lump of butter, 3 teaspoons of salt, 2 level tablespoons of sugar, and 1 tablespoon of bread crumbs. Cook 10 minutes longer and serve.

Just try sugar with vegetables in your own kitchen and notice how much better it makes these healthful foods. Try a dash of sugar with lima beans, string beans, corn, peas, parsnips, squash, onions and tomatoes. It makes children and adults like them. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

December Romance Fades In 6 Months

(International News Service) PLINT, Mich., May 31.—A couple whose ages total 148 years, have separated after less than six months of married life, according to a divorce suit on file in Circuit court. John W. Dobner, 78, filed suit for divorce from his wife Catherine Lighthill Dobner, 70, charging that his wife was cruel to him, at one time chasing him with a broomstick. Their wedding occurred last October and the couple separated in March, according to the suit. Philadelphia will probably take great delight in chortling: "You know me, Al!"—The Terre Haute Star.

Murder Dwells At Back Door Of Chicago's Elite

Most Cosmopolitan District In World Found On Chicago's North Side

RICH RUB ELBOWS WITH CRIMINALS

By FRANCIS F. HEALY International News Service Staff Correspondent CHICAGO, May 31.—The most cosmopolitan district of any city in the world, it is believed, is on the north side of Chicago in a territory a mile and a half in length and scarcely a mile wide.

Therein, along the so-called Gold Coast, dwell Chicago's richest and foremost society leaders at their back door the real artists of the city and the would-be bohemians; adjoining them the "floating" population of North Clark street, and just to the West the "Little Hell" of Chicago where so many have been killed in bloody feuds.

From rags to riches; from pomp and power to murder and crime and gangland, all within a mile range.

This, in short, is the description of Chicago's near north side given by Dr. Harvey Z. Zorbaugh in a sociological study issued by the University of Chicago. Dr. Zorbaugh is now on the faculty of New York University.

Old Society Goes Society persons themselves helped to contribute to the book. The old order of things, society of the eighties, with dowager queens reigning, is passing and leadership today among the elite has been assumed by progressive rich young folk who can keep pace with modern times. Social life is described as a "constant game of wits and riches, with the goal of prestige, position and influence."

In this district is the spacious home of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, the massive Drake Hotel, the Chicago Historical Society building and others. A scant few blocks away is the gloomy Chicago river with its factories, docks and evil smelling dank pilings.

Nearby are scores of little bohemian cafes, filled with the "hobo-artists" of Chicago, the failed artists and writers. One street is dotted with "peakeasies" hidden away in rickety buildings built long before the old World's Fair in the past century. Truck drivers, railroad workers and mendicant brush shoulders with society persons strolling on Lake Shore Drive, only a few feet away.

Scores Killed Then, "death corner," the Italian settlement. Gaunt tenements housing all fed children, shabby men and women, lacking in air. It was at this corner scores of men have been killed in the last twenty years. Never once have police been able to find one person, one person among the thousands swarming the streets on that corner who ever admitted they saw a man killed, or who even would admit hearing the sound of a shot.

One tiny settlement, not far from Mrs. McCormick's home, has a mixture of Arabs and Turks. Little is known of them as upon a whole they are peaceful and quiet. Upon still another street in this district police uncovered one of the largest stills ever seized and a full bootlegging plant occupying six floors of a building. Armenians and Bulgarians live upon North avenue in this district. There is a small German and a small French settlement.

And all in a district a little over a square mile.

FOUR ARE BURNED TO DEATH IN AUTO

YPSILANTI, Mich., May 31.—Two men and two women were burned to death last night after their speeding motor car crashed through the railing of a viaduct over the Ann Arbor railroad tracks on U. S. highway No. 112, and rolled down a 75-foot embankment. An explosion of gas prevented escape.

The four were unidentified, all their clothing and baggage being charred beyond recognition.

NO TICK DIPPING FOR TEXAS SKUNKS

(International News Service) AUSTIN, Texas, May 31.—Seganka, which is American Indian for little rodent with a perverted taste for perfume, has escaped the toils of the law in Texas. The legislature recently voted down an amendment to a tick eradication measure, whereby it was contended that the skunk carried the parasites the same as cattle and should be dipped accordingly. Defeat of the amendment was reported to have received the whole-hearted approval of the state tick eradicator.

Unsightly Pimples cleared away in two weeks

Taunton, Mass.—"I have always had an unusually good complexion until a short time ago when a number of unsightly pimples appeared on my face. I tried every kind of soap I could think of, but with no satisfactory results. Then I read about Resinol Soap and Ointment, and began at once to use them. In two weeks' time my skin was as clear and smooth as ever."

TEN HERBS TONED UP LOCAL MAN'S ENTIRE SYSTEM

New Medicine Banished Stomach Trouble, Nervousness And Other Ills.

A vast number of men and women of this section are expressing surprise and even amazement at the way Ten Herbs, the great natural medicine, benefits the whole system. How the ten wonderful herbal ingredients of this new compound goes to the source of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness and a general weak, run-down condition, is fully explained at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city.

"Ten Herbs has greatly toned up my whole system," was the recent statement of Mr. George P. Stewart, 408 Neshannock Street, New Castle. "I had been in poor health for a long time and feared I would have to give up my work at the mill and seek lighter work. My stomach was in very bad condition. Everything I ate brought on gas, bloating and retching. Gas arising from undigested food caused pains around my heart. My tongue was badly coated. My liver was not working as Nature intended, and I became subject to headaches and dizzy spells. My nerves were all ways on edge and the least thing would cause me to worry and become irritable. My kidneys were disordered. My back ached so badly that I would have to arise several times during the night to get relief. I was bothered with constipation, and although I tried many things, nothing did me any good."

A neighbor advised me to try Ten Herbs, it having done him a great deal of good. After taking Ten Herbs awhile, I am glad to testify to its worth. I can now eat a full meal without being troubled with gas, bloating or retching. My nerves are much better, and headaches have been relieved. I enjoy a good night's rest, without having to arise, and feel refreshed and ready for work when morning comes. My tongue is no longer coated, and my skin looks a great deal healthier."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, and is sold at all drug and medicine stores throughout this entire section.

Shot Through Head, Drives To Hospital

(International News Service) ATLANTA, May 31.—Although he had been shot through the right eye, the bullet emerging at the back of the head, Harry Lindsey, 28, walked to the curb where his automobile was parked, got in the machine and drove to a hospital.

Surgeons at the hospital were astonished when Lindsey strode into the emergency room, staunching the flow of blood from the wound with his handkerchief, and asked calmly for surgical treatment. It was the most amazing case in their experience, they said.

Lindsey was shot by an unidentified assailant.

Jeremiah's Last Days

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

JEREMIAH IMPRISONED

"BLESSED ARE YE WHEN MEN SHALL REPROACH YOU, AND PERSECUTE YOU, AND SAY ALL MANNER OF EVIL AGAINST YOU FALSELY, FOR MY SAKE."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

Jeremiah has been called "the prophet of failure," but no man is a failure who serves God and his generation as faithfully as Jeremiah did. The failure was not Jeremiah's, but the nation's, because of its failure to heed the prophet's unwelcome message.

Zedekiah, the last of Judah's kings, was one of its weakest rulers. When Jeremiah was charged by the princes with trying to escape to the Chaldeans, who were besieging Jerusalem, and imprisoned in the dungeon of Jonathan's house, the king secretly sought the prisoner with the inquiry: "Is there any word from Jehovah?" When Jeremiah boldly gave the king the unwelcome message: "Thou shalt be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, the king showed mercy upon him, by removing him from the dungeon and confining him to the more comfortable court of the prison, and gave orders that they should give him daily a piece of bread out of the baker's street, until all the bread in the city was spent."

But when Jeremiah continued to prophesy the overthrow of Jerusalem by sword, famine and pestilence, and even advised the inhabitants to fall away to the Chaldean besiegers to save their lives, the princes pleaded with the king to put the prophet to death, and his weak reply was: "Behold, he is in your hand, for the king is not he that can do anything against you." What a shameful confession of weakness and what a contrast between the prophet and the king!

The prophet cast into a pit. Thus the third stage of Jeremiah's imprisonment finds him "cast into the dungeon of Malchiah, that was in the court of the prison; and they let down Jeremiah with cords. And in the dungeon there was no water, but mire." Again the king is appealed to by a negro slave to save the aged prophet from starvation in this filthy pit, and the king gives orders to "take up Jeremiah the prophet out of the dungeon before he die."

Jeremiah's Sorrows. Among the prophets none presents a more pathetic picture than Jeremiah, and none more nearly resembles our Lord in the aspect of the Man of Sorrows. The false prophets prophesied peace. Jeremiah war; they deluded the people with false hopes; they were glad to entertain, he despised all such hopes; they stood on a level with the masses, he stood above the masses trying to lift the masses up to God; their path was the path of least resistance, his was the stern upward path of duty.

Jeremiah's Example. Our prophet in the study of this lesson comes only as we translate it from history into our own lives in the living present, and strive to emulate the traits of character that made Jeremiah the last of Israel's great statesmen prophets. King Zedekiah was a miserable weeping because he feared everybody and everything more than he feared sin; Jeremiah was the power of God for that age and a living power still because he feared nothing but sin.

The international uniform lesson for June 2 is Jeremiah 20:1-18, 37:1-31, 38:1-28, 42:1-7, the subject being "Later Experiences of Jeremiah," and the Golden Text: "Blessed are ye when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake."—Matt 5:11.

Cat And Dog Cemetery In Paris Will Be Expanded

PARIS, May 31.—The Cat and Dog cemetery of Paris known as the most beautiful burial place in the world for animals is to be enlarged. The desire of many French people to inter their pets in a manner befitting a beloved one has crowded the graveyard with mausoleums, monuments and tombstones until expansion has become necessary.

This cemetery which was founded 29 years ago is located on a little island on the Seine just outside the gates of Paris. It has its caretakers who tend the perpetual plots, keep tombstones and monuments clean and who dig the graves. They live in a little house on one side of the graveyard. Here also may be found catalogues of sculptured monuments and stone vaults.

A burial at this pet cemetery although simple and without benefit of clergy is always impressive. There is no music, no graveside eulogy. There is only the simple ceremony of lowering a tiny coffin containing the remains of a Siamese cat or a French poodle into a grave while the bereaved master looks solemnly on.

Although many of the animals are buried in zinc coffins covered with black sack cloth and trimmed with silver, the pets of poorer people are interred in humble caskets. For 35 francs a burial will be made and for a few francs more a wooden coffin may be obtained. For a few hundred francs the ground will be reserved for many years to the canine or feline body beneath it. And a head stone will be provided. For 3,000 francs a perpetual plot may be purchased.

All of the tombstones bear the name, date of birth and death of the deceased. Many contain brief inscriptions of affection while others are even inscribed with poems of eulogy.

In connection with the proposed enlargement of the cemetery it has been suggested that a crematorium be erected so that those who so wished could have their animal friends incinerated. Plans to embellish the graveyard further also are being considered and it is probable that the enlargement will be marked by the erection of more fountains and the planting of trees.

He delivered his views on the prospects of business before the sales managers' bureau of the Chamber of Commerce here recently.

Chicago Expert Says Business Promising

(International News Service) ST. LOUIS, May 31.—According to Harry G. Moeck, sales manager of the H. M. Ballard corporation of Chicago, business is promising.

Moeck said that although business shows a general decrease, there is nothing that should worry the efficient, but there is plenty that will worry those who wonder what it's all about.

Bootleg Diamonds In South Africa

International News Service. CAPETOWN, May 31.—Freshly dug diamonds offered freely to travelers, a host of small water craft engaged in illegal trading on the Orange River, and farmers riding in automobiles where formerly they owned ox-wagons, are some of the features of a new outbreak of illicit diamond buying reported by William Rust, a diamond expert newly returned from Mafeking.

"The hectic days of Kimberley are repeated entirely," says Rust. "The government will need an army to stop the trade."

ALL-STEEL BUILT like a SAFE

BUT two months ago General Electric announced the first ALL-STEEL refrigerator ever built. Now this outstanding scientific development of the times has been made available in six popular models.

The all-steel refrigerator cannot warp. It is strong—built to last. The doors, fitted by hand at the factory, retain their close fit.

The General Electric mechanism is permanently self-oiling, hermetically sealed in a steel casing and mounted up on top, trouble-free and safe from dust and difficulties.

Quietly, economically, it constantly maintains the temperature in the refrigerator at several safe degrees below the danger line of 50. It freezes ice cubes rapidly.

These six new models are offered at very low prices on conveniently spaced payments. The small family model, at the factory, is priced at $215.

New all-steel models in six different sizes at our display rooms invite your critical inspection.

Listen in on the General Electric Hour every Saturday, 8 to 9 P.M., Eastern Standard Time, over the N.B.C. network of 42 stations.

University Degree To Father Of Five

(International News Service) BOSTON, May 31.—A splendid example of perseverance for education will be set forth here this June when five children of the Rev. Anderson Brown, pastor of the Somerset, Mass., Federated church, who began his career as a self-taught spiritual adviser to a Kentucky mountaineer flock, will see their daddy receive his Bachelor of Sacred Theology degree at Boston university's commencement exercises.

Rev. Brown, as a young man was not allowed to leave his community because the mountaineers believed that "when God called a man to preach, he must do so immediately, and not waste his time in useless study." Eventually, however, he was able to enter Indiana university, graduating in 1911.

Following seven years of wanderings and preaching through Arizona and the far west, Brown entered Ohio Wesleyan, and following his second graduation, turned eastward to Boston university for his third degree.

(International News Service) KANSAS CITY, May 31.—Lee Stingley of this city has an ideal "alarm clock" one which functions accurately without winding. Since early spring a woodpecker has beaten a tattoo on a tin cap over the chimney at the same time every morning. Not only Stingley but neighbors, too, are awakened.

Capone And Rio Are Separated In Prison

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—Memorial Day marked the parting of the ways for "Scarface Al" Capone, notorious Chicago underworld king, and his henchman, "Chicago Frank" Rio, alias Cline. The men finished serving ten days of their one year prison sentence imposed by a Philadelphia judge for carrying concealed deadly weapons on that day.

They had been in quarantine but were moved at the end of the usual ten day period to separate cells among the other 1,700 prisoners in the overcrowded Holmesburg prison.

Road Building In U. S. Boosted By More Autos

Drastic Changes In Construction Made Necessary By Increased Number Of Cars

NATIONAL ROUTES MUST BE WIDENED

(International News Service) CHICAGO, May 31.—Greatly increased registration and mechanical improvements in motor vehicles in the past nine years have caused drastic changes in federal road-building practices, according to Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club.

Government highway engineers today are concerned over adequate widths of rights of way and the roads proper, not only with respect to present but future traffic, and of banking curves and the radius of curves. Hayes declared in an interview. Hayes is chairman of the road widening and grade separations committee of the American Automobile Association.

24,000,000 Vehicles. "In 1920 there were approximately 8,000,000 motor vehicles in the country, whereas today there are more than 24,000,000," Hayes declared. "Furthermore, the average speed of cars in the open country has increased twenty miles per hour in that period, as a result of improved motors, four-wheel brakes and other features that make for speed and safety."

"In 1918 only three states permitted cars to be driven from 35 to 40 miles per hour. Twenty-five miles was the average maximum. In 1928 thirty-six states permitted 35 to 45 miles, while three states prescribed no limits. Sixteen foot roads were regarded as fairly adequate a decade ago, road shoulders, or the space adjoining the edge of the road surface where cars may stop for repairs, received little or no consideration."

Wider Roads. "Today the policy of the federal bureau of public roads is to secure wide rights of way, which are the primary basis of adequate road widths. Although many states still acquire less than 100 feet for some of their radical routes, such as width, even up to 200 feet, especially where main roads intersect, is not uncommon when the national government is concerned. The extra width at intersections permits grade separations as the traffic increases. The extra width of the rights of way in general not only permit widening of the routes from time to time, but also for spacious shoulders on which car owners can park for the purpose of changing tires and other reasons without peril to themselves or those on the road."

"No federal highway builder would think of creating a road, even in the most remote sections of the country, that would be less than 20 feet in width. Researches made by the bureau indicate conclusively that the old 16 and 18-foot strips are too narrow for cars to pass each other with a due margin of safety."

New York Planning Tallest Building

Regional Plan Also Provides Home Site For Twenty Millions

(International News Service) NEW YORK, May 31.—Proposal for a huge civic center building—taller than the Woolworth Building—will be made in the report of the Regional Plan of New York and its Environs made public May 27.

The proposed structure would tower 1,000 feet toward the sky and would be ultra modern in design. It would be built just north of the present City Hall, according to the suggestion of the regional planners who have outlined a development plan covering the 425 municipalities within a fifty-mile radius of New York.

"The regional plan provides in outline form a proposal which would care for a population of 20,000,000 with room enough for each family to have a home of its own on a lot 40x100 feet. The present population of the area is 10,000,000.

Seven months research and an outlay of nearly $1,000,000 has been expended on the regional plan details of which will be made known at a meeting in the engineering societies building.

Sore At Boss, Denver Man Ransacks Store

(International News Service) DENVER, May 31.—Vengeance was sweet temporarily for Calvin E. Pannell, 29, former employee of an automobile parts company here.

Pannell accidentally saw a letter written by one of the officials of the company in which it was said, "If Pannell gets gay he can quit right now."

That statement worked harshly upon Pannell's pride, so he obtained a key that fit the door of the establishment, and then handed in his resignation.

Later, he returned under cover of night and took more than $3,000 worth of merchandise from the store. "I got sore at one of the bosses," Pannell told police when arrested, "and I figured that was a good way to get even with him."

Librarian In Jail Studies Book Likes

(International News Service) HAVERHILL, Mass., May 31.—In order to learn the literary tastes of prisoners in order that suitable reading material may be provided in the penal institutions of the commonwealth, Myron W. Fuller, assistant librarian of the Haverhill public library, will make a one-year self-imposed stay in the jails of the state.

He will attempt to make the prisoners "book conscious" and will report his findings to Miss E. Kathleen Jones, head of the public libraries section of the Department of Education.

Fuller will be on leave of absence from his work here for the year, and a sum of $3,000 has been provided for expenses. It was learned. The project was backed by the Bureau of Social Hygiene, Inc., of New York, which is maintained by funds provided by John D. Rockefeller Jr., who heads the board of directors.

Fuller will make a tour of all the penal institutions in the state, staying as long as a month in the more important ones. He will from talks with inmates learn at first hand the best method of selecting books to complete the libraries.

Leaves P. R. R. After 49 Years Of Service

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, May 31. — William W. Richardson, assistant to the Passenger Traffic Manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad at St. Louis, will be retired from active duty under the pension regulations on June 1, after 49 years of service. Richardson reached the age of 70 on May 9 and under the company's pension rules, retires automatically on the following month.

Entering the railroad service as a clerk in the motive power department of the Cincinnati division on September 1, 1880, Richardson advanced himself to a number of higher positions and on November 1, 1927 was advanced to his present position.

Chewton Church Will Celebrate

Fourth Anniversary Of Dedication Of New Church Occurs Sunday

CHURCH DEBT WILL BE ENTIRELY PAID

Of more than passing importance will be the services held next Sunday at the Chewton Christian church when the congregation will celebrate the fourth anniversary of the dedication of their new church.

Not only will there be appropriate services to commemorate the occasion but they will also have the pleasure of seeing the entire indebtedness on their church paid off.

It will be a real day of jubilee and victory for this splendid congregation. About six years ago under the leadership of their present pastor, Charles P. Durbin, this congregation began to assemble funds looking to the building of a new church on the plot of ground donated by John McCullen and his wife. Four years ago their dream came true in the dedication of their new church home. Although money to pay for it had been provided for it was only within the last few weeks that it became clear that the debt would be paid off on the fourth anniversary year.

Very beautiful for situation is the little church and with its motto, "A friend to man" it is fulfilling a great need in the community life. By very full cooperation and unity of purpose these people have achieved what few churches made up of working men and women have been able to accomplish.

The building committee was Chas. Yoho, Chas. Guy, A. W. Robertson and W. P. Guy, Jr. and these men continued as trustees of the work. With the loyal support of the Layman's class, adult class and other classes of the Bible school and the Ladies Aid and contributions from friends the debt has been lifted.

The membership pays respect and honor to their leader under whom they have labored and their fellow workers with whom they have worked. Rev. C. P. Durbin. The untiring labor of Rev. Durbin has been invaluable to their success. His helping hand and inspiring word stands as an immortal monument to his profession and his congregation.

The services on Sunday are as follows:

10 a. m. Bible school, A. W. Robertson superintendent, 11 a. m. communion service and preaching, 2:30 p. m. Victory services, Rev. J. B. Pordy, Central church, New Castle, will bring this address 7:45 p. m. evening worship. A special speaker will bring the message of the hour. The Loyal Men's class and Young Men's class will form the choir and Samuel Burrows and Geo. Barr of Ellwood City will sing.
Cordial invitations have been extended to the Christian churches of the county as well as friends and former members of the church to be present at all services.

Special Program At P. H. C. Meeting

Appreciation Is Shown At Meeting For Successful Work Of Deputy Blanche Canfield

The program presented to the members of New Castle Circle No. 5 Protected Home Circle on Wednesday night was one of the most unique and finest held in a long time with Guardian Margaret Hamond presiding.

A brief but busy session occupied the attention of the circle when following the ballot arrangements were completed for a whirlwind appreciation campaign as a courtesy to Deputy Blanche Canfield, following her sixteen years of unusually successful service for the local circle. Captains and teams were organized, the contest to close with a big class initiation in June. Guest of the circle on Wednesday night was Mrs. Mary Hume of St. Petersburg, Fla. Supreme Auditor, Dr. R. G. Baird opened the program referring in particular to the excellent work accomplished by Deputy Canfield and of her association with the Protected Home Circle for twenty five years.

Harry Hammond, son of the Guardian needs no introduction to the public and as a pianist has plenty of equals. He was enthusiastically received and his piano numbers won for him rounds of applause.
As a contortionist, little Ruth Thompson is wonderful, while Dorothy Fletcher, made a big hit with her song and dances accompanied by Mr. Hammond.

Dorothy Stewart added much to the program with her graceful dancing, while the rag doll and Spanish dance of Inez Strong added new laurels for this young Miss.

One of the most beautiful numbers was the toe dancing of Nina Strong who is really professional in this line, as was that also of Maxine Ballard. Ruth Phillips was fine in her song and dance and was followed with the "Varsity" Girls, Inez Strong, Maxine Ballard and Ruth Phillips, who knew their steps to perfection, the session adjourned with lunch later and a social hour spent with the members and their guests of the evening.

Mystery Surrounds Finding Of Infant's Body In Cemetery

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., May 31. — Authorities in Slippery Rock, as well as in the county, are trying to clear up the mystery surrounding the finding of a coffin and rough box in the Mt. Zion cemetery, near Slippery Rock a short time ago.

Recently the cemetery at the church was re-arranged and new plots were laid out. One of the plots was purchased and when grave diggers began their work they found a coffin and rough box in this lot.

They immediately went to the records, but could find nothing that would indicate that any one had ever been interred at that point.

Coroner William F. Pohl was notified and went to investigate the case. The rough box and coffin were brought to the top of the ground. The basket was opened. It disclosed the body of a baby, decomposed.

Coroner Pohl stated that, from the evidence, the baby had been interred without any clothing. The casket was placed only 18 inches from the top of the ground.

Diligent inquiry into the records, with the morticians and physicians, failed to disclose any information concerning the burial of the infant.

The casket was closed, placed in the box and interred in the potter's field. The theory is held by authorities that the baby was buried at night without any services and without even authorities knowing about it. Indications were that the affair had taken place about three years ago.

MUCH GAME TO BE PURCHASED

For restocking purposes this season the state board of game commission plan to contract for 75,000 cottontail rabbits, 500 raccoons, 100 fox squirrels and from 10,000 to 15,000 bob-white quail.

Rabbits can be procured without difficulty, as can fox squirrels. But there seems to be no large market for "coon" and it may be difficult to procure as many as 500 of these popular creatures.

The chief difficulty will be in securing the bob-white quail since these birds are purchased in Mexico, where adverse weather conditions often prevent the filling of large orders.

WHEELING, W. Va., May 31. — Congregations of the Pittsburgh Synod of the United Lutheran church will center their efforts in education work next year, largely, on the needs of Thiol College, Greenville, Pa. A campaign to raise $750,000 for new buildings and improvements at Thiol was given full approval here today by delegates attending the annual convention of the synod and the work of Dr. E. Clyde Zander, president of the college, was highly commended in a report given by Rev. Dr. W. H. Shepler of Beaver Falls. The campaign will be started October 31, 1930, and it is proposed that a liberal share of the money raised be used on new dormitories for women students.

CONWAY'S AIRPORT OPENED BY SWICK
CONWAY, Pa., May 31. — Congressman J. Harold Swick, Beaver Falls, addressed several thousand people here yesterday at the opening of the Conway municipal airport. He spoke on aviation, for which he predicted a great future. A Waco biplane owned by Harley Neal, Conway, and A. J. Moore, Baden, was christened "The Pride of Conway" by Neal's daughter, Evelyn Neal, 6, W. A. McElhenny was master of ceremonies.

Public Hearing Demand Is Made On Tariff Bill

Effort Made To Force Senate
To Hold Public Hearings

LEADERS OPPOSE LAFOLLETTE'S PLAN

Administration Chiefs Hope To Get Through All Summer Recess
Proposal

WASHINGTON, May 31.—An effort to force public hearings on the new tariff bill for the first time in history today threatened to project a lively battle in the senate even before the measure is formally considered.

Senator LaFollette (R) of Wisconsin sponsored the resolution directing the senate finance committee to hold public hearings on the tariff measure, which the house enacted last week. His proposal met with prompt opposition from administration leaders, but LaFollette predicted it would be approved by a combination of Democrats and insurgents.

Leaders worried.
Administration leaders, worried about their program for recessing congress from early June until September, looked upon LaFollette's move as another attempt to embarrass them. They asserted the tariff hearings always had been conducted behind locked doors. Although the testimony of witnesses always had been made public afterwards.

"Of course we will oppose LaFollette's resolution," announced Senator Smoot (R) of Utah, chairman. "Never in the history of tariff legislation have the hearings been public. The testimony always has been printed later but the discussion by senators always has been confidential. I see no need to abandon the practice that has ruled the drafting of a tariff bill since the early days of the republic."

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Thousands of pounds of "almighty dollars" are being rushed out of Washington on virtually every mail train to all parts of the country in the gigantic job of replacement of about 900,000,000 pieces of paper currency with the new abbreviated type.

Every available place of storage at the bureau of engraving and printing is filled with ones, two fives and tens in the process of getting old enough to be put in circulation.

Shipments of the new currency to the federal reserve banks has been in progress several days. From the reserve institutions the greenbacks, which are about one-third smaller than the present style, will be distributed to the banks and then to the public.

Issues of the present sized currency has stopped and consequently the country is using the most "down at the heel" paper in years. The treasury anticipated that the old currency would "hold together" until July when the new will go on the market, but admitted that it would be a struggle.

By September 1 officials believe that most of the denominations up to $20 bills would be replaced with the smaller currency, excepting national bank notes, the printing of which has not yet been started.

State Shows Large Increase In Vote

Increased Vote In Pennsylvania Is Second In Entire Nation

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, May 31.—Pennsylvania showed the second largest increase in votes polled in the last presidential election over the presidential ballot of 1916, of any other state in the nation, with 1,053,821 more votes cast for president in 1920 than in 1916, according to figures made public by the Get-Out-The-Vote-Club reveals.

In 1924 the Pennsylvania presidential ballot totaled 2,144,719 votes as compared with 3,150,610 votes cast in Pennsylvania in the election last November. Of the votes cast for president in 1924, a total of 1,401,481 votes were cast for Coolidge, and of the presidential votes cast in Pennsylvania last November, 2,053,382 votes were for Hoover.

The percentage increase in the 1920 vote in the state was approximately six per cent greater than the percentage increase of the country as a whole. The Pennsylvania increase in the presidential vote amounting to 20 per cent while the nation's increase was only 20 per cent.

Employees Of Postal Service Prohibited From Serving As Enumerators

Postmaster Edwin W. Crawford has received word from the fourth assistant postmaster general at Washington that rural mail carriers, or any other employees of the postal service, may not serve as enumerators in the coming census.

Laws governing dual employment in the classified service prohibit rural carriers and other postal employees from receiving pay for additional service in any other department of the federal government.

Crowd At May Day Exercises

Rose Avenue School Children Stage Colorful Ceremonies On Wednesday

PRIZES AWARDED IN PET PARADE

Pupils of the Rose Avenue school observed their May Day exercises Wednesday afternoon in the presence of a large throng of parents and teachers, and other friends of the school. Fully three hundred persons witnessed the program.

Outstanding during the afternoon were the pet parade and doll buggy review in which some 80 boys and nearly a hundred girls participated. The boys exhibited their pets, ranging anywhere from tiny white mice to huge German police dogs that literally led their masters along. The doll buggies, decorated in the height of fashion were entered by the girls. Members of the Parent-Teacher association of the school, which planned the occasion, and other adult guests acted as judges and voted as to which pet and which buggy they thought the best. All decisions were made by ballot.

As the pets and buggies passed in review the parents marked the number of the owner down, for each entrant carried a number so as to distinguish one from another. The votes were then deposited and counted by members of the Parent-Teachers' organization.

A committee of the parents had charge of the pets entered while the teachers of Rose avenue were in charge of the doll buggy review. Mrs. Paul McCandless was chairman of the parents' committee with Mrs. William Fullerton and Miss Jean Fisher as assistants. In charge of the doll buggy parade were Miss Jean Gibson, chairman; Miss Charlotte Emery and Miss Betty Mackey.

Following the outdoor program a short entertainment was presented by pupils of the school indoors. Miss Lucille Luton and Miss Mildred Smith, Rose avenue teachers, were in charge of the program which consisted of dances and the winning of the May pole. Miss Iretta V. Darr, principal of Rose avenue, was in general charge.

Winners of the pet parade and the buggy review conducted by the girls were announced by Miss Darr today as follows:

Doll Buggy Prizes.
 Prettiest buggy: First, a tie vote between Catherine Lucile Davis and June Foringer; second, Cecelia Turner; third, Marjory Thomas.
 Most original idea: First, Virginia Pence (like a ship); second, Betty Moore (home-made cart); third, Betty Jane Spangler (covered with white May apple blossoms).

Pet Parade Prizes
 Best looking pet: Jack Cartwright (white collie); most unusual, Joe Gill (small alligator); homeliest, Clifford Stoner (spoodle); largest, John Grant (German police dog); smallest, a tie vote between Junior Dufford (goldfish) and David Harris (white cat); best trained, Joe Lally (a bull dog which has been shown in movies in New York city).

Tyler Wants Boat For Rescue Work

Says City And County Should Unite And Form Plan For Action

Councilman Walter Tyler today asked the city council to purchase a steel boat for rescue purposes. He said that when the Miller boys were drowned in the Shenango river he had borrowed a boat from Manager Shaper, Cascade park.

Tyler believes, he told council, that city and county authorities should unite in life-saving methods. In other words he does not believe in boundary lines when someone's life is at stake.

Should the county and city get together plans for an alarm and efforts to rescue would not be delayed. A boat, gripping irons, pulmotor and other life-saving devices could be stationed in the city.

The city has everything but a boat and he says a steel boat is best adapted and would always be in shape to use.

Flapper Firemen Stop Big Blaze

Firemen Called From Masquerade To Battle Serious Blaze

(International News Service) MILFORD, Mich., May 31.—A $50,000 fire which destroyed a large garage and damaged an automobile repair shop, six residences and a church, was prevented from sweeping the entire community here by the frantic efforts of "flapper" fire-fighters clad in petticoats and women's wigs.

The fire interrupted a mock wedding ceremony in which Fire Chief Floyd Sands and the 16 regular members of the department were taking part masqueraded as women.

In the midst of the ceremony, an excited woman crashed into the auditorium and shouted that the downtown garage was in flames. Sprinting out of the auditorium on high-heeled shoes, their flapper skirts flapping in the breeze, the firemen raced six blocks to the fire station and without changing costume dashed to the scene of the fire.

Here Is Menu For Man-Eating Shark

MIAMI, Fla., May 31.—Would you like to know what a man-eating shark really eats?

Here is a list of choice foods which a local taxidermist found in the interior of a six-foot leopard shark, caught by Leon Maxim, chief of the Hotel Everglades here.

One porcupine fish, two leather jacket fish, six rabbit fish, six chicken legs and a sprinkling of feathers, two pigskins, banded on the legs numbers "7" and "8," six anchovies, a cowfish, a lizard fish, a sabre fish, a roach fish and a variety of unidentified specimens.

Maxim got the big strike on board Capt. O. L. McNeill's "Flagwood" while cruising in the vicinity of Fowey Rock Light.

Grease In Garbage Unemployment Index

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31.—According to the National Bureau of Economic Research, the amount of grease in the garbage can is a reliable index to the amount of unemployment in any given area.

A recently published survey of the National Bureau of Economic Research, made on behalf of the Committee on Recent Economic Changes of the President's Unemployment Conference, of which President Hoover is chairman, gives the factors that make for stability and instability in our economic life.

Boy Burglar, 18, Gets 105,921 Days In Jail

(International News Service) HOUSTON, Texas, May 31.—"Hot Dog!" said Tony Corona, 18, recently tried on 10 and convicted on nine charges of robbery here recently. "Only 105,921 days to go."

Tony accepted sentences totaling 200 years. The trial judge failed to state whether any of his sentences should run concurrently.

He was acquitted of seven other charges pending against him after the first convictions were obtained, upon recommendation of the district attorney.

Still Blows Up And Fires Apartment

(International News Service) NEW YORK, May 31.—Still another still blows up, this time in Abe Cuch's apartment at 241 East 121st street.

It was a ten-gallon still and the explosion set fire to the apartment.

After the firemen had done their stuff and the police looked things over and found another 25-gallon still that had forgotten to explode as well as a 25-gallon barrel of whiskey, two five-gallon jugs of alcohol and three 50-gallon barrels of man—but they didn't find Abe. They are still looking for him.

 Municipal golf committee today was authorized by council to buy 1,000 pounds of blue grass seed for the golf course.

Hearing Is Held Over Alleged Will

Unsigned Paper Is Found After Letters Were Granted In Jennie Taylor Estate

Testimony was taken before Judge Hildebrand Wednesday afternoon on a question of admitting an alleged will of Jennie Taylor to probate. After the death of Mrs. Taylor, letters of administration were issued to her mother, Mrs. Almeda A. Miller, and to a sister, Mrs. Elsie M. Kerr. After the letters had been issued a paper, purporting to be a will in which she left her estate to her mother and sister, was found. It was presented to Register and Recorder Jeanette Hutton for probate, but as it was not signed, Miss Hutton could not probate it.

It was admitted at the hearing that the will was in the handwriting of Jennie Taylor. The law plainly says that a will must be signed. As Mrs. Taylor left three children, they would come in for the estate in the absence of a properly executed will. Judge Hildebrand will hand down his decision later.

City Official In Philadelphia Given Stiff Fine To Pay

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—Expressing regret that he was unable to dismiss Joseph L. Baldwin, assistant city health director from office, Judge James Gay Gordon, Jr., in quarter sessions court today imposed the maximum fine of $500 upon Baldwin for activity in politics while an employee of the city.

An appeal was filed to the superior court and Baldwin was freed in $1,000 bail.

Free Truck Driver In Death Of Girl

(International News Service) STUEBENVILLE, O., May 31.—Hugh Starr, truck driver, today stood exonerated of blame in the death yesterday of Helen McGowan, 8, who ran in front of his truck. The girl was instantly killed.

BURNING RUBBISH IS CAUSE OF ALARM

Firemen were called to 116 Mulberry street Wednesday afternoon at 3:15 when a neighbor became alarmed over a burning pile of rubbish and called the fourth ward department. The fourth ward laddies went to both 116 North Mulberry and 116 South Mulberry and could find no occasion for an alarm. Finally Chief Lynn went to the scene and found a small pile of rubbish burning.

FROGS PREFER TRIANGLES

That frogs can distinguish between squares and triangles was shown in recent tests made by S. Biedermann, a European scientist. He set before the jumpers square and triangle blocks in pairs. One of the blocks had an insect attached to it. After the triangular block had appeared, accompanied by food several times, the frogs would hop expectantly to triangular blocks. Tests with several species of frogs confirmed their ability to distinguish between different shaped blocks. Biedermann says that little frogs are the "brainiest."

Safety Rally At Crescent Portland Cement Company

A Safety Rally at the Crescent Portland Cement company of Wampum on Wednesday was the forerunner of the "No Accident Campaign in June" which will be observed by all the Crescent Portland cement plants over the United States during the next month.

A large number of the employees attended and a splendid address was given by J. A. Kilty, assistant manager of the National Safety committee of the Pittsburgh district.

J. A. Palzman of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' association; M. W. Powell safety superintendent of the Sandusky Portland Cement company and W. T. Rice, superintendent of the Crescent Portland Cement company at Wampum were also present.

During the afternoon J. A. Kilty spoke on "Safety to the children of the Wampum public school."

Rocks' Entertain Pittsburgh Guests

In celebration of the opening of the new offices of the Rocks Agency of the Missouri State Life Insurance Company, operated by James L. and Francis J. Rocks, and located in the Pearson building, East North street, the Messrs. Rocks on Wednesday evening entertained at dinner in the Elks Club private dining room for the officers and members of the Pittsburgh agency and local friends. Covers were laid for 20 and the appointments of the table included beautiful cut flowers.

After the dinner H. E. Bell, general manager of the Pittsburgh agency, congratulated the Messrs. Rocks. James L. Rocks responded. The guests then adjourned to the new offices, where the balance of the evening was spent in a pleasant social manner. Those in attendance at the event were Rev. A. J. Weisenberger of this city; H. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Dilworth Brown, the Messrs. Ethel Kerr; Matilda Lacker and Sue Rhabanack, and the Messrs. Frank Calahan, John J. Kieley, Albert Wallach and James VanDyke, all of Pittsburgh; John A. Dugan of St. Louis, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. P. Blame Women For Increase Of Fires (International News Service) BATON ROUGE, La., May 31.—Women smokers confining their cigarette puffing to the boudoir was partly blamed for the increase of fires during the past year by T. Alfred Fleming of the national board of fire underwriters, in addressing the Louisiana Insurance Society here.

"Many women who do not smoke in public do smoke in the privacy of their bedroom," Fleming asserted. "Such flimsy appointed rooms are no place to be careless with lighted cigarettes or matches."

UNUSUAL WEATHER

By S. S. MYERS

A reader wants to know if there is any astronomical reason for the extraordinary cold, cold winter experienced in some parts of the earth in 1928 and 1929, and for the wet, cold spring we are having.

Yes, there is a cause for the unusual weather of the past eight or nine months, but the explanation is meteorological rather than astronomical. It was predicted by scientists last fall, but very few people paid any attention to it. The extremely cold winter in practically all parts of Europe, and our cold, wet spring is due to volcanic dust in the outer atmosphere.

In order to understand the conditions clearly it must be understood that the sun does not heat the atmosphere. It heats the surface of the earth and the earth reflects the heat into the atmosphere. If anything obstructs the sun's rays the earth does not receive its usual heat. That is what has been happening since last fall.

The terrible volcanic eruption in the Dutch East Indies last autumn sent millions of tons of fine volcanic dust high into the upper atmosphere and this dust began to slowly spread out around the earth like a blanket. Although it is invisible except in that it adds a deeper blue to sky and manifests itself in the gorgeous colors of the sunset, it prevents much of the sun's heat from reaching the earth. As a result the temperate southwest winds over Europe and the Balkans during the past winter produced now instead of rain and gave that part of the globe the severest winter ever experienced and caused much suffering and death in those countries.

This invisible envelope of dust has gradually spread around the entire earth and is the cause of our late, cold, wet spring. While the sun is moving north and its rays should heat the earth more rapidly, they are obstructed by this outer envelope of dust. Consequently the earth is not warm enough to heat the cold atmosphere continually pressing down from the north, and as a result we are having cold, wet and disagreeable weather.

Of course, the volcanic dust now in the air will eventually be precipitated, but it may take some time and, in all probability, we may have a wet, cool summer. All of this was predicted by meteorologists last fall at the time of the great volcanic eruption, but, as I said before, not one person in a thousand paid any attention to it. If the people of the Balkans had done so and prepared for a severe winter, much suffering and many deaths might have been prevented.

Over a century ago—in 1818—there was a year without a summer, in which there was snow and frost every month of the year. This was preceded by tremendous volcanic eruptions in various parts of the earth. Also the fall of 1883, which was noted for its gorgeous sunsets, was preceded by unusual volcanic eruptions and followed by a severely cold winter.

There are no unusual occurrences in nature without a natural cause.

Women To ObserveSuffrage Birthday

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The National Woman's party will celebrate the tenth anniversary June 4 of the adoption by Congress of the resolution for the Susan B. Anthony Woman Suffrage amendment. Senator James E. Watson, chairman of the Suffrage committee, when the resolution was agreed to, will be one of the speakers.

Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the anniversary to be held at headquarters here, said today: "This will be the occasion of nationwide celebrations by the National Woman's party. The opportunity will be taken not only to observe the suffrage victory, but to point out the fact that it is only the first great achievement in the long struggle of women to secure equality with men."

Speakers at Woman's Party meetings to be held in many states will urge the necessity of a second amendment to complete the work started by the first one. President Hoover, Senators and Congressmen will be called upon to support the immediate passage of the Lucretia Mott amendment, that men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction.

TO RADIO CRIME PICTURES
Photographs of wanted criminals are to be broadcast throughout the Reich by the German police. Through a private broadcasting service, which they have been using for conveying fingerprints by a special code, and for keeping in touch with their forces, authorities will flash the pictures to all leading towns, and especially frontier stations. Police headquarters of these places will be equipped with receiving apparatus at once.

Big swing to Vassar Underwear this year

—BECAUSE IT IS AS COOL AS A MOUNTAIN STREAM

—AS BEAUTIFUL AS A RAINBOW TROUT

Swift... has been the swing this year to Vassar Underwear. Not that Vassar has not for long been a famous brand; but here at VanFLEET and EAKIN'S, where many fine brands of Underwear are featured, the preference for Vassar has been pronounced. Men who do not wish whoopee underwear and cling to athletic union suits tell us they never have found anything like the new Vassar for cool comfort. Men who get a dressed up feel from the new shirts and shorts say they never have seen such beautifully soft pastel colored shirts nor such gay shorts. At VanFLEET and EAKIN both are priced upwards from $1.00.

BEACH ROBES of soft flannel in plain colors and pastel stripes. At New Castle beaches and pools this year you will see many robes. That's why VanFLEET and EAKIN are showing so many. And the most beautiful robes there will be these. Ideal for informal graduation gifts. Priced at $10.00.

Rockford Flyers Plan New EffortHassell And Cramer To Make New Attempt During Summer

(International News Service)
ROCKFORD, Ill., May 31.—Undaunted by their failure last year and confident the route they will fly will become the future commercial airway from America to Europe, Bert Hassell and Parker D. Cramer, pilots of the ill-fated plane Greater Rockford which was forced down in Greenland, will attempt another flight this summer over almost the same course, under the auspices of the Guggenheim Foundation for the advancement of aviation.

Hassell and Cramer will be accompanied on the flight, which is scheduled to start about July 1, by Elmer Etes, Rockford youth, and L. H. Fredricks, Rockford editor.

Stopping places have been arranged at Greenland, off the coast of Newfoundland; Iceland; Greenland; Reykjavik; Iceland; Trondheim, Norway; Stockholm, Sweden and Copenhagen, Denmark.

The flight is scheduled to start from New York because of the interest of the Guggenheim foundation. A tri-motored plane will be used. The purpose of the flight is to prove the feasibility of the northern route to Europe.

French Generals Get Foch HonorsPétain And Weygand To Succeed Military Leader In High Spots

(International News Service)
PARIS, May 31.—Honors left by Marshal Foch appear to be descending on other military leaders.

While rumors continue that General Weygand, friend of the late war-time generalissimo, will receive a marshal's baton, Marshal Pétain has announced his candidacy to the Foch chair in the French Academy.

Paul Valéry, poet, is sponsoring the aspirant to the highest honor that France can give to a man of letters.

Although a member of the Académie des Sciences Morales, Marshal Pétain is better known as the defender of Verdun where he directed the operations against the German offensive although suffering from pneumonia. He was second-in-command to Foch.

ST JORGEN RIDE AGAIN HELD IN BLACK FOREST

(International News Service)
FREIBURG, Baden, May 31.—An ancient custom, revived last year after many decades, was again carried out this year in St. Georgen, in the Black Forest, when the "St. Jorgen ride" was held.

About 200 horses were brought to the parade to receive the church's blessing. The custom goes back many centuries.

There are about 86,000 motor buses in the United States.

Your Broadway AND Mine

NEW YORK, May 31.—This Town of Ours: D. W. Griffith's attorney is backing "Chinese O'Neill." George S. Kaufman has resigned with the N. Y. Times drama bureau. Mary Ellis' real name is May Elsas and her old man is a rich bay and paper man, who backs the shows in which the co-stars with her heart. Zane Grey. A 20-year-old girl, named Conchita Montenegro, has snatched the most talked of parrot.

The Dr. Mortimer Rodgers (Dick's brother) await an heir. A group of eds are shelving World's Work to start one of their own mags. The Book-of-the-Month Club-John McRae suit will probably be dropped soon. Elinor Standish, the Ziegfeldian, and her husband have you-know-what. Janet Reade, who now has Ethel Shutta's role in "Whoopie," also has her ex-husband, Walter Bathe. A dramatization of the Loeb-Leopold case by a Britisher is being peddled here and there with no takers. The bulbs under the Globe marquee were used in Lardner's play, "The Love Nest." Harold Stearns, the orchestra leader, just bought Peaches Brown's Rolls. The Club Richman was once Andrew Carnegie's stables.

SHOW BUSINESS
Pansy, which got the worst notices from the critics in a long spell, closed in three days at the Belmont, and it is reported that "The Passion Play at the Hipp" will be withdrawn because of lack of trade, with "The Miracle" its possible successor.

A. L. Erlanger, they think, is retiring. Will Mahoney is suing Gene Buck for over $11,000. Mr. Buck once being Mahoney's boss in a show "The Love Due" starring Ethel Barrymore will close about June 1.

Ziegfeld and Eddie Cantor are having another tiff because Cantor is now affiliated with Earl Carroll in a forthcoming show. Carroll and Ziegfeld being bitter rivals, you know.

The Astor Hotel may be sold for a theater site for $14,000,000. Al Johnson will rate $500,000 a picture if he goes over to United Artists, plus 10 per cent of the net. E. F. Albee is no longer head of the N. V. A., William Fox succeeding.

Bill Robinson, star of "Blackbirds," did not sail with the troupe for Paris because "they ain't got no baseball games over there!" Instead he opens at the Palace for $1,500 per.

N. T. G. is now heading his own vaudeville act, and is breaking box office records in Philly. The prize package of the month is that John Connor, author of "Broadway Backstage," the best seller, had his pocket picked while watching the police parade and it is suggested that he call his next book "On, You Chump!"

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

JUST VOICES IN THE NIGHT.

At Ganders promised to stand by the boy sighed with relief and stepping close to Gander's side threw an arm around his neck and hugged him tight.

"How glad I am to hear you say you won't leave me alone you dear old bird!" cried he. "I didn't think though that you would leave me on purpose—I just thought you might forget me. Are you going to start off early in the morning? I thought I heard something about it."

"Not in the morning but right now," answered Gander.

"But it is dark. There is no moon to show you the way. And cold. Won't you freeze up among the clouds?"

"Ha, ha, ha, hunked Gander. "That's a good one! Did you hear that folks, Little Two-Legs is afraid we will freeze if we fly through the clouds."

"No boy we will not. This is the very sort of a night we always chose for our flight. The cooler the better—provided of course, we run in to no storm. It was a warm breeze that brought us here don't you remember? We couldn't fly at all if we met many hot waves like that. As for the moon it may come up later but we do not really need it. The light of the stars will show us the road through the sky."

"I thought, though that you said before you left the barnyard for the lake of the Loons that you were too weary to trust to your wings for a long flight." The boy still could not understand the haste of the Wild Geese to be off.

"So we did and we meant it then!" declared Mother Wild Goose joining them. "But the fresh air blowing off the water has refreshed us so that we are now as strong of wing and wind as ever we were and ready for anything."

"We have talked the matter over and decided that the sooner we start

Days' Prayer In Congress

Bishop William F. McDowell, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we ask Thee so to guide us that the words of our mouths and the meditations of our hearts shall be acceptable to Thee. We ask Thee to help us to fix our minds and our purposes upon the things that are excellent and to make permanent the things that are excellent. And constantly we ask Thee to help us to be making for a better world. We would conserve the things that are good; we would make steadfast the things that are true and right; but we would constantly be going forward in ourselves and in all our relations toward a better day. So today whatsoever things are true and honorable and just and pure and lovely and of good report help us to think on these things. For Thy name's sake. Amen.

Ask Electric Chair For Chicago's Dogs

Citizens Protest Inhuman Method Of Killing Canines Used Now

International News Service CHICAGO, May 31.—Five thousand dog lovers of Chicago have signed a petition recently circulated by the Humane Education society for a modern pound where dogs can be housed comfortably and where it is hoped that they can be humanely put to death.

The present city pound isn't very doggy. It is antiquated and according to Charlotte L. Hunt of the Society, inhumanly managed.

The society is advocating a sort of electric chair for the animals. The present system is to asphyxiate them with sulphur fumes. If the chair is not feasible the society wants gas.

"Daddy" Browning Hires Hall, Will Auction Off His Valuable Property

Eccentric New York Real Estate Magnate Hires Madison Square Garden

Proceeds Of Sale Of Property Will Go To Browning Foundation Cause

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff
NEW YORK, May 31.—Edward W. ("Daddy") Browning, whose public entertainments from time to time have attracted public attention, today announced the realization of a long-simmering ambition.

Browning has hired "the entire arena" of Madison Square Garden for a party on June 17.

It will be a real estate party—to auction off 56 pieces of Browning's property, valued by him at $5,000,000. The receipts will go to the Browning Foundation. Browning recently announced the foundation would aid various welfare work for children.

Parties Unique.

The parties of the eccentric millionaire always have been distinctive. "Peaches" Browning, his estranged wife, in her divorce suit testified to several unique parties.

Browning gave a "Santa Claus" party to the children of the city several months ago which ended in a riot and some broken bones.

The real estate man is also noted for his vegetarian parties and his dancing parties.

Even so, this party will be interesting. Special blocks of seats will be reserved for the ladies.

A special platform along the side of the arena will be erected to accommodate Browning, the auctioneer, the staff of lieutenants, secretaries and principals in the sale.

Press To Be There.

Another platform will be provided for newspaper representatives. The main arena will be reserved for accredited real estate brokers, while the public will be allotted places in the circles of seats just above the arena.

Loud speakers will be used by the auctioneer.

Ushers will be stationed at strategic points in the auditorium to assist those who show any economic interest in the proceedings. Telephones will be available here and there to telephone bids to the auctioneer's platform.

Auctioneer Joseph P. Day will use a five-pound hammer against a special sounding board, so that the opening and closing of the bidding may be heard round the world.

The properties will be sold at the average rate of one every four minutes—it is hoped.

During the winter the circus and its trained seals will be at the Garden.

Dean Will Case Comes To Close With Arguments

After Charge By Judge, Chambers Case Goes To Jury For Consideration

CASE ON TRIAL NEARLY TWO WEEKS

Arguments of counsel and charge of Judge Chambers consumed the better part of today in the case in court of Miss Jane Ligo against Ida B. Dodson, growing out of a dispute regarding the authenticity of a will purporting to be that of the late Mrs. J. J. Dean. Testimony in the case was concluded on Wednesday afternoon, and adjournment taken until today owing to the Memorial Day observance.

The case was started one week ago last Monday. It was necessarily a tedious trial owing to the fact that the principal point at issue was whether or not the will found after the death of Mrs. Dean was in her handwriting and bore her signature.

Much testimony was produced on both sides. Witnesses on the side of Miss Jane Ligo, who was chief beneficiary under the will, testified that in their opinion the handwriting was that of Mrs. Dean. They were supported by a handwriting expert in this contention.

Witnesses on the side of Mrs. Dodson and other relatives were equally positive that the handwriting was not that of Mrs. Dean. They were also supported by a handwriting expert in their contention.

The defense argued that owing to the fact that Mrs. Dean was a woman of more than ordinary intelligence, and knew business methods, she would not have prepared a will without having it witnessed, and without putting in the full names of some persons mentioned in it.

The plaintiffs called attention to Miss Ligo's close relationship with Mrs. Dean as a nurse and companion, and the testimony of witnesses who had said that Mrs. Dean had told them that Miss Ligo's kindness were to be remembered. The plaintiff saw nothing unusual in the manner in which the will was prepared.

The case will go to the jury this afternoon.

Japan Is Curbing Radical Students

Many Are Expelled And Suspended For Recent Activities

(International News Service) TOKYO, May 31.—Officials of the Japanese Education Department are in conference almost daily with representatives of colleges and universities under the department's direct jurisdiction, concerning the ways and means of curbing radical and subversive tendencies among college students, according to reports from the schools.

Police authorities are planning to take finger prints of all arrested on suspicion or on proof of radical leanings, in an attempt at more efficient judicial control.

The steady increase in the number of students punished for radical activities is worrying both educational and school authorities. There are several private colleges and universities which are notorious for radical tendencies of their students, it is said.

The majority of Government school students who were either expelled or otherwise punished for radical thoughts were in the high schools. Tokyo Imperial University had two students expelled, 15 suspended, and 11 reprimanded. Nine other students of the same university are under suspension pending investigation by police. It is alleged that they were in secret session planning retaliatory measures against the police because of the suppression of a proletarian periodical they were publishing.

Race From Robbers Lands Man In Jail

Calls Out Fire Department For Protection; Police Come Too

(International News Service) DETROIT, May 31.—Steven Norveta, 32, trotted out on an enforced marathon with two men believed to be robbers behind him.

Steven figured that if he kept up his pace, eventually he might run on to a policeman. But he ran until he was well nigh exhausted and still no policeman.

So, Steven decided to call out the fire department. He broke the glass in a fire alarm box and pulled the hook.

Seven fire companies, responded and the police came along with other curiosity seekers.

Steven was locked up, charged with turning in a false fire alarm—the firemen couldn't find the two other marathoners.

New India Air Mail Gives Bank Problem

(International News Service) ABERDEEN, Scotland, May 31.—The new air mail to India has caught the bank authorities napping.

An Aberdeen business man bought a draft on Calcutta for a large sum on March 28. It was bought from a bank and drawn on the P. and O. Banking Corporation, Calcutta.

The draft was sent by the first air mail which left London on March 30. It was presented for payment in Calcutta on April 10 eleven days later.

Under the usual arrangements the money would not be due for payment until April 20 and the London bankers who handled the money failed to realize that their covering advice note would need to be Calcutta ten days earlier than customary.

The draft despatched from London was honored but the bank in India had to put out of funds for ten days.

Now they are looking for interest for that period. Who is going to pay it? The sender from Aberdeen is particularly interested.

ALLEGED LURED YOUTHS TO DEATH

(International News Service)
MACON, Ga., May 31.—The authorities moved swiftly today to amass an impregnable pile of evidence against Mrs. J. C. Powers, 71-year-old landlady, charged with operating a "murder farm," and Earl Manchester, 21, an alleged hired assassin.

Within a few days the charges will be turned over to the Bibb County grand jury. Solicitor General Charles Garrett has summoned a special grand jury for Tuesday to arraign the pair, specifically charged with the murder of James W. Parks, an orphan printer.

Meanwhile police were gathering up the loose ends to an amazing chain of revelations in an attempt to support their theory the landlady, luring young men to her home by a kindly smile, and the promise of motherly care, planned a "murder farm," with doom inevitable for her boarders.

Sought Insurance
Following close her confession and consequent reputation that she hired Manchester to slay Parks on whose life she had a $7,000 double indemnity policy, and whose body was found early in the week in the Ocmulgee river here, the police declared their investigation showed other youths barely missed similar traps.

T. S. Martin told investigators he answered an advertisement for a chauffeur identical with that which young Parks answered a month before. While talking to Mrs. Powers, Martin said, she mentioned life insurance, and told him that if he wished to join her family he would have to take out some life insurance in her favor. Martin said he "went away, and never came back."

Vet Gets Pension After 65 Years

CASEVILLE, Mich., May 31.—Sixty-five years after he fought in both navy and army during the Civil War, and following 20 years of effort, George Henry, 59, of Lake township received his first pension, $8,300, recently.

Twenty years ago Mr. Henry applied for the pension, but could not verify his discharge from both the navy and army. His army record was obtainable, but not his navy record.

Mr. Henry was born in France in January, 1840, and came to America when a boy.

Soon after the outbreak of the Civil War the young man enlisted in the navy and served on the battleship Miami under Admiral Farragut. He took part in the battles of New Orleans and Vicksburg and was with the fleet throughout the struggles against the Confederate blockade of the Mississippi.

Homes To Invade Gotham Money Mart

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 31.—Lower Manhattan—financial center of the world—will be invaded by the home.

This announcement was made by Albert Mayer, in charge of construction of a 40-story building to be known as Battery Tower, which will cost $10,000,000 and be the first unit of a $50,000,000 residential city to be built adjacent to the battery.

Need for the building was emphasized by a poll of the financial district which revealed the amount of time spent or lost in commuting from the lower tip of Manhattan Island to residential sections on Long Island or in Westchester.

The planned residential section will be within five minutes walk of Wall street and other sections of the financial district.

Motor Accidents On Increase, Says Eynon

HARRISBURG, May 31.—A marked increase in the number of accidents, persons killed and persons injured, over the previous month, is noted in the April report of automobile accidents. Benjamin G. Eynon, Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Pennsylvania Department of Highways announced today. The increase in fatal accidents and persons injured is attributable to increased traffic, largely due to the advent of the touring season. Eynon believes.

The total number of accidents in April was 2996, exceeding those of March by 412. Deaths in April totaled 164, greater by 33 than the March figures, with an increase in injuries of 435, a total of 2329.

Children killed in April totaled 37, or 16 more than in March. Seventy-seven persons between the ages of 15 and 54 were killed, while 41 persons over 55 years met death. The 20 grade crossing accidents reported were fewer by five than in March.

Speeders were blamed for 390 crashes, 13 deaths and 377 non-fatal accidents. Road hogs who were either on the wrong side of the road or did not have the right-of-way were responsible for 573 accidents, eight of which were fatal. Passing on curves and hills caused 54 non-fatal accidents. Failure to signal caused 100 non-fatal accidents.

"It must be remembered," Mr. Eynon warned, "that accident figures compiled by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles do not reflect our chief inspector's opinions as to cause. Reports are filed by the participants in each accident, when it amounts to $50 or more property damage or when personal injury results.

"The motorist in reporting is not asked to fix the blame for the accident but fills in a form which covers all circumstances, such as road conditions, traffic, physical nature of

California Chief Champ Life Saver

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Cal., May 31.—Here's a mark for other life-savers to shoot at.

Chief of Police Charles Scudero has recovered 60 bodies from the treacherous waters of the San Joaquin River, and scores have been resuscitated by his ministrations.

So tomorrow, on his 56th birthday anniversary, he will be awarded a gold medal by the city for his valor in lifesaving.

"Tuning In" Fifty Feet Below Chicago Loop

One of the most interesting railroads in the world is located 50 feet beneath Chicago's loop district. There are 81 miles of tracks and hundreds of trains, electric freight trains, run through this network every day. Recently when President P. E. Crowley of the New York Central Lines talked over the radio in New York as the third number of the "Universal Safety series," 150 of the night tunnel men enjoyed his address while at work 50 feet below the "world's busiest corner," State and Madison Sts. The radio talk came in remarkably clear. Mr. Crowley spoke as the third number of the series which is being given through WJAF and a network of 32 NBC associated stations, every Saturday evening at 7:15 P. M. eastern daylight saving time. The talks are being given by national leaders and are available to a radio audience of more than 30,000,000 people.

Stanford Student Commutes By Plane

(International News Service)
OAKLAND, Cal., May 31.—Title of the Pacific Coast's champion aerial commuter was claimed at Oakland airport today for Jack Meier, Stanford University student.

On completion of his classes each week at the university, Meier rushes to the Oakland airport and boards a northbound Pacific Air Transport plane, arriving at Portland, Ore., his home town, six hours later.

He makes the return flight, the next day, doing more than 1000 miles in his weekly commuting trips. He is the son of Julius Meier, Portland capitalist.

FAKE STOCK PROMOTERS ARE LOSING CUSTOMERS

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 31.—Inexperienced men and women of financial means, who in former years were the prey of fake stock promoters to the extent of $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 a year, are rapidly turning to legitimate securities, according to H. J. Kenner, general manager of the Better Business Bureau in New York City.

Newspapers having doubtful stock offerings and real estate promotions in advertising is given by Kenner as one of the main reasons.

HADLEY TO CONDUCT MANHATTAN SYMPHONY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 31.—Henry Hadley, noted conductor, who has wielded the baton for the New York Philharmonic orchestra for six consecutive seasons, the Seattle Symphony and the San Francisco orchestras, will direct the Manhattan Symphony orchestra for the season 1929-30.

The Manhattan Symphony is the only orchestra in America functioning without a subsidy. It was organized in 1922.

Counterfeits Money While In Prison

(International News Service)
CANNON CITY, Colo., May 31.—Prison means nothing more than another arrest for R. A. List, who thought he was feeling the warden, but he only fooled himself.

During the time List was serving his three to five year sentence in the "big house" he was employed in making easy money—counterfeit silver dollars. He thought the officials of the prison knew nothing about his operations, but they were keeping quiet in order to catch two other suspects who were thought to have been working with List.

When List stepped out of the prison gates, he was re-arrested and was taken to Pueblo and arraigned in federal court on charges of counterfeiting money.

Chicago Beacon Will Be Visible For 500 Miles

Lindbergh Light Will Pale Only The Sun In Brilliancy

WILL BE GUIDE TO FLYERS AT NIGHT

By WALTER HURST
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, May 31.—Paling the sun in brilliancy, "Lindbergh Light," world's largest and most powerful aerial beacon, will rise atop the new Palmolive skyscraper in Michigan avenue, close to the loop, in a few months.

Of 2,000,000,000 candle power, the mammoth super-searchlight will cast a beam that will be visible to aviators 500 miles distant from Chicago in any direction, it is said.

Elmer Sperry, former Chicagoan, is inventor and donor of the beacon, which is being constructed at a cost of $100,000 in his Brooklyn factory.

Special Tower.
A special tower 135 feet high will be erected above the 27-story building to house the giant light. This will give the skyscraper a total height of 600 feet. Thus the light's peak will be the highest point in the city.

President Hoover has been asked to set the light in operation by pressing an electric button in the White House. It was announced by Burt A. Massee, vice president of the Colgate Palmolive Peet company.

Elmer Sperry's beacon will be under the benevolent halo of the light, its inventor claims, from the moment they leave such points as Memphis, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Omaha and other smaller cities within the 500-mile radius.

Brighter Than Sun
Explaining the beacon will be brighter than the sun, its inventor cited figures to show that at noon on the brightest day here the sun's rays have been computed at 900 candle power per square millimeter on the earth's surface, whereas the beacon will register 1,000 candle power per square millimeter.

In the course of its circular movement the light will pause in the direction of Chicago's airport as a welcome and guide to visiting pilots.

Deserter Leaves Mountains To Be Caught By Police

Admits Participation In Robberies; Had Hidden For Seven Years

READING, Pa., May 31.—Brought to bay after seven years of playing hide and seek with police Charles Perry Strausser, 49, army deserter and alleged robber is being held at the Reading barracks of the state police after having been trapped near Phoenixville.

Strausser is said to have admitted participation in several robberies.

He deserted from the army shortly after the Spanish-American war, escaping from Governors Island, New York by swimming to shore. Strausser fled to the wilds of the Blue mountains above Hamburg where for four years he lived in caves and tree-houses.

Chief of Police Wilson H. Lewars of Hamburg tried many times to capture Strausser. Last May Lewars was killed. Strausser denies knowledge of the murder.

Several days ago Phoenixville police were "tipped" that Strausser planned to rob a store there with several confederates. The Phoenixville police together with state police were waiting when Strausser appeared and captured him.

Sells 1906 Car, Gets Good Price

HAWTHORNE, Nev., May 31.—After a 20-year wait Martin Chlatovich has found a buyer for his automobile.

He received a letter from the Smithsonian Institute of Washington offering him $1,500 for his 1906 Pope-Hartford touring car, including the buffet seats.

In accepting the offer Chlatovich said the car runs as good now as it did 15 years ago, but it burns too much gasoline.

OLD POMERANIAN CITY BECOMES VILLAGE AGAIN

(International News Service)
KORLIN, Pomerania, May 31.—For a village to desire to become a city is common, but it rarely happens that a city determines to surrender its city franchise and become a village. Yet that is what Korlin has done. The high cost of city administration is given as the reason.

Mrs. Hoover In Boston Today

Wife Of President Forgoes
Special Train And Trav-

PLANS TO ATTEND EDUCATION MEETING

(International News Service)
BOSTON, May 31.—Foregoing the luxury of a private car or a special train, although the mercury hovered above 90, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, the first lady of the land, came to Boston from Washington today in an ordinary pullman of the Federal Express. She came here, guarded by a single secret service agent, in the interest of higher education for women and to help Radcliffe college in Cambridge, celebrate its 50th anniversary. At her special request her visit was as informal as possible. The express rolled into South Station at 8:47 a. m. (E. D. T.). After an informal greeting by Mrs. George P. Baker, trustee of Radcliffe, and ex-president Miss Bernice Brown, dean of Radcliffe, and former professor Henry W. Dana, grandson of the famous poet Longfellow, Mrs. Hoover was escorted to a waiting automobile. Two hundred persons greeted Mrs. Hoover at the station.

Local State Game Farm Ships Over 14,000 Eggs

So many applications for pheasant eggs have been received that the board of game commissioners has shut down on any more, according to instructions received here by Game Protector Frank N. Johnson. Some time ago the board ordered to provide pheasant eggs to those asking for them. Immediately there was a flood of requests and in spite of the fact that 14,000 eggs have been shipped from the Jordan game farm at Harlansburg, the demand is not nearly supplied. Thus far there have been 600 pheasants hatched out on the farm, and 1400 more eggs are hatching. The eggs which have been shipped have been sent to game refuges, sportsmen's clubs and individuals who are interested in pheasant raising.

Booster Club Session Brief

Counter Attractions Cut Attendance At Meeting Held Wednesday Evening

Little business was transacted at the meeting of the New Castle Booster Club Wednesday evening, owing to the slim attendance. Too many counter attractions, resulted in the absence of a great part of the membership.

Prizes which were awarded in connection with the recent bread contest in the city, were distributed at the meeting Wednesday evening.

Those who received the prizes were as follows:
First prize, Mrs. Pearl Parks, South New Castle Boro; second prize, Mrs. J. Alsopp, 508 Fairmont avenue; third prize, Harvey Hoover, 413 Spruce street; fourth prize, Mrs. John McCreary; fifth prize, Evelyn Masters; sixth prize, Gwendolyn Frew; seventh prize, Mrs. Joseph Forbes; eighth prize, Mrs. John Davis; ninth prize, George Ranson; tenth prize, Peter Tomasello; eleventh prize, Congetta Toscano; twelfth prize, John O'Brien; thirteenth prize, Helen Hites; fourteenth prize, Louis McCreary.

Most of the important business of the club was held over until the next meeting which will take place June 12.

United Lutherans Propose To Lower Number Of Synods

(International News Service)
WHEELING, W. Va., May 31.—Proposals to reduce the number of synods in Pennsylvania from six to four were before the delegates to the convention of the Pittsburgh Synod of the United Lutheran church here today, and expectations were that discussion of the re-organization would occupy most of the day's session.

The proposed realignment of the church in Pennsylvania would set up these four synods:
Ministerium of Pennsylvania with 511 congregations; the Susquehanna Synod with 234 congregations; the Gettysburg Synod with 404 congregations and the Pittsburgh Synod with 280.

The reduction was referred to the imperial committee which will report on it tonight or tomorrow and final action is expected by Sunday when the convention closes.

Maybe all that is reasonably to be expected is that the extra session of congress shall complete its business in time for the world's series games.—The Lowell Evening Leader.

Two Women Start Serving Terms In Industrial Prison

First Women To Be Sentenced To New Industrial Home From Western Pennsylvania

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 31.—Deputy U. S. Marshal D. A. Goldman today returned from the Federal Industrial Institute for Women at Alderson, W. Va., having escorted there the first women prisoners committed by the United States District Court from Western Pennsylvania.

One of the women committed was Mrs. Jessie E. Taylor, 29, former postmistress at Claytonia, Butler County. Mrs. Taylor pleaded guilty to charges of embezzling $3,570 of postal funds and was sentenced to serve one year. The other woman committed was Mrs. Agnes Pandaglio, of Scottsdale, who was sentenced to serve two years for violation of a parole imposed when she pleaded guilty to violating the Harrison Anti-Narcotic Act.

The Institute at Alderson is a new federal penal institution and opened only recently to receive prisoners.

Mrs. Clyde Barner and daughter Emma were Grove City callers Saturday afternoon.

Jack Powers was a Mercer caller Saturday evening.

The congregation of the Cool Spring church attended the reception at Frendonia, which was held for the new minister, Rev. Wishart Peebles, Tuesday evening.

Ray Shanner was a Mercer caller Saturday evening.

The Community Singing held at Miller school last Friday evening was well attended.

Boy Scout News

ST. MARY'S TROOPS
The St. Mary's Boy Scout Troops No. 50 and 51 held their regular weekly meeting on Wednesday evening in the basement of the St. Mary's church. The meeting was opened with the taps. Visitors present were Ralph F. Davis and Father Clifford. Committeemen Blatman and Assistant Scoutmaster Hannon were in charge of the meet.

The oratorical contest ended. The scouts participating were Todd, Vonderau, B. Greens, McMullen, J. Green and Howley. Instructions were given about the boys giving service at St. Mary's Cemetery on Memorial Day.

A hike was planned to Foxes Point for Saturday morning. The scouts will pass their second class test in cooking and other tests.

Sound Pictures Take Spotlight On Movie Lots

FEW PICTURES ARE NOW MADE SILENTLY

By FRANK D. McNAUGHTON, Jr.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 31.—Of the 17,000 theatres in the United States showing motion pictures or combining them with vaudeville, approximately 3,000 are wired for sound by means of one or another of the several methods of reproduction. New installations are being made at the rate of 300 each month on an increasing scale and selling organizations estimate that at least 5,000 of the best houses in the country will be equipped to show talkies within the year.

Consequently, few pictures are being produced without sound effects or musical accompaniment, and most of the studios are working on full dialogue features exclusively.

Even the "die hards" are coming around in answer to the constant urge of public demand. Charlie Chaplin, well known defender of the "last ditch" in the silent film field, is making small concessions to the "new art" in his latest picture by introducing sound effects in several scenes, and Edwin Carewe, staunch supporter of the old practice in screen technique, is including several singing sequences in his filming of Longfellow's "Evangeline," although neither will be graced by dialogue.

In the celluloid version of the Acadian love lyric, Dolores Delaney will sing in French an unpublished chansonette by Marie Antoinette and the theme song, "Evangeline," written by Al Jolson.

The first screen star to sing for a phonograph and over the radio, the Mexican actress has the added distinction to be the first to sing in a foreign tongue for the sound pictures.

Song sequences are becoming more popular, at least with the producers. They have not been used long enough as yet to judge the public's reaction, but it will be favorable, film critics believe, as the melodious passages allow love scenes time necessary to properly establish their importance without allowing an apparent slowing of tempo.

panies are going in heavily for musical comedies, operettas and revues and some of the most famous figures of the stage are being drafted for singing parts.

One of the latest of the vaudeville headliners to desert the footlights for the sun-baked stage is Ann Greenway, signed by Radio Pictures for featured roles in "Rio Rita" and "Hit the Deck."

Two of the show writers who have left the Alley of Applause for Hollywood are Bert Kalmar and Harry Ruby, who have written many popular song hits, their latest being "The Five O'Clock Girl."

Allocate Funds To Counties For Township Roads

Highway Department Announces Distribution Of $6,000,000

HARRISBURG, May 31.—The allocation of $6,000,000 state reward funds to the counties for road and bridge improvements in townships of the second class by the department of highways was announced today by C. C. Albright, township engineer. The funds will be applied in state reward projects on file in the department of highways.

In accordance with the provisions of recent legislation approved by Governor John S. Fisher, the reward will be allocated to the townships having an assessed valuation of $20,000 or less per mile of road, upon the basis of the state paying 75 per cent of the costs of making the improvement not to exceed certain values which are stipulated on certain classes of reward work. Where the valuation in the township is in excess of $20,000 per mile of road, the proportion of costs will be in the 50-50 ratio by the state and 50 per cent by the township.

This new system of allocating state reward funds differs from that of former years when the percentage of cost distribution was 50-50 to all regardless of valuation of township roads. The new system is considered a decided advantage to townships with lower property valuations.

Lawrence county's mileage is 745 and the apportionment is $60,637.30. Mercer county's mileage is 1,497 and the apportionment is $121,644.35.

Bach Festival At Leipzig In June

Plan 17th Annual Event Will Be Featured With Exhibition

(International News Service)
LEIPZIG, May 31.—The 17th annual Bach Festival of the New Bach society to be held this year in Leipzig from June 8 to 10, will be of unusual interest.

In addition to the traditional performances of choral chamber and orchestral music, there will be an exhibition in the historical museum devoted to "The Thomas cantors"—the organists and choir directors of the old Thomas church, where John Sebastian Bach officiated so many years. The list includes 26 names.

The exhibition will show autograph writings, music manuscripts, first editions, contemporary criticisms, portraits, etc., of these cantors. The exhibits will include the only definitely authenticated portrait of Bach, by Hausmann, the original autograph portrait of the "Passion of St. Matthew," and a collection of the few autographs of the great master.

One of Bach's predecessors, Johann Kuhnau, will be represented by the first print of his work, "The Musical Quack," published in 1700, and Cantor Hiller (18-1804) by the original manuscript of his famous choral, "Herr Gott, Dich loben wir" (Lord God, we praise Thee).

MUST HAVE SEEN SOMEONE ELSE
Two backwoodsman in Maine, knocked at the door of a house at the edge of the forest. "Hello, Ed," said one of them to the farmer who came to the door. "Say we are across the dead body of a man over there in the hollow, an' we kinda thought 'twas you."

"That so? What'd he look like?" asked the farmer.

"Well, he was about your build. 'Have on a gray flannel shirt?'"

"Boots?"

"Yep."

"Was they knee boots or hip boots?"

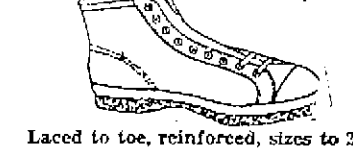

"Let's see. Which was they? Charley, knee boots or hip boots? Oh, yes, they was hip boots."

"None," said the farmer. "Twasn't me."

CARNIVAL COMPANIES MAY CARRY DISEASE

HARRISBURG, May 31.—Dr. Edgar S. Everhart chief of the section of general diseases of the Pennsylvania State Health department today warned communities against the average type of carnival amusement companies.

"These alleged amusement organizations usually work co-operatively with some local association in many instances carry personal suffering from venereal disease," Dr. Everhart said. "Past experience in Pennsylvania has positively indicated that many communities permitting carnivals of the cheap type to operate in their immediate localities has resulted in a wake of social diseases and consequently much suffering. Progressive and right thinking communities will eliminate the demoralizing influences of this type of so-called commercial amusement by prohibiting them to operate."

Aching, Swollen Feet

Money Back, Says McKee's Kid Rate Store, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. New Castle Drug Co. If Emerald Oil Doesn't Do Away With All Soreness, Swelling and Distress in 24 Hours.

No sensible person will continue to suffer from those intense agonizing throbbing foot pains when every well stocked drug store has McKee's Emerald Oil and sells it with an absolute guarantee of satisfaction or money back.

Your feet may be so swollen and inflamed that you think you can't go another step. Your shoes may feel as if they are cutting right into the flesh. You feel sick all over with the pain and torture you'd give anything to get relief, wouldn't you? Then do this: Two or three applications of McKee's Emerald Oil between the minutes the pain and soreness disappears. A few more applications at regular intervals and the swelling reduces. And best of all, if any offensive odor is going for good. It's a wonderful formula—this combination of essential oils with camphor and other antiseptic so marvelous that McKee's Kid Rate Store, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. and every "C" and every good drugstore guarantees McKee's Emerald Oil to end your foot troubles or money back.

Urges Motorists Not To Stop At Accidents

Keep Moving Unless Your Aid Is Needed, State Motor Federation Head Asks

Blocking Of Traffic Can Be Avoided If Motorists Will Cooperate With Plan

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 31.—An appeal to motorists to avoid blocking traffic at the scene of an accident was issued today by S. Edward Gable, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation. "If you can be of any assistance by all means stop and help those involved, but if it is evident that your assistance is not required always keep moving," said Mr. Gable.

The Federation head pointed out that statistics show that in many instances the congestion caused by the curious at the scene of an accident not only hampers those who are giving assistance, but often causes other accidents. "The wise motorist is the one who passes the scene of an accident with as little delay as possible, allowing freedom for those endeavoring to restore conditions to normal."

mal, and keeping the highway or city street open to the normal flow of traffic," he stated. "Instead of allowing one's self the liberty of surveying the scene of an accident, a driver should proceed with extra caution through the congestion of traffic which unfortunately accumulates around such points. A moment's relaxation from the attention due the road is dangerous at any time, but much more so during the period of confusion accompanying an accident."

"The desire to satisfy our curiosity as to the cause and results of another driver's misfortune may result in a temporary slackening of our own precautions, with the possible result of a second accident. The duty of every driver is the operation of his motor car in a manner which will insure the safety of those under his care, and an equal regard for all other motorists he may encounter on the highway. Stopping at the scene of an accident for no other purpose than the satisfaction of self interest is not obeying the laws of common sense and reason, nor is it in accordance with the moral obligation of fully proving those who entrust their lives and safety to us."

"The motorist should do all within his power," Mr. Gable continued, "to render first aid in cases where such assistance is necessary and should endeavor to be of service through the rendition of such assistance as towing, reporting of the accident, or summoning the proper authorities, but if it is evident that sufficient aid is at hand, he should keep on the move and thus do his share in averting traffic congestion with its attendant dangers."

M. entering on and after September 1929, will be required to show a reading knowledge of either French or German and an elementary knowledge of the other of these two languages, according to a vote of the faculty of the arts and sciences. Another change that will affect the graduate students in this department was the ruling that "all divisions and departments shall submit to the committee on instruction for approval, not later than two months in advance, any proposal to submit some other form of test for mid-year or final examinations in courses under their jurisdiction and the decision of the committee on instruction shall be final." This ruling was passed in an effort to make the practice with regard to examinations in graduate courses more uniform, and was designed primarily to affect research courses in which the ordinary final examinations were not consonant with the work of the course.

The ruling with respect to the graduate school language requirements will effect all those men entering the school of arts and sciences this fall and thereafter, but it will apply principally to men entering from schools other than Harvard, for all graduates of Harvard have already been required to satisfy the requirement, and will be asked to take a second examination. Men already students of the university are not affected by the ruling.

Adams County Is Cigar Making Center

Over Twenty-Five Million Smokes Made By 108 Factories During Past Year

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, May 31.—During the last year Adams county produced a total of 25,050,000 cigars which if laid end to end would extend approximately 2,000 miles, the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Internal Affairs announced today.

To use another simile, the cigar production of Adams County during 1928 was sufficient to cover a standard width state highway for a distance of seven miles.

The bureau also announced that industrial production for the county during the last year had increased slightly more than $800,000 over the figures for 1927. Products worth $13,031,000 were turned out in 1928, compared with the valuation of $12,228,000 for products in 1927. There were 108 industrial plants operating in the county during the past year, from which 43 different products were turned out. One hundred and thirteen establishments were reported to the department in 1927.

PUBLIC SENTIMENT
Most of us think we are judges of public sentiment. We fancy we know what it wants. Former Secretary of State Kellogg, back from abroad, says there is a great sentiment in Europe for world peace and reduction of armaments.

There isn't the slightest doubt that a man who wanted to find it could find great sentiment for building the biggest navy, keeping up the biggest army, and making the biggest bluff. We think we favor peace in this country, but a big navy talk is one of the easiest ways to get applause and a popular following. Most people are not sufficiently thoughtful to know exactly what they want. And those who want something today are pretty sure to want something different tomorrow.

AS TO GRATITUDE
Gene Howe, Texas editor, son of the philosopher Ed Howe, of Kansas, says he sent an opera star three dozen roses the other day and she hasn't even thanked him. She came to Amarillo, Texas, where Mr. Howe astounds folks with his newspaper. He says he turned over the paper to this opera star, filled the auditorium, and then capped the climax, so to speak, by sending up to Dallas and getting a bunch of roses at $12.50 a dozen. They should have been good and probably were. But he hasn't heard from the artist. Now Mr. Howe is a bit bitter, not to say cantankerous.

His father, the philosopher, would know that gratitude in the human being—if any—is exceedingly rare. You can find the bones of the missing link on the Gobi desert almost as easily as you can find gratitude. The simple course is not to expect it and you won't be disappointed. And yet—there is such a thing, and it is very lovely to discover.

Prisoner Goes To Penitentiary Alone

Youth Sentenced To Five-Year Term Voluntarily Makes Trip To Prison

(International News Service)
MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., May 31.—There wasn't any one handy to take Louis Joseph, 21, of Elkins, to the state penitentiary after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery and had been sentenced to five years in prison.
So he came to the "Big House" himself, armed only with a letter from Stanley Bosworth, prosecutor of Randolph county, identifying him.
The youth was arrested for robbing a grocery store and pleaded guilty after some hesitation. When he was sentenced all the deputy sheriffs were busy and it looked as if he would have to stay in the county jail until they got time to take him to the penitentiary. But Joseph heard of the situation and volunteered to go alone. So Prosecutor Randolph gave him a letter to the warden, put him aboard the train and the next day Joseph showed up to start serving his five year "stretch."

Pitchers Using Tricks, Say Players; Pitchers Handicapped, Say Managers

THE ugly rumor of cheating is raising its head in the American League, with the report that Sammy Gray of the St. Louis Browns is resorting to tricks to obtain his pitching skill. The haggard dame says that he is soaking his uniform pants leg with rosin, which is against the rule of the league.

Players either pulling the trick to get Gray's coat or in dead earnest think that he rubbed the ball over the rosin to get a better grip. The fact remains that his curve breaks so fast the Cleveland team couldn't see the ball the other day, which gave rise to the murmurs of tricks. Manager Peckinpaugh may protest the game. At any rate, Umpire Hildebrand, who inspected the ball, took it to President Barnard without making any comment.

Burt Shotton of the Phillies doesn't believe that it is entirely the lively ball which is accounting for so many long hits and high averages, as the shining new balls which are continually being put into play. Burt's remarks have no connection with the Gray incident, but are interesting in themselves.

Pitchers can't control a new shiny ball as well as one which has been played with a short time. Smooth leather despite the use of rosin does not permit a good grip. When the pitcher goes to groove one into the batter's weakness something slips on the shiny cover and—wham goes a nice home run instead of a strike.

But Dame Rumor must have something to chatter about, so

Washington To Spend Much In Fixing Up City

Congress Votes 265 Million Dollars For Improvement Program

MOST BEAUTIFUL CITY IN WORLD PLANNED

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Congress has set out to make Washington the most beautiful capital in the world. A wave of enthusiasm for accomplishment of this goal apparently has swept both Senate and House, and virtually all traces of a former reluctance to spend huge sums of money for public buildings in the District of Columbia has disappeared.

The pledge of President Hoover to lend full support to the movement is believed to assure a continuation of the huge program already under way. Congress is now committed to the completion of a building program costing $265,000,000, and this program is expected to be expanded in the next few years.

The urge to make the city the most beautiful of all the world's capitals apparently springs from the sentimental interest of Congress in the seat of government and the practical belief that it is cheaper for the government to build than rent.

But the American tourist, who drifts into the national capital by train and automobile, perhaps is more responsible than any other agency.

With the advent of automobile touring came expressions of disappointment from people in every section of the country and from all walks of life. They usually made their entrance on historic Pennsylvania avenue, and found it a wide, drab street, lined with cheap business houses and almost exclusively occupied in one section by Chinese curio shops and laundries.

The increase in the number of government employees from 35,000 to 70,000, and the likelihood of further expansion of government activities in Washington, has further spurred the movement. Nearly 25,000 employees now work in temporary or rented quarters, some of them fire-traps and insufferably hot in summer.

In launching its great building program, Congress has reverted to the original plan of Maj. Pierre Charles L'Enfant, French army engineer, who was chosen to lay out the city more than a hundred years ago.

Capitol Center
The new building plan revolves around the capitol building, already acclaimed the most beautiful capitol in the world. A great mall, lined with beautiful government buildings, is to connect the capitol with the Lincoln Memorial, skirting the White House. A great parkway is to be built between the union passenger station and the capitol.

To redeem Pennsylvania avenue and make it worthy of its history, Congress has bought a triangle with a half-mile frontage on the avenue at a cost of $25,000,000. Sen. Smoot (R) of Utah, estimates that it will cost $200,000,000 to complete the triangle development plan. In the carrying out of this scheme, the government will demolish a modern 12-story office building and scores of lesser structures.

One of the most extraordinary programs in the "capital beautiful" program, is a 200-foot parkway from the Potomac river to George Washington's home at Mount Vernon.

Cost Plenty

Among the building projects now under way and their cost are: Arlington Memorial bridge, connecting Arlington cemetery with the city, $14,575,000; enlargement of capitol grounds, $6,244,000; supreme court site and building, $7,500,000; department of agriculture buildings, $8,100,000; Department of Commerce building, $17,500,000; Internal Revenue building, $10,000,000. New buildings eventually will be constructed for the Postoffice department, Department of Justice, Labor Department, Navy Department, and the present state, War Department building either will be remodelled or abandoned.

Commencement At East Brook High Occurs Tonight

Rev. Walter McClure Will Speak; Have Class Night Wednesday

Rev. Walter McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, will be the principal speaker at the graduation exercises of the East Brook high school which will take place this evening in the school auditorium. Seventeen students will be graduated.

Miss Goldie McKee is valedictorian of the class while Miss Margaret Jameson is salutatorian. Both of these pupils will give orations at the program this evening. Other honor students are Julia Kraus, Frances Hood, Edward Bilger, Katherine Bocher and Elizabeth Kendall.

School at East Brook was officially closed today and the commencement exercises this evening will terminate activities until the coming fall.

Berquist To Hold Tent Meetings

Gospel Services To Be Conducted In Tent On South Mercer St.

Gospel services in a tent will be started on South Mercer street within the immediate future according to Rev. E. J. Berquist. With Rev. Harry Johnson they will open a Gospel Center on South Mercer street below South street, the tent already being on the way.

It is planned to hold the services all summer and these services will probably be the forerunner of a permanent Gospel Center which will be established here.

Late World War Hatred Forgotten Germans In Parade

German War Veterans March With Americans In Colorful Memorial Day Parade

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, May 31.—Chicagoans who witnessed the striking Memorial Day parade here, went back to work today convinced that the hatreds of the late World War are forgotten.

The impressive feature of the colorful parade was the presence in the lineup of a contingent of German war veterans, who have since taken up residence in the United States. They were garbed in their native uniforms, with iron crosses and other emblems of the vanquished imperial regime. Marching side by side with organizations of the Allied armies, they were well received by the thousands who watched the parade.

a community affair, and in which ministers from the three churches in the district participated.

The firing squad of the Watt Post of the American Legion from Enon Valley fired salutes and music was furnished by the Mt. Jackson high school orchestra.

The invocation was given by Rev. Ross Haverfield of the Westfield Presbyterian church and the benediction pronounced by Rev. Robert Hamill of the Mt. Jackson United Presbyterian church.

First "Marquette" In New Castle Sold to Bart Richards

"Roaming Around" calls for Reliable Transportation. Because he believes in Buick-built cars, Bart Richards has purchased the First Marquette in New Castle without even having seen one. His letter follows:

May 20, 1929.

Mr. Jess Gibson, Sales Manager,
Lawrence Automobile Company,
New Castle, Pa.

My Dear Jess:—

To the average buyer, an automobile is as much a mystery as a plate of hash. If it looks good he takes a chance on how it will act. What is under the hood is a matter of terms which he knows little or nothing about.

My knowledge of automobile mechanism is woefully scant. I never built an automobile nor can I repair one. Neither did I ever lay an egg, but I know a good omelette when I taste one. Likewise I know that when Buick builds a car, it has to be good. Reputations like Buick's are not built in a day or year.

I have not seen the new Marquette, but the fact that Buick built it is enough. In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of cars, if I might paraphrase, and my own thoughts are turning towards a Marquette coupe which you can deliver as soon as possible.

As to how it will perform, it's speed, power and pick-up, what color it will be and what flavor of horn it carries, I'll take a chance. All you have to do is take a chance on the check being good.

Warm personal regards and all that sort of thing, and hurry the Marquette.

Sincerely,
(Signed) BART RICHARDS.

Veteran Who Served Under General Grant Dies This Morning

H. F. Fenton, 81, Passes Away At Home Of Son In Shenango Twp.

Voted For Every Republican President From Lincoln To Present

Homer Fletcher Fenton, aged 81 years, veteran of the Civil war, passed away at the home of his son, C. W. Fenton, in Shenango township, Friday morning, at 8:45 after an illness of complications developing from the infirmities of age.

Mr. Fenton was born at Mineral Ridge, O., September 23, 1847, a son of Abner C. and Barbara Campbell Fenton. He came to Lawrence County in 1850 and for a number of years was engaged in the lumber trade. He was a member of the First Christian church and the Grand Army of the Republic.

Mr. Fenton enlisted in the Civil war in Battery B, First Pennsylvania Light Artillery but was transferred to Battery B of the same regiment and served under General Grant in the Army of the Potomac. He was present at the surrender of Petersburg and Richmond. He took part in all the engagements of the Army of the Potomac after General Grant took command.

Mr. Fenton has voted for all the Republican candidates for president, having voted for Abraham Lincoln for his second term.

On January 1, 1867 he was united in marriage to Melissa J. Leech who preceded him in death some years ago. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Laura A. Lewis of Wichita, Kansas and two sons, David C. Fenton of McKees Rocks and C. W. Fenton of New Castle. He also leaves one brother-in-law, Lycurgus Pitzer, of Indiana Harbor. Mr. Fenton was the last of his family.

Funeral services will be held Monday, June 3 at 3 p. m. from the First Christian church of this city with Rev. William T. Barnes in charge. Interment in Oak Park cemetery.

Council today directed City Engineer Miller to prepare plans for an abatement of the storm water nuisance in the Wilmington-Shenango avenue district. The plans will show two sewers and council will decide which would best alleviate the situation.

NEW EDISON STAMP WILL APPEAR SOON

Special Postage Will Commemorate 50th Anniversary Of First Stamp

A brief description of the new Thomas Alva Edison commemorative stamp which the post office department is about to issue to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the production of the first incandescent lamp, was given out this morning at the New Castle post office.

The stamps will not be placed on sale until June 5 and only at the Menlo Park, N. J. office on that day. Soon after other post offices throughout the country will be able to supply their patrons with the new postage.

The Edison stamp will be of the same size as the ordinary two-cent stamp, and will be printed in red ink. The central design will be a picture of the original lamp with rays issuing from it. "Edison's First Lamp" will be printed above and partly encircling the lamp, and on either side of the lamp and through the rays of light and following legend will appear: "Electric Light's Golden Jubilee."

Catholic Daughters Are In Convention

State Delegates Are In Session At Pittsburgh; Bishop Boyle Speaks

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, May 31.—Election of state officers for the coming year and disposal of routine business and committee reports will bring the business sessions of the ninth biennial state convention of the Catholic Daughters of America to a close here today.

The convention will not adjourn, however, until noon tomorrow following the grand ball to be given tonight and a meeting of the junior tomorrow morning.

At today's session, addresses were made by Rt. Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, Bishop of Pittsburgh, and Rt. Rev. John N. Gannon, bishop of Erie and state chaplain of the order.

Today's program was featured by a luncheon for the 300 delegates in attendance at the convention from all sections of Pennsylvania.

The session was presided over by Miss Frances Mahy of Kane, Pa., state regent of the order.

Later today the convention will take up committee reports and will adopt resolutions calling for an extension of the charitable and educational work of the order in the state.

Tomorrow morning just before the convention closes the Junior Order composed of girls 12 to 18 years old will hold a meeting at which State Regent Frances Mahy and National Regent Mary C. Duffy of New York city will preside. The newest chapter of the Junior Order formed recently at Sharpsburg and numbering about 75 members will be introduced to the state officers and inducted into the order.

Blame Mascots For Airship Troubles

(International News Service) NEW YORK, May 31.—Animals, carried on most expeditions for companionship and luck, have proved omens of ill fortune to the big airships.

Of course it wasn't the fault of Miss, the hairy lady gorilla, aboard the Graf Zeppelin that caused two of her great motors to fail but nevertheless she was aboard.

Then too, the Graf on its first westward flight brought a cat along and the giant airship ran into stormy weather with the result that part of her rear fin was carried away.

General Noble carried his pet Boston terrier on the ill-fated voyage of the Norge to the North Pole.

And while animals themselves are not blamed for the bad luck, superstitious aviators and airship pilots are beginning to believe there is more than coincidence in the ill fate that follows the giant airships carrying pets and animals.

Takes 29 Years To Get College Degree

(International News Service) CONWAY, Ark., May 31.—Twenty-nine years ago W. S. Cazort, Sr., of El Dorado, Ark., began his college education. This month, twenty-nine years later, he will receive his degree.

Mr. Cazort entered Hendrix College at Conway, Ark., twenty-nine years ago last fall. He attended nearly four years, and then he became ill. Then business demanded his time and energy.

Recently he corresponded with the registrar at Hendrix. His son, W. S. Cazort, Jr., was to graduate this spring, and could he, the father, write his thesis and graduate with him? His wish was granted.

Sculptor's Wife Sees U. S. Setting Fashions

(International News Service) PARIS, May 31.—Paris may be the style center of the world, but in a very important sense, America is indicating just what the style should be.

This is the opinion of Yvonne Davidson, French dressmaker and wife of the well-known sculptor, Jo Davidson, who has recently returned from the United States after an absence of ten years.

"The American women," affirms Mrs. Davidson, "who form the most important part of our clientele in Paris, force our hands to make what they prefer to wear. And this is really as it should be."

Georgia Youths Show Mediterranean Flies

(International News Service) VALDOSTA, Ga., May 31.—It's an ill wind that blows nobody some good. Two itinerant youths have found a lucrative business in the exhibition of two "picked" Mediterranean fruit flies, discovered for the first time on the North American continent in three Florida counties recently.

Interest is accentuated by the war being waged by ten southern states to eradicate and prevent the spread of the dreaded insect pest, and hundreds already pay the price of admission to the tent of the young men here to view the destructive bugs.

Hit-Run Drivers Injure 63; Kill 9

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 31.—Hit-and-run drivers maintained old records and hung up a new one during the past four weeks ending May 15. The death total was slightly under last month's but injuries went over the old figure by two.

Nine deaths, seven of which occurred in a single week and four of the seven in Philadelphia, broke records of a year's standing. Injuries totaled 63.

Lindy Will Be Added To Social Register In Fall

(International News Service) NEW YORK, May 31.—Unless Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, America's most famous married man, objects to seeing his name in print again, the aviator's name will be added to the exclusive pages of the social register in the forthcoming summer edition.

He will be the first air mail pilot to winship into the elite publication, although a prizefighter, a lad named James J. Tunney, likewise married into the register.

It was recalled that Tunney dropped his ring name of Gene Tunney, for James J. when he made the social grade last summer. Officers of the social register would not reveal whether Lindbergh would be entered as C. Augustus, Charles Augustus or Just Gus Lindbergh.

The aviator's bride, the former Anne Morrow, already is entered in the register. With her sister, Elizabeth, her brother, Dwight Morrow Jr., and her father, Ambassador Morrow, their residence is listed as the American embassy, Mexico City.

It is the custom in the register to designate the owner of sailing craft, or yachts by a picture cut of such a type vessel which is printed beside the name. It was considered possible that the entrance of an aviator into the select bathing order would suggest similar treatment for owners of planes with a representative symbol after the name.

Indians To Discuss Method For Mining Aid

(International News Service) INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 31.—Governor Harry G. Leslie today issued invitations to leaders in Indiana industries to attend a dinner here June 14 to develop some constructive plan for the relief of the Indiana coal mining industry.

National officers of the United Mine Workers of America here warmly received the governor's action and expressed the belief this was the first time in history that any governor had taken such a step.

SUN-BACK SUITS ARE UNDER BAN

NEW YORK, May 31.—Sun-back bathing suits have been decreed indecent for wear on city bathing beaches.

Police Commissioner Whalen in announcing his ban of the new bathing suits for women said:

"The police department doesn't want to be narrow-minded in this matter, but the people of New York demand a certain standard of decency at their beaches."

Tilden Wins In Tennis Match

(International News Service) ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, Paris, May 31.—Bill Tilden won his way to the semi-finals of the men's singles of the French hard courts championship today by defeating H. L. De Mourguo of Italy in a furiously contested five set match. The score was 9-11, 3-6, 6-1.

Deadlock Is Partly Broken

Ten Day Deadlock Over Farm Relief Measure May Be Broken

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, May 31.—The 10 day deadlock between house and senate conferees over the new farm bill was partly broken today when the conference began consideration of the relief measure.

The first step was an agreement upon the "declaration of policy," the conference adopting part of the senate language and part of the house language. Both sides were hopeful of an early agreement upon the bill itself, but with the export debenture plan eliminated.

For ten days the house conferees refused to even consider the bill so long as it contained the debenture, which was inserted by the senate over the opposition of President Hoover. They finally receded from this attitude but only after the senate conferees had agreed to recommend elimination of the debenture.

The second question discussed by the conference was the size of the proposed federal farm board. The house had authorized six members while the senate favored 12.

Attempt To Steal Gasoline; Arrested

F. J. Sanker, 332 Boyles avenue, reported to the police Wednesday that three men were tampering with his machine, which he had left in his driveway.

In the gas tank of the Sanker car. There was a Buick touring car near the Sanker car. Later a found another hose in the pocket of this car. The officers found James Greer in the vicinity and his actions aroused their suspicion. Finally he confessed officers say, that he and two others, David Leichman and Howard Mondorf, wanted to go to Cleveland Memorial Day, but had no money to buy gasoline and had undertaken to purloin gasoline to make the trip, having tried to get the gasoline from the Sanker car.

They were assessed fines of $10 each by Mayor William H. Gillespie on Thursday.

Anne And "Lindy" Remain Hidden

PUBLIC INTEREST IS SLOWLY WANING

NEW YORK, May 31.—The four-day-old question "Where is Colonel Lindbergh and his bride?" still remained unanswered today, the 56th day, and the latest was that a yacht was seen in the vicinity of the Morrow summer estate at North Haven, Maine, but the "yacht" turned out to be a two-masted schooner from Marblehead.

Another rumor was apiked, meanwhile, at Englewood, N. J., it developed that the tall, slim chap who had been shopping in a store or two there wasn't "Lindy" at all. He was Lindbergh's double—Jack Miller, Englewood high school football star. He has the same way smile and blond hair as the famous flyer but he never has flown a plane—and he doesn't look married.

The leg-weary reporters also learned that by getting married "Lindy" has kicked the bottom out of the demand for Lindbergh pictures. Those pictures of Lindbergh and the models of "The Spirit of St. Louis" that used to retail for ten bucks are now a drag on the market.

Although the interest of the press and the public has waned in the hide-away honeymoon, a casual watch still being maintained on the flying fields.

ENTS VALVELESS PLANE MOTOR

Ever since the close of the World war G. E. Franklin has been working on a new type of airplane motor which he plans to manufacture in Kansas City, Mo., in the near future. It weighs 359 pounds and develops 400 horse power. It features 16 air cooled and valveless cylinders and its inventor declares it will revolutionize the motor car and airplane industries. The motor is shown above with Franklin beside it.

Former New Castle Couple Guests At Morrow's Tea

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Isaac Phillips of Englewood, N. J., the former a son of Mrs. E. I. Phillips of 1503 Highland avenue this city were among the guests at the afternoon "Tea" given last Sunday by Ambassador and Mrs. Dwight Morrow at their estate at Englewood to a number of friends in honor of the approaching marriage of their daughter Miss Anne Morrow to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

In writing of the details to his mother, Mr. Phillips spoke of the simplicity of the whole affair and how the entire event was very informal. He said that most of the 150 guests who were present were much older than the Colonel and his fiancée. Each guest was required to give his name before being allowed to enter the gate of the estate.

Colonel Lindbergh's smile is most fascinating and he has an agreeably pleasing personality Mr. Phillips states.

Women Election Judges To Tell Startling Facts

Four Homestead Women Held In Election Frauds Are Willing To "Talk"

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, May 31.—After spending two nights in jail cells, four Homestead women election officers were taken at their own request to the district attorney's office, where they told what was described as a "sensational story" of alleged fraud in the Vane-Wilson senatorial election of 1926.

On the heels of an unlooked-for 30-day jail sentence by Judge James H. Gray Wednesday after they had pleaded guilty to making false returns, the women asked to "tell all," it was reported.

Taken from jail shortly before noon today, they were escorted in the district attorney's office with Judge Gray, First Assistant District Attorney Andrew T. Park, Assistant Roy T. Clunk, who prosecuted the case, and a stenographer.

Possibility that the women may be paroled after they tell their story in open court was expressed. No sessions of court were scheduled for today, but they may be called into court tomorrow.

Makes Report On Radio Situation In New Castle

A. M. O'Neill of South Mercer street, is one of the more enthusiastic radio fans of this city and has been so for a long time. He is at the present time interested in the low wave length station reception.

He has been a member for some time of the American Radio Relay League, Inc., and because of this fact was one of the few local persons to receive a questionnaire sent out recently by the United States Radio Commission, asking concerning reception conditions here and especially in regard to the short wave length stations.

He made some investigation here and found that others as well as himself were having trouble in low wave length reception, and so reported. He informed the commission that trouble was being experienced here except in the some forty stations, which were given clear channels. He suggested that more stations, especially the higher class stations, be given such clear channels.

Colonel Ordered To Stand Trial In Food Controversy

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, May 31.—The latest army controversy, which has resulted in a court-martial being ordered for Col. Berkeley Enoch, chief of staff of the second corps (New York) area, by his commanding officer, Maj. Gen. Hanson Ely, is the result of a mess room row—a row over food—was learned here today from authoritative sources.

Col. Enoch will stand trial at Governor's Island next week on charges of insubordination preferred by Gen. Ely. He is now under arrest in quarters there.

Dozen Vacancies In Teaching Force Of County Exist

There are about 12 vacancies to be filled in country schools for the coming school year according to County Superintendent of Schools, John C. Syling. School boards have had trouble in securing experienced teachers although there are plenty of applications from the inexperienced.

All of the schools for which teachers are desired are one room buildings. Experienced teachers do not seem to want the one room schools if they can get into graded schools. However it is expected that the vacancies will be filled in a short time.

Order Scanlon To Obey City Engineer

Council today passed a resolution providing that if Contractor M. J. Scanlon does not repave a section of Moravia street according to the dictates of the city engineer he will be paid. Scanlon won the contract for repaving after the storm sewer was laid.

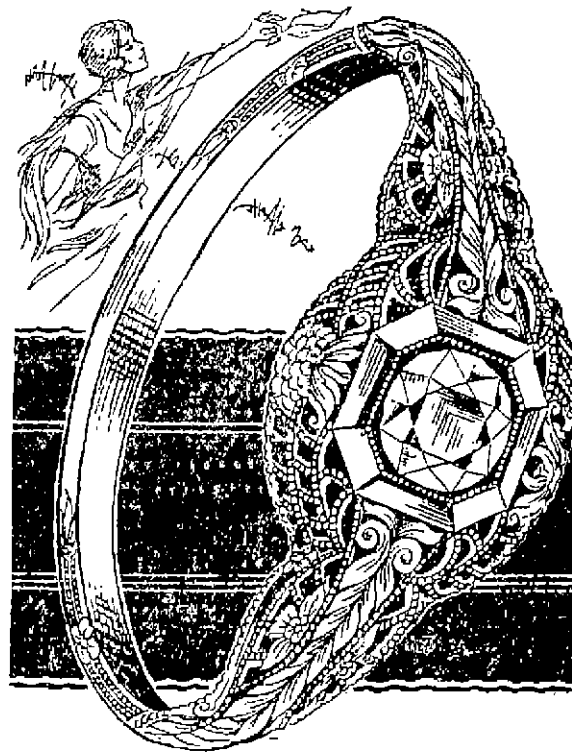

Scanlon claims that the plans and specifications do not call for certain things the engineer wants. The engineer and Scanlon controversy is caused by interlacing the brick during the repaving.

Accuse Three In Phone Wire Thefts In City

Three informations were made today before Alderman Green by J. R. Breen of Pittsburgh, special agent of the Bell Telephone company, as a result of the arrest of two youths, Andrew Klingensmith and Ernie Susinski, by Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch in conjunction with Mr. Breen.

The arrests were the result of implicating these young men in the cutting of wire from the phone connections of the Pennsylvania avenue district patrons and selling the wire.

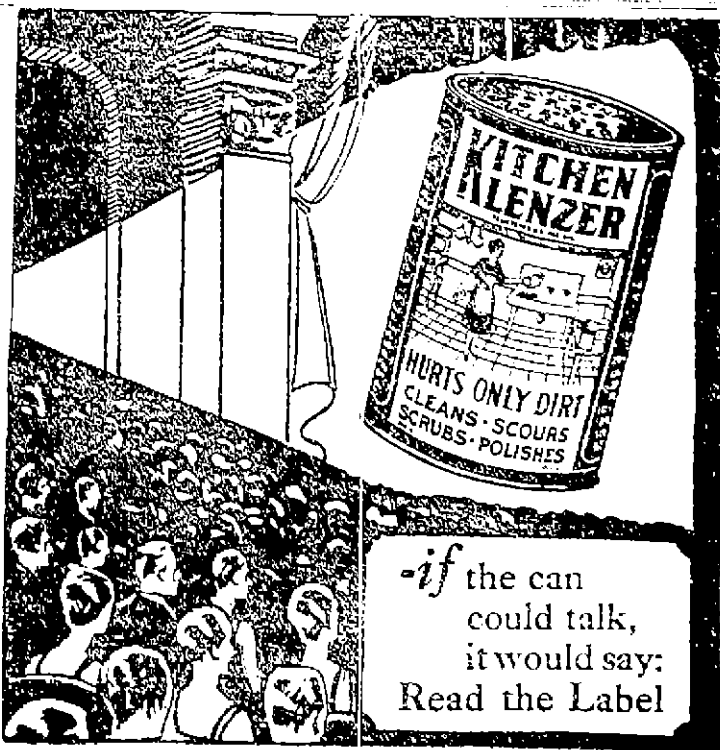

Each of the young men were charged with larceny and has been held for court. The third charge was made against J. Mitchell, a junk dealer, who purchased the wire from the young men, the charge being the purchasing junk from minors, contrary to the provisions of the state law.

Give Medal Award At Mahoning School

Attorney Clarence A. Patterson visited the Mahoning Junior High school Wednesday afternoon where he presented to Joseph Cunningham of the eighth grade with the Legion school medal award.

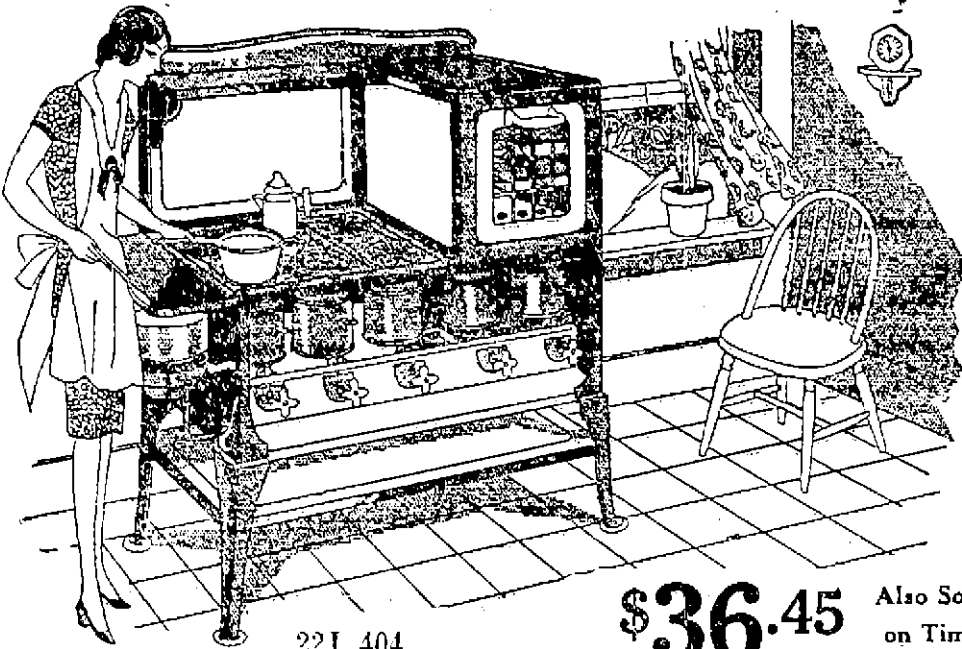

He is the son of the late Joseph Cunningham of West Clayton street and was voted the outstanding boy in the class by his classmates and teacher.

Still, after a college boy has spent an hour arranging his hair, it would be foolish to conceal the glory of it beneath a hat.

Montevideo Proves Reno For Unhappy Argentine Couples

BUENOS AIRES, May 31.—Divorce is not recognized in Argentina, and consequently many mismatched couples have made a Reno of Montevideo, the capital of Paraguay just across the River Plate.

In some ways Montevideo provides a more convenient spot for undoing marital bonds than does even Reno or Paris, because suits can be brought there by power of attorney. "Incompatibility of temperament" is among the accepted grounds.

Procedure in Uruguay is similar to that under French law in that three months are allowed for "conciliation" at the end of which time the would-be divorcees appear, in person or by attorney, to explain that they still want to be legally separated. At the end of three months a decree is given.

Uruguayan divorcees granted to Argentine citizens are recognized by the civil law here if they are registered with the Argentine authorities. But without this registration, an Argentine divorced in Uruguay may, if he marries again in Buenos Aires, be liable to prosecution for bigamy.

Hay-Drying Invention Would Surpass Nature

GENESEE, Wis., May 31.—Arthur W. Koon has nearly completed work here on an invention with which he expects to shorten the normal period time required to dry hay.

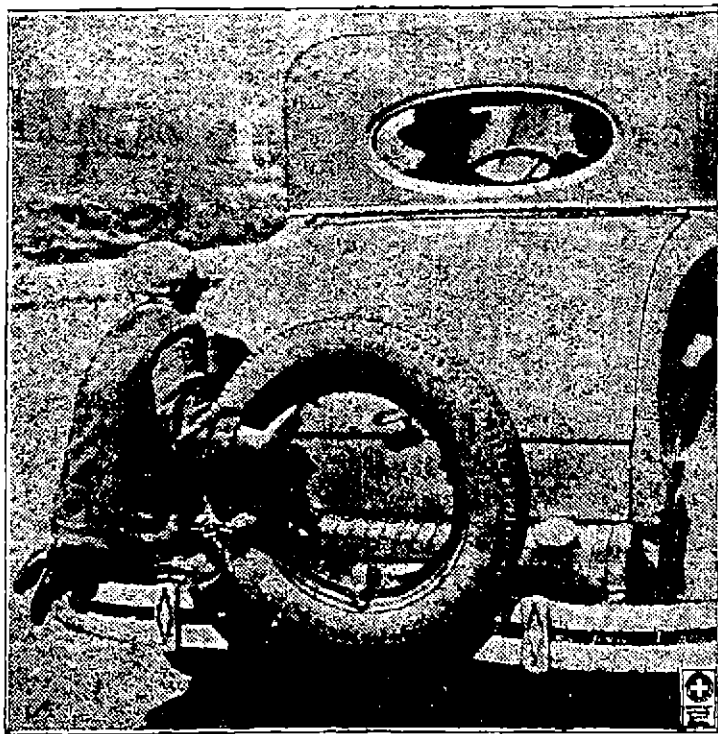

Koon's machine, which is 200 feet long and five feet high to accommodate large quantities of hay, is expected to complete in two minutes the hay-drying process that takes nature several weeks.

Aside from additional speed in drying the hay, the new device is said to retain the original green color in the forage.

Warden Saves Deer Pursued By Dogs

(International News Service)
SANFORD, Me., May 31.—Attracted by the loud and incessant baying of dogs, Game Warden George W. Clayton found two huge dogs pursuing a deer about 40 feet from shore in Moose Lake. The deer, a young doe, was holding its own in the swimming race.

The warden overtook the dogs in his canoe and allowed the frightened doe to swim to freedom unharmed.

Aged Woman To Battle Against Death In Chair

Electric Chair Looms For Aged Woman Who Slew
To Gain Insurance Money

(International News Service)
MACON, Ga., May 31.—Mrs. J. C. Powers dug today into her hoarded wealth—that wealth which the state contends she plotted to increase by craftily murder and arson—to pay the cost of a stubborn defense against the electric chair, the vision of which haunts her in a jail cell.

Against the accusation that she hired Earl Manchester, a nonchalant youthful rolling stone, to slay James Parks, an orphaned dweller in her rooming house—Mrs. Powers probably will plead her age and an unsoundness of mind.

Relatives said today that she is even older than she first was declared to be. Her age, announced previously as 63, today was said with assurance to be 72.

An indication that extreme age and alleged unsound mental condition will be pleaded at her trial was seen in the words of Judge E. W. Maynard, Macon City attorney, who was retained to defend Mrs. Powers.

"I do hope the state of Georgia will not send this aged and mentally unsound woman to the electric chair," he said.

At the other extreme in age, Manchester sat today in his cell and admitted he is without friends, without money and without hope of escaping punishment for his part in the death of Parks. He smoked cigarettes which visitors gave him, asked for a Methodist minister and said he was ready to die.

"Laziness" Voted High School Vice

"Frankness" Pupils' Outstanding Virtue, Say Teachers Of 14 States

"Laziness" was termed the principal vice of modern high school pupils, and "frankness" their outstanding virtue, in a symposium on secondary education in which teachers from 14 states now attending summer sessions of the University of Pennsylvania School of Education proved far more ready to defend the pupils than censure them.

Given an opportunity to pass judgment on the parents of pupils, however, 65 per cent of the educators noted an increasing tendency to shift too much of the burden of child-training from the home to the school, and attributed this trend to a variety of reasons, many of which were not flattering to the parents.

Due appreciation of existing economic and social conditions influencing child training was expressed by virtually all the teachers, but fully half declared there was too much parental devotion to outside interests, such as social activities and politics, at the social activities enumerated. Large clubs, in particular, were forced to bear a large share of the pedagogical attack.

Teacher Not Absolved
The teachers likewise showed a disposition to be frankly critical, even if it hurt, when commenting on their own shortcomings, and many took occasion to deplore what they described as a disposition on the part of some members of their profession to view it merely as a "sleeping stone."

The symposium, designed to obtain the opinions of educators regarding various conditions in the field of secondary education and the factors contributing to them, was conducted through the medium of a questionnaire answered by men and women whose individual teaching experience ranged from one to 22 years, with nine years as the average for the entire group.

Specifically requested to name the outstanding shortcomings of high school students as a class, the teachers enumerated quite a few with "laziness" polling a large number of votes and "sophistication" and "lack of concentration" receiving prominent mention.

Rebellion Charge Repelled
But when asked if they considered justified the oft-repeated indictment of high school pupils as "flippant, rebellious against discipline and old traditions, and inclining in serious purpose," 81 per cent, of the teachers gave an emphatic "no" as their reply, and the majority even volunteered an enthusiastic defense of the pupils.

Further evidence of the tendency to defend the pupils was given when the teachers were asked to name the pupils' three outstanding good points. Many found it difficult to keep within the limit of three prescribed, and added a few additional ones to their list. "The 'frankness,' 'initiative' and 'co-operative spirit' of the pupils were most frequently praised.

Boys and girls were declared to be equally acceptable as pupils by about one-fourth of the teachers, while of those expressing a preference in the matter, nearly 60 per cent, selected boys.

Rural Pupils More Eager
Of the teachers experienced in both rural and city schools, 73 per cent said they found rural pupils more obedient and anxious to learn than those in the city, but only 14 per cent, expressed a preference for rural teaching. Belief that the city field offers wider opportunity for better teaching equipment was a prime factor in influencing those favoring city schools.

Overwhelming sentiment in favor of men for positions as supervisors and principals was recorded, the principal reasons cited being that men possess more native administrative ability, are better able to enforce discipline, have a

Seek Legal Custody Of Young Heiress

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—A writ of habeas corpus was taken out in the juvenile court here today by the Department of Welfare, seeking legal custody of Vivian Fox Keene, 3 year old girl believed to be the heiress to a large fortune in Atlanta, Ga. The girl was found living with a colored family here last week.

Police questioned Viola Coleman, who conducts the rooming house where the child was living, from her authorities learned that the girl was brought there by a colored man and a pretty white woman who paid $4 a week's board for Vivian.

Boys' Clubs End At Y For Summer

This week ends the boys club activities at the Y. M. C. A. Throughout the entire winter months, groups of boys from South street, boys from the center high school, and both junior high schools have been having their meetings.

At a meeting, and also at parties given to a close with the end of the year, and from now on until the opening of the fall term of school, these clubs will remain inactive.

Activities have been suggested for the boys' general group of the Y who meet for games at the Y daily and for the campus group which will start soon.

Work is now underway in setting up the Y camp in shape.

Talked Over Wire To Edison, Meets Him
In Person

ZEALOUS GUARD
ALMOST INTERFERES

BOSTON, May 31.—John K. Butler, who used to talk shop with Thomas A. Edison when both were telegraphers on the same wire 50 years ago, and who has the added distinction of being the oldest employee of the American Telephone & Telegraph company, was back here recently after a visit with the electrical wizard at Fort Myers, Fla.

Butler celebrated his 89th birthday yesterday by walking down the ramp of a liner which had just brought him from the south. His step was more spry and his carriage more erect than those of many a man of half his age.

"As well as I knew Tom Edison in the days when we were both operators, although I had never met him except over the key, I had always wanted to see him in person," he said. "Well, I did—two weeks ago, but I came near not meeting him then. As I approached the house I was stopped by a guard.

"Can I see Mr. Edison?" I asked. "No," snapped back the guard. "He's a busy man."

"Well, I had traveled a long way to see him, so I asked if he would bear a note to Mr. Edison. I wrote something about one old telegrapher to another on the back of an envelope and signed it 'the oldest living worker in the A. T. & T.'"

"The guard disappeared but soon came back saying I could have five minutes and you know he seemed kind of happy.

"Well, up there on the veranda was Thomas A. Edison. We sat down it wasn't for five minutes either; no, sir. We talked 20 minutes and we might have talked an hour, but I had to go and, well, that's about all there is to that."

HISTORY LESSON

Some of the boys were taking but little interest in the lesson, and the teacher became irritable.

"William Smith," he demanded suddenly, "are you listening?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then perhaps you can tell me where Nelson was killed?"

"Trafalgar Square," was the reply. "Indeed," ejaculated the teacher. "Then I suppose Wellington was killed at Waterloo Station?"

"No, sir," responded William; "that was Napoleon!"—Pearson's, London.

Report Record Total Of Suicides In 1928

HARRISBURG, May 31.—The suicide rate in Pennsylvania was higher in 1928 than in any year since 1915, while the national rate was the lowest since 1915 according to figures just released by the Bureau of Vital Statistics.

In the year, 1255 persons in Pennsylvania ended their own lives as compared with 1182 suicides in 1927. This is the greatest number of suicides ever recorded in one year in the state, although the rate is not so high as in some of the earlier years of State registration. Of the suicides in 1928, 1005 were males, and 250 females, while 1219 were white and thirty-six colored. Even in proportion to population there were fewer suicides among the colored than among the white people of the state. There were more suicides between the ages of 45 and 54 than in any other ten year age group, but the suicide rate was highest between the ages of 65 and 75. There were five suicides under the age of 15, three boys and two girls.

There were 534 homicides in Pennsylvania as compared with 557 in 1927. The largest number on record was 624 in 1924. Of the victims of homicide 416 were males and 118 females. Classified by color 374 were white and 121 colored. Assuming that four per cent. of the population of the state are colored these figures are equivalent to a homicide rate in the colored population ten times that in the white population.

More than one-half of all victims of homicide are between the ages of 20 and 44 with the median age at 25. There was only one case of infanticide reported, although there were six victims under the age of five years.

Burns Fatal To Former Resident Of New Castle

Mrs. Mercedes E. Holman Dies
In Youngstown Hospital
Thursday Morning

As the result of terrible burns sustained in an explosion in her home at 220 Wirt street, Youngstown, O., while making a fire with coal oil, Mrs. Mercedes Ellis Holman, aged 34 years, wife of Napoleon Homer Holman, a former well known resident of this city died Thursday morning at 4:10 in St. Elizabeth hospital in Youngstown.

Mrs. Holman was the daughter of Mrs. Fannie Ellis Edwards of 313 Green street, New Castle. She was a member of St. Paul's Baptist church. She was born March 19, 1895 and had lived in this city for a number of years prior to removing to Youngstown where she had lived for five years.

Besides her husband and mother she leaves one sister, Miss Susie Ellis and two brothers, James and Andrew Ellis.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday June 1, at 2:30 p. m. D. S. T. from St. Paul's Baptist church of this city with the pastor Rev. W. L. Ingram in charge. Burial will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Ringneck Pheasant Eggs Are In Demand

When the board of game commissioners recently announced that all persons desiring ringneck pheasant eggs this summer must make formal application on blanks supplied by the commission, they had no idea that so many citizens were so keenly interested in game propagation activities. However, it has been learned differently, and ever since the announcement, the propagation department has had all it could do to keep enough applications on hand to meet the demand.

Aside from a host of letters clamoring for application, the officers at Harrisburg were swamped for the first day or two. In fact too many applications for the number of available eggs have already been presented. Applications which have been received over and above those necessary to fill the present allotment of eggs will be held on file. If the number of eggs should prove larger than is expected these applications will be cared for if possible.

Jury Not Permitted To Taste Evidence

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, May 31.—The bewhiskered story about the jury in the prohibition case that retired to chambers, inspected the evidence and returned with a request for "more of the evidence" was reversed in Federal Court here recently.

presented three bottles to the jurors. "Here," he said, "When you retire, sample that and see whether it's wine, grape juice or vinegar. Taste it and you'll find out."

"Oh, no," interjected Judge F. F. Schoenmaker. "No sampling. Sniff it if you want to but no tasting, gentlemen, no tasting."

Exchange Wives; Puzzle Officers

Husbands Make Contract Without Benefit Of Divorce From Courts

LINCOLN, Neb., May 31.—What to do with men who trade wives, especially when the wives do not want to take their lawful mates back again, is a question that has stumped authorities here.

The legal tangle arose when Otto E. Slade and Horace Reed of Bennet, Neb., pleaded guilty of a statutory charge and were sentenced to nine months in jail for living with each other's wives.

Since the sentence, however, Judge Broadly has learned the wives of the men are in want and their four children are the ones who suffer most. A pardon was considered but the idea was dropped when both the wives and they were positively through with their husbands for ever, that they were pleased with the trade and have no intention of rescinding it. An announcement came immediately after the two men had expressed their sorrow for their folly and had promised to return to their lawful wives and children.

The wife trading episode came to light when neighbors of the Slades and Reeds began a whispering campaign. The terms of the trade reached the ears of authorities and investigation revealed that the Slades and Reeds, all Benson friends, had traded wives without the formality of a divorce and remarriage.

Under the terms of the trade, Otto Slade, a garage owner, traded his wife and a garage business valued at $8,000 for Mrs. Martha Reed. Slade explained later that he threw in the garage business with his wife because Mrs. Reed was a much better cook and housekeeper, and besides was much prettier and a better dancer than his own wife. Each wife had two children. The trade called for the children to remain with their own mothers. They were already being taught to call their new fathers "daddy" when authorities interfered. The husbands were to keep their respective homes and furnishings and the women were to move their children and belonging to the homes of their new husbands. The contract was in effect only two weeks before it was interrupted by the hands of the law. "We used to go to parties and dances together," said Mrs. Reed, "and Otto and I used to dance almost always together while Mrs. Slade and Horace danced together. Otto and I got so that we danced almost perfectly together and one evening just in fun Otto said to my husband, 'Reed, let's trade wives for a while.' Without thinking of the seriousness of the affair Mrs. Slade and I in a joking way said we would agree. Kidding brought on more serious overtures and the first we knew we were all agreeing."

"Then we completed the bargain and I commenced living with Otto in his home but with my little boy and girl while Mrs. Slade took her own little boy and girl and filled the vacancy I left as the wife of Horace. But I'm crazy about Otto and am going to wait until he gets out of jail if it takes a year and then marry him the proper way. I have no desire to have my husband return. He traded me off once and I can never love him again."

"Otto and I never did get along any too well," said Mrs. Slade, "and I perfectly satisfied with the trade. I only regret all this publicity, and just as soon as we get out of this trouble I want to move out of Bennet."

The husbands are the repentant ones. They told the Judge they realized they made a bad mistake and they would like to have their sentences rescinded, or at least cut to forty-five days. They have promised to walk the straight and narrow path if their sentence is shortened.

Penn's Grave Saved From Speculators

Many Americans Contribute To Fund To Preserve Burying Ground

(International News Service)
LONDON, May 31.—Jordans, the Quaker village in Buckinghamshire, where William Penn, the founder of the American state of Pennsylvania, lies buried, is not to have its simple countryside marred by the speculative builder.

A scheme to preserve for all time the rustic beauty of the village and its surrounding country has met with gratifying results. Many Americans contributing large sums to the fund which is to be devoted to purchasing the area.

"Sufficient land already has been acquired in the neighborhood of the famous Meeting House to ensure that Jordans will always remain a secluded village," one of the promoters of the scheme told International News Service.

Last May it was proposed to make a new main road just past the Meeting House. Among those who protested against this were David Lloyd George, Ramsay MacDonald and Lord Hugh Cecil.

For several months the Society of Friends, the famous Quaker body, which has a great interest in the little place where the founder of Pennsylvania was worshipped as a Quaker, have been busy at work.

With the generous help of many Americans, several of whom made a special pilgrimage to Jordans from the United States, and many other sympathizers, sufficient money has been raised to buy tracts of land surrounding the Meeting House.

MEMORIAL DAY CELEBRATION FEATURES PARADE AND SPEAKING

Patriotic Organizations In Line Of March And Decorate Graves

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—Memorial Day was fittingly observed here. The local patriotic organizations were well represented in the parade which began at 9:30 a. m., traversing the main streets. The Legion bugle and drum corps headed the parade and deserves much credit for their splendid work. The high school band also furnished music for the parade.

The firing squad and field artillery were very striking in the line of march.

Organizations represented were the Spanish War Veterans, Legionnaires and ex-service men, Sons of Veterans, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, school children, G. A. R. Ladies, Spanish War Veterans Auxiliary, Legion Auxiliary and Sons of Veterans Auxiliary.

The G. A. R. Ladies performed their ceremony of strewing flowers on the water as they marched across the Fifth street bridge, which was very impressive.

After the parade a special program was given at the Legion Park as follows:

Selection—High school band.
Introduction of grand marshal and chairman of the day.

Selection—quartet.
Prayer—Rev. Routledge, Legion chaplain.

Reading—David Alken.
Address—Rev. R. A. Luhnman.

Selection—Legion bugle and drum corps.

Memorial—Sons of Veterans.
Conclusion—Volley and taps.

The honor guests of the day were: two Union soldiers, one Confederate soldier, the veterans' widows and the gold star mothers. They were entertained with a delicious dinner served in the dining room of the First Methodist church following the memorial program.

Cabaret Dance Is Well Attended

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—Covers were laid for 112 at the Cabaret Dance given Thursday evening in the Country Club. A delicious course dinner was served. The tables were beautifully decorated with huge bouquets of gladiolas which lent fragrance to the occasion.

Between courses the guests were entertained with a fine program, consisting of acrobatic dancing and vocal selections which were presented by entertainers from Cleveland.

The after dinner hours were spent in dancing, peppy music being furnished by an orchestra.

ENTERTAINS GUESTS
ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—Mr. and Mrs. George Gibbons of Wurttemberg had for their dinner guest Thursday, Frank Shields of Milton, Oregon. Mr. Shields is enroute home from an Eastern trip.

Observe Memorial Day With Special Program At Church

Groves Are Decorated And Firing Squad Gives Salute At Ceremonies

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—A special program was rendered at the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church Thursday in commemoration of Memorial Day.

At 10 o'clock the soldiers graves were decorated and a salute given, after which the following program was given in the church.

Prayer—John M. Houk.
"America"—Congregation.

Duet—Sara and Jean Steele.
Recitation—Miss Louise Wilson.

Selection—Choir.
Recitation—Mrs. C. Price.

Solo—Mrs. Paul Elliott, accompanied by Miss Louise Steele.

Address—Rev. Paul Elliott, pastor of the church.

Duet—Mrs. Kenneth Norton and William Boyer, accompanied by Mrs. R. Wohlhausen.

Address—Rev. Claude Downs, pastor of the Savannah M. E. church.

Cornet Duet—Dick Wilson and Clyde Harper, accompanied by Mrs. C. E. Wilson.

The program was followed by a short business meeting at which time the memorial day committee was re-appointed to serve for the next year's service.

It was also decided to revise the soldiers honor roll of the church and to better mark the graves. The church orchestra rendered several selections at the close of the business session, after which the salute of the Firing Squad was given.

Concluding the days program was a delicious basket dinner served in the church basement. The committee in charge of the affair was as follows: Mrs. Eli Yoho, Mrs. Walter Steele and John W. Houk.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON
Enjoyed By Club

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—Members of the Thursday afternoon Bridge club were charmingly entertained Wednesday at the home of Mrs. C. J. Carlson in Glenn avenue, the meeting having been advanced one day on account of Memorial Day.

At 1 o'clock a tastefully appointed luncheon was served by the hostess, and was followed by a series of bridge games. Awards were won by Mrs. Clarence McDonald and Mrs. Paul Moon, first and second respectively.

Mrs. Moon extended the club an invitation to be her guests for their next meeting to be held in two weeks.

Those present were: Mesdames Earl McDonald, Paul Moon, Wayne Baird, Ralph Little, Norman Pack, Joe Smith and Clarence McDonald.

Mrs. R. Haines Entertains For House Guests

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—Mrs. Roland Haines entertained a number of friends Wednesday evening at her home in Fourth street as a courtesy to her house guests. Bridge was played at two tables, score awards being won by Miss Claire Smith, Mrs. Frank C. Slep and Miss Mary Holman.

Beautiful flowers enhanced the beauty of the home and at the conclusion of the games the hostess, assisted by Mrs. B. J. Bell, served a delicious midnight luncheon.

The guest list included: Mesdames Bruce Hunter, Herb Davis, H. J. Jenkins, B. J. Bell, and Miss Claire Smith of this city and Mesdames Bruce Walker, Frank Slep and Forrest Hummel of Johnstown, and Miss Mary Holman of Youngstown.

The committee in charge of the Memorial Day party consisted of the wives of the members of the Men's entertainment committee.

Bridge was played at 18 tables. High score favors for members were won by Mrs. Roland Haines and Miss Frederick. The guest awards were presented to Mrs. Frank Slep of Johnstown and Mrs. George Fordyce. Mrs. Forrest Hummel of Johnstown won the draw prize. Tea was served at the conclusion of the card series.

Among the out of town guests present were: Miss Annabell Randall and Miss Bell Offutt of New Castle. Mrs. James Owens of Milwaukee, Mrs. A. B. Wilson of Pittsburgh, Miss Mary McGreevey of Monaca, Miss Mary Holman of Youngstown, Mrs. Frank Slep, Mrs. Bruce Walker and Mrs. Forrest Hummel of Johnstown.

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—Wednesday afternoon concluded the year's sessions at the Ewing Park school and the children are now enjoying their summer vacation. Almost all of the pupils made their grades for the fall term.

A special May Day pageant had been planned for Tuesday but on account of rain had to be called off and could not be given because of the school closing Wednesday.

Attends Synod
Meeting Thursday

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Blank and daughter Miss Gladys and Mrs. L. J. Baker and daughter Miss Marjorie motored to Wheeling, West Virginia, Thursday where they attended the meeting of the Pittsburgh Synod which is in session there this week.

The Rev. Baker was scheduled on the program of the Synod Thursday evening and has been in attendance at the meeting since Tuesday.

Ladies Enjoy Bridge Tea At Country Club

Resume Afternoon Parties At Club For Lady Members And Guests

ELLWOOD CITY, May 31.—One of the most delightful events of the summer season was given at the local Country club Thursday afternoon when the lady members resumed their series of afternoon parties.

Preceding the bridge game, Mrs. Bruce Hunter, chairlady of the day gave a brief talk in regard to the summer activities and made an eloquent appeal for larger and better "Ladies' Days". Plans were discussed for the season affairs and with cooperation of all the lady members this year's activities promise to be better than ever.

The committee appointed to function the 1929 parties is as follows: Mesdames Bruce Hunter, B. J. Bell, R. A. Dambach, Harry Harris, Roland Haines, William Seaton, W. R. Johnson, Kathryn Jones, Theodore Markwort, Frank Moulthrop, W. W. Seidel and Miss Louise Barton. The committee in charge of the Memorial Day party consisted of the wives of the members of the Men's entertainment committee.

Bridge was played at 18 tables. High score favors for members were won by Mrs. Roland Haines and Miss Frederick. The guest awards were presented to Mrs. Frank Slep of Johnstown and Mrs. George Fordyce. Mrs. Forrest Hummel of Johnstown won the draw prize. Tea was served at the conclusion of the card series.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wilson and son Allen of Wood street are spending a few days with relatives in Turtle Creek.

A sufficient answer to those who think a world court could settle everything is contained in the classic phrase: "Kill the umpire."

When Brisbane makes call money cheaper, will he please make the man who banks the poker game quit taking such a big share of the pot.

You think man superior, and then Senators oppose a party measure just because it's a party measure, and you aren't so sure.

Street Base Ball Games

Future Babe Ruths are spending their time knocking the old apple all over the sand lots. Unfortunately where there are no sand lots the youngsters are playing the national pastime in the streets. Street ball games cause accidents—and lots of them—each summer. According to the National Safety Council reports are already beginning to come in from the various sections of the country, emphasizing very clearly the dangers of street baseball. It is mighty dangerous business for the youngsters and right now is the time for parents to insist that the kiddies enjoy their game somewhere else than on the highways. Autoists should be doubly careful during the spring and summer months when the youngsters are enjoying their various pastimes in the streets.

Geneva Captures Tri-State Track Meet

Geneva Scores Victory In Tri-State Track Meet; Westminster Second

Brownlee High Point Scorer; Several Records Are Broken On Thursday

(Special To The News)
BEAVER FALLS, Pa., May 31.—Geneva track team gained a new distinction on Thursday at Reeves stadium, this city, when in the annual Tri-State Conference track and field meet they scamped ahead by scoring 73 points. Westminster was second with 52 1-2 points, Duquesne was third with 26 3-4 points, Bethany fourth with 19 points, Waynesburg fifth with 3 3-4 points. Thiel failed to score.

Several new tri-state records were hung up by the sterling young athletes yesterday. Harry Brownlee of Westminster was high point scorer with three first places, the low hurdles, high hurdles and hammer throw. In the 120 high hurdles event Brownlee established a new tri-state mark by making 15 2-5 seconds. In the hammer Brownlee set a new record with a heave of 132 feet 9 inches.

Schellbach of Duquesne broke two records, making 9 2-5 seconds in the 100-yard dash and setting a record of 21 4-5 seconds in the 220-yard dash. Joe Pesci was the other Duke track man to set a new record, taking the mile run in 4:28.

Many Athletes To Be Lost By Graduation At Westminster

Commencement on Monday will end the collegiate careers of 13 Westminster college athletes representing every variety of sport. These men, who have been on United Presbyterian teams during the last four years are:

Charles Ayers, football, basketball, track; William Blakey, track; Samuel Coburn, tennis and swimming; Ross Ellis, cross country and track; Joseph Furno, football; Byers King, cross country and track; Emanuel prospects, Krueger, football; James Lauder, football; William Lewis, basketball; Jas. McQuiston, football, basketball and tennis; Irving Mansell, tennis; William Schaefer, tennis.

In addition to these men Walter Hutchison, track captain and Tudor Lewis, basketball star, will not be eligible for competition next year. The departure of these 15 men from Westminster lineups will create quite a problem for coaches next year, although the freshmen class has an unusually large number of good prospects.

Lucretia, football; James Lauder, football; William Lewis, basketball; Jas. McQuiston, football, basketball and tennis; Irving Mansell, tennis; William Schaefer, tennis.

Record Crowd Plays Golf On Thursday

Many Participate In The Various Events Of The Day At The Field Club

With wonderful weather conditions prevailing and the New Castle Field club golf course in the best condition in its history, scores of persons interested in golf took advantage of the fact that Memorial Day is a holiday and spent a considerable part of the time in playing on the course.

Adding to the interest of the competition in the several events of the day were the league prizes offered. This added considerable to the competitive spirit of play during the day. In the morning, the events were the best ball half the combined individual sweepstakes with three-quarters handicap.

The league prizes on these events went as follows: Best ball half the combined handicap, first and second prizes in class A are divided between H. G. and R. P. Preston, who scored 82-18-66 and R. M. Garland and J. B. Matthews, Jr., who scored 79-13-66; class B, first prize to A. B. Street and W. I. Clark who scored 83-19-84, and second prize divided between X. Eyster and S. B. Howson and R. L. Elder and M. D. Wells, each pair turning in a low net score of 68. In the individual sweepstakes in the morning, in which the three-quarter handicap prevailed, W. M. Nunn was the winner and also took the league prize because of his low gross score of 77.

The league prize in the morning for the least number of putts, resulted in its division into three parts. J. L. Waddington, W. B. Howe and R. M. Garland each showing 30 such putts having been made.

In the half played in the afternoon the league prize for low gross score went to Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Garland, who turned in a score of 107, while the low net score prize went to Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Matthews, who scored as follows: 109-28-80. Mr. and Mrs. Garland also won the event. W. D. Wilkinson won the afternoon individual handicap with a net score of 71.

Italian Joe Gans Takes Up Fight Against Firpo

By ED. FRITZ
How good is Henry Firpo? Is he a mere flash or splutter in the pan of pugilism who hits ordinary battlers on the chin for a knockout and an enriched pocketbook or is the real 'thing' in the sport of biff and slam?

Some say "yes" and others "no." Floyd Hybert and Jack Dillon said he was a mere flash and Firpo made 'em like it. In fact he tossed so many punches at them in return fights that they thought the roof was raining boxing gloves.

Along came George Perotia, the colorful Italian American. Perotia went ten rounds but in the second fight he never had a chance. George was literally slaughtered by the merciless Firpo.

Yes, sir, fans, Firpo seemed to take delight in hitting Perotia on the chin and dumping him for counts as soon as he got up. A merciful referee put a stop to the contest.

Cut and bleeding Perotia was game but Firpo—he was ready for further conquest. When he stepped in with Dick Evans he was nothing more than a human enraged.

Made Him Back Around
He went right after Evans and he made the pride of Youngstown look like a rank sellin' plater.

And he has been going good wherever he appeared. However, the boys have not been "up front" or in the line; but Monday night he will fight a boy who is prominent in fight circles.

Italian Joe Gans will take up the cudgel for the Perotia faction. He hopes to do what Perotia couldn't. Italian Joe wants to put Firpo on his back for a count of ten seconds.

Can he do it? That's the rub. He may and he may not. Italian Joe has whipped many topnotchers and some of our city councilmen saw him treat Pete Latzo to a nice licking in Wilkes-Barre.

One of them said his left hand flicked out like the tongue of a copperhead. But Latzo isn't the only boy Gans has fought and beaten. He has fought the mail and is said to be good.

Will Arrive Here Friday
Monday night Firpo and Gans will clash. It will be Firpo's first battle here in some time. He wants to be the star at the bowl during the summer. He will have to beat Gans to be the satellite.

He will arrive here today and immediately go to Lakewood Beach. He will train with Meyer Lichenstein, Baltimore Hebrew, George Rohanna, Philadelphia boy now in Jim Dunn's stable, Frankie Rio and Tom O'Leary.

Italian Joe Gans will also come to New Castle but not until Saturday. Arrangements have been made for him to work at the beach also as fighters accomplish much during summer time with outdoors training.

Fans who wish to see the middleweights can do so. They'll be present every day at two o'clock as will Emmett Rocco, who will box Johnny Risko in Cleveland in June.

George Rohanna will box Joe Feldman of Cleveland in the six round semi-final at 150 pounds. Wednesday night Rohanna scored another kayo by stopping Frankie Coluccia in a round at Akron.

Feldman is a tough puncher, a welterweight who goes best pugilistically when pitted against sluggers. Rohanna is all of that. Action will be the keynote of the semi.

Sanders To Box Rio
Lou Sanders, the Hebrew of Beaver Falls who jumped into the ring on a moment's notice here and gave Young Kaiser the battle of his life will take on Frankie Rio, formerly of Sharon.

Wednesday night Rio outboxed Kaiser at Akron so the "dope" runs for a good fight. Frankie is a popular kid. Sanders left hooks to Kaiser's wind made him popular here. They'll go on for six at 130.

Meyer Lichenstein, Jewish fighter from Baltimore brought to this section by Joey Goodman will take on Joe Rubricky of Donora, a training mate of Howard Mayberry.

A week ago Lichenstein fought Steve O'Malley in Ohio; they called the fight a draw. Meyers says he won. Rubricky is a new face around these diggings. They will box four at 140 pounds.

Tommy O'Leary, the slugging member of the O'Leary family will pit punches with Patsy Brannigan's idol, Paul Balin of Pittsburgh in a four round bout at 123 pounds.

Brannigan's New Star
Brannigan developed Jackie Rodgers then fired him because the colored boy didn't follow instructions. He looked around and found Balin. He hopes to make Balin as prominent as Rodgers.

SLOVAK WINS OVER WAMPUM

Frank Jerry Wins Pittsburgh Marathon

Well Known Local Long Distance Runner Wins Annual Event

Frank Jerry of Harbor street, well known Pennsylvania telegrapher, was the winner of the modified marathon of ten miles at Kenwood Park, Memorial Day, in a field of thirty-two runners, including many of the best long distance runners of the district.

He finished first in the event, going the ten miles in one hour, twelve minutes and thirty seconds. This was remarkably good time, especially in view of the fact that only last Saturday, he ran in the National Amateur Fifteen Mile Marathon at Washington, D. C., and finished eighth against the finest athletes of the United States, averaging a mile every 6:53 minutes.

The event yesterday was run in connection with the annual A. A. U. meet at Kenwood Park.

CASCADE ALL STARS PLAY ENERGY SATURDAY

The Cascade All Stars of the City County League will play the Energy team of the same league at Energy Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The Cascade All Star players will meet at the Cascade Field and leave for Energy.

Cash prizes totaling $100,000 were distributed among the surviving racers. The first ten to finish received purses ranging from $20,000 down. Keech, the winner, was said to have received approximately $45,000. In addition to the grand prize, he won many lap prizes and was awarded several special sums put up by accessory manufacturers.

Spence Meets Death
Spence was killed when his Duessenberg special overturned on "death curve" in the early minutes of the race. His lightning-bolt chariot was seen to hurtle into the air, turn completely over and come to a stop against the brick retaining wall on the south curve. His broken body was rushed to an emergency hospital where physicians pronounced him dead.

Peck's Good Boys

By QUIN HALL
Carl Lind, the pride of Tulane University, is starting another season as the second sacker for the Cleveland Indians. Despite the fact that he got away to a bad start in hitting, he'll likely remain a fixture at the keystone corner.

Lind is one of the best fielding second basemen in the game. And Roger Peckinpaugh, the Cleveland pilot, is not disturbed because Carl makes a trip to the platter. Last year Lind finished the season with a hitting mark of .294 and he still would have been guarding the second corner if he had hit thirty points under that mark. He's that good a fielder.

Another Indian who didn't get away to a flying start is Willie Hudlin, the moundsman. The former Texas hurler spent the winter months hitting a ball at a scorecrow to master control. Peck has great hopes that Hudlin will blossom forth as a real star during the present campaign. He has the stuff for a future great. The Cleveland fans hope that his greatness will arrive this season.

Before the season opened Peck's main troubles seemed to be centered in the outfield and the box. Since the curtain was yanked up, Charley Jamieson, veteran of many campaigns, seems to be hitting a fast clip in the outer garden and Earl Averill, the expensive rookie outfielder, is delivering. This relieves some managerial worries.

Peck can still worry, however, about his pitching. Wesley Farrell, the speed king, who was signed by Cleveland in 1927, when he was a member of the East Douglas, Mass., semi-pro club, and optioned to Terre Haute in 1928, may help the Indians considerably.

But the Cleveland fans don't expect Peck to perform any miracles. It isn't hardly a pennant winning club. At least not this year. But the Indians are likely to finish quite a bit higher than they did last season.

Collegian Hurler Signs With Mack

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 31.—Arthur Viscanti, star southpaw of the City College nine, has been signed by the Philadelphia Athletics and will report to Connie Mack next Monday.

Mashball League

SHENANGO WINS 42-3

The Shenango Tin Mill mashball team, made much out of the New Castle News team, in a scheduled league tilt, played Wednesday night, at Colonial Field. The score was 42 to 3, or thereabouts.

The inexperienced and unpracticed News team floundered at the expense of the heavy hitting Shenango team. To recount: the hits would take an expert. It is a safe bet that the next time out The News team will not be swamped. The Shenango team looks very good, they have some fine ball players on the squad. The pitching of Jenkins was glib edged. The News having a hard time to drive the ball out of the infield. Wachter and Allen had the pitching assignment for The News.

Cascade A. C. Wins Ten Inning Game

Fast Contest Is Played Memorial Day At Cascade Clubs Grounds

It took ten innings to decide the victor in the fast contest played Memorial Day at the Cascade A. C. between the Cascade A. C. and North Highland teams.

The final score was made in the last half of the tenth inning by the Cascade A. C. with none down, making the final score 4 to 3 in favor of the Cascade A. C.

...on the grade it's

...in a cigarette it's TASTE!

TASTE above everything

First and foremost, cigarette taste depends on tobacco quality.

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield are of finer quality (and hence of better taste) than in any other cigarette at the price.

And Chesterfield's way of blending and cross-blending these fine tobaccos cannot be copied!

Old-Timers Today

By GEORGE STOVALL

Sam Crawford one of the leading major league sluggers for many years when playing the outfield for the Detroit Tigers lives at Pico, Cal., a suburb of Los Angeles where he played for a time in the Pacific Coast league before ending his career in baseball. "Wahoo Sam" Crawford for a number of years has been coach of the University of Southern California baseball squad and has developed many strong Trojan nines. Last summer he accompanied the Southern California baseball team on a successful tour of Hawaii and Japan.

"Wahoo Sam" was one of baseball's most feared batters when in his prime with Detroit. He's able to go up there and show his college proteges how to hit. The old Tiger outfield of Cobb, Crawford and Jones was poison to opposing batters. The Cobb-Crawford duo produced many runs for the Tigers. Fleet-footed Ty would get on base ball too, plenty of it—for he was for years a member of one of the smartest clubs in baseball—Detroit.

Crawford was a hard, consistent batter for many seasons in the American league. For a number of years he was given an outfield place on "All-American" teams picked by American league experts.

Sam owns a walnut grove at Pico but likes to jump into a uniform each spring to coach college players. He still possesses enough baseball posing pitchers. The Cobb-Crawford duo produced many runs for the Tigers. Fleet-footed Ty would get on base ball too, plenty of it—for he was for years a member of one of the smartest clubs in baseball—Detroit.

MAY STAR IN TRACK, FIELD MEET

Eric Krenz, above, national intercollegiate champion discus thrower and shotputter, is looked to as Stanford's big threat in the intercollegiate track and field championship meet which will be held May 31-June 1. Phil Edwards, colored New York university star, is looked to do the half mile in near-record time.

When Summer Breezes Blow

PENN STATE SOON TO LOSE HAMAS, FIVE-SPORT STAR

Steve Hamas, East Rutherford, N. J., star at Penn State, ends his glittering college career this June, having starred in five sports. He became intercollegiate heavyweight champion in two weeks, played football three years, basketball three years, earned a letter in track and now sandwiches in lacrosse with his other activities. Though he hasn't time for either sport, Hamas is a good ball player, and a wrestler. Snaps of him at play are shown above.

Royal Romance In Denver Jail

Russian Princess Bemoans Fate With Lover After Stealing Auto

(International News Service)
DENVER, May 31.—Romance was meant to bring happiness and heart throbs, but it only served as a spoon to stir the gossip cauldron in Denver county jail where "Princess Olga Pavlovna Olson and "Dook" Laurence Tareyton were imprisoned.
They were arrested on charges of transporting a stolen automobile from Los Angeles to Colorado Springs. They are said to have come to this country recently from Hawaii.
The "Princess" was said to be the daughter of Russian nobility and once a star on the Russian stage. "Dook" is an English movie director, world traveler and adventurer.
Torrid love missives went astray when jail guards intercepted them. This occasioned despair and disappointment for "Dook" for he watched in vain for the wave of a white handkerchief during "recreation" hour. He peered long and hard from the bars of the outer lobby of "Lower South," where he was being held, down the long hallway to the front of the matron's quarters, but he saw no sign of an answer from his "Princess."
Tareyton had instructed the "Princess" to wave her handkerchief through the bars at "recreation" if she would consent to marry him.
"You go down to Lower South and tell Laurence that I care much, and that I will marry him as soon as we get out of this place so they cannot charge him with white slavery. I'll get a divorce and marry him. That's how much I care," the "Princess" wept as she talked with reporters.
But as Olga is married, police argue, they intend to send her back to Hawaii and her husband.

Roaming Round With Richards

Mostly Just Observations
Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Any of the customers who were not satisfied with the weather of yesterday can get their admission price back at the door. The complaint department has had nothing to do and it does seem as though that rare avist of holidays, perfect weather, had been on the board.
It is estimated that if all the gasoline used yesterday in automobiles touring, the total would look like Cascade Lake in flood time. The roads were jammed, the parks were jammed and the amusement men must have cleaned up.
Because the weather was so splendid, many farmers had no holiday. The late spring, the wet weather and the delay in planting kept them on the farms for such weather can't be tossed away.

Among the athletically inclined the collection of burned noses looks like a collection of early strawberries. Noses and foreheads that were lily white on Wednesday have all the rosy appearance of an over-ripe tomato.

Out at Cascade Park the people were nearly on each other's shoulders. Picnic groves were the same, and it seemed that every automobile in the state was out, plus thousands from adjoining states.

Sorry I couldn't stop this morning and listen to the ukelele concert the young lady was strumming on her way to school. Must have been special exercises at the North street school, for she was headed that way, ukelele working on all six and keeping time as she walked.

That Wilmington detour was a scene all day and most of the night. A long line of cars creeping through a cloud of dust, with the good people living along the roadside, getting the full benefit of it all.

About July 1 it will really reach its peak, if you like peaks. The folks out along that road are considering the purchase of canvas guards for the front porch, with sleeping bags for the bedrooms.

There's a young business man in the city who will be explaining for the next year, and even then he will not be straightened out. The friend wife called his office the other evening at dinner time and asked what time he would get home. It was the night before Memorial Day and he said that he would probably be late. As an afterthought, one of these humorous moments married men have, he mentioned that he had a date with a blonde and that this might keep him even later. All of which was just in fun.

After he closed three of his friends, all male, invited him to fill a fourth at bridge and for recreation he went along. The jesting remark about the blonde was forgotten. The game broke up at three in the morning and then the fun started. When he got home the wife inquired about his blonde friend, and do you think his explanation went? It did not. And if the young lady reads this column, I hope she takes my word for it that her friend husband wasn't out with a blonde, for I know the lads he was playing with.

If the young lady happens to need a new gown or a coat, this would be an ideal time to suggest it.

Charles Moffat is now certain of the statements he once heard made that the state police training school is no play. He has been down there for several weeks and from a letter he sends one gets the idea that it takes considerable intestinal fortitude to stick it out.
